CARRIER PIGEON DELIVERS NEWS

A novel method of transmitting news was adopted Monday by the Boston Post when messages from Camp Devens were received at the home of George B. Buira on Upland avenue, Newton Highlands, and from there telephoned to the Post. Carrier pigeons, owned by Mr. Buira, were released by army officers at the Ayer camp, with important messages early Monday morning and within a few hours they had reached the loft in Newton.

CLOSE RACE

The second-half race in the Newton Twilight league is drawing to a close and as in the first half when the Earnshaw team and the Pals fought it out on even terms, two of the clubs have an even chance to come through. Newton Upper Falls and the Newton Catholic Club are tied, with nine games won and three lost, for a percentage of .875. The Cardinals of Newton Centre, emulating their illustrious namesakes in the National league, are making a gallant attempt at a garrison finish and have a mathematical chance to pull up on even terms with the other two contenders. By winning from the West Newton A. C. last night the Cardinals can tie the Upper Falls by defeating them on the Upper Falls playground tonight and can tie the Catholic Club if the latter is defeated Saturday afternoon by the Pals at the West Newton Common. At best, however, the Cardinals' chances are slim.

It is an even choice between the Upper Falls and the Catholic Club with the latter being given the edge by many who rate that team stronger than the Upper Falls. Ryan, the best pitcher in the league, is the Club's best bet but if a play-off series is necessary, the Upper Falls might come out on top if the games are played on successive nights.

A lot may happen between now and Saturday night. Should each team win they will still be tied and the result would hinge upon the play-off of (Continued on Page 5)

NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

Costing $990,000 Will Be Open for Public Inspection on Tuesday and Wednesday

The new building of the High School group for which ground was broken on March 30th, 1925, has been completed and will be open for public inspection on Tuesday, September 7th from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 9 P. M., and on Wednesday from 1 to 5 and 7 to 9 P. M.

Mr. Cecil C. Chadwick, Public Buildings Commissioner, and Mr. George Kellar, Secretary of the School Committee, will be at the building during these hours and will give such information to visitors as may be desired. The building has been certified for use by the Public Buildings Commissioner and will be put into operation at the opening of school on September 13th, 1926.

The building is of fireproof construction throughout with the exception of the roof of both the gymnasium and the main building which is of slow burning construction. The building contains, in general, seventeen class-rooms, one large study hall, fully equipped health units, a suite of offices for the Director and principals, a large gymnasium 142 ft x 102 ft., which is equipped with removable partitions so that four separate complete gymnasium rooms can be available, or the entire space may be used as one.

The basement of the gymnasium section is fully equipped with up-to-date shower and locker rooms for the girls and the boys. The Home Team is provided, separately, with shower and locker rooms. There are also shower and locker rooms for the visiting team. Fully equipped suites, on both sides, for the Physical Directors of both boys and girls are provided. The basement of the main building is given over entirely for cafeteria purposes. The kitchen is equipped with modern equipment including two refrigerators, and has a seating capacity in the cafeteria to take care of 800 pupils at one time.

On the first and second floors of the main building, an auditorium is provided with a seating capacity of 1230. It has a stage which is equipped with two complete sets of scenery, asbestos curtain, moving picture screen, foot and border lights, and provisions made for extra sets of scenery. The auditorium is also equipped with a moving (Continued on Page 4)

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

SPORT NOTES

The Newton Pals went down to a 10 to 4 defeat Sunday at Waltham, in a free-hitting game with the Chemistry A. C. Lyman and McVarish was the Pals battery, while Keefe was in the box for Waltham, and Foster on the receiving end. With the Pals in the lead, Keefe came to bat with the bases full, and drove in three tallies with a triple. In the eighth frame bases full, scoring four runs and clinching the game.

Upper Falls met another stumbling block in the Pals at Victory Field last Friday night, when the latter team won out 4 to 2, in a two-league affair. The defeat placed the Upper Falls team and the Catholic Club in a first place tie. Pass pitched a good game for the Pals allowing but five hits, while Bridge, on the mound for the Southside team was touched for nine bingles.

At the West Newton Common Saturday afternoon, the Catholic Club gained a half-game advantage over the Upper Falls teams in the twilight league by defeating the Earnshaw team, 8 to 0. Schlephake held the Catholic Club to one hit in seven innings, but after Hickey poled a home run with no one on, he went to pieces. In the eighth inning the Catholic Club crossed the plate five times and in the ninth, scored another making ten safe blows in the two frames. Ryan, in the box for the title contenders allowed but three hits. Seven errors by the Earnshaw team aided the Catholic Club greatly. The Earnshaw team has protested the game because of a dispute over the umpire's decision on a play by Gilligan at short stop in an early inning. The Earnshaw team claim that Gilligan trapped the ball while the Club say that he caught the ball on the fly for a putout.

Clem Coady, Harvard football captain, will room with two other captains of major sports at Harvard, this year. Izzy Zarakow, captain of the baseball nine, and Red Haggerty, track captain, will share quarters with the Newton youth.

Rufe Bond, popular assistant of Ernst Hermann, playground director of Newton, and secretary of the Newton twilight league, will be an assistant to Eddie Casey, coach of the Harvard freshman football team, this fall. The former Everett athlete will have charge of the backfield candidates.

Courtlandt S. Gross, Harvard hockey player, par excellence, defeated Dr. Harry H. Germain, Boston surgeon, in the final of the Mount Kisco, Maine, annual golf championship tournament last Friday. A large gallery that braved the rain followed the pair and saw Gross, who was two down on the first round, even the count at the 32nd hole. From then on the holes were halved until the 36th where Gross made a fine putt for a four, while his opponent collected a five.

Lawrence B. Rice was defeated by H. H. Hyde in a semi-final match of Maine State championship tennis tournament at Squirrel Island last Friday. The Newton Centre player went down to defeat in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3. Rice paired with L. Power in the doubles lost to Howe and Bundy in the fourth round of the doubles tourney, 6-0, 6-4.

Harvard's varsity squad when it reports for football practice on September 5th, will number but 14 men. The second varsity squad on the other hand will number about 130 players. Those showing first-team calibre will be promoted to the first squad. Among the 14, who will be given crimson jerseys the first day out are two Newton youths, Captain Clem Coady, who will probably play the entire season at tackle this year, and Jake Stafford, who apparently has fully recovered from the operation to his trick knee and is expected to hold down the quarterback berth in his oldtime manner.

Upper Falls lost an 11 to 8 game to Siebert Baking Company of Charles-town last Sunday, at the Upper Falls playground. Mason and Billy Proctor were the local nine's battery. Four runs in the final inning clinched the game for the visitors.

The Athenians of Brookline, defeated the Newton Independents, 12 to 4 at Cabot Park, Sunday afternoon, in a thirteen inning game. The visitors scored once in the second and once in the fourth. Newton tallied one in the seventh and tied the count at 2 all in the ninth. Each team scored two runs in the tenth and the game remained deadlocked until the thirteenth, when the visiting aggregation broke loose with an avalanche of hits. Eight runs trickled across the plate before the side was retired. Shea and Lochiotti were the local battery.

The Marlboro Baseball Association pinned a 2 to 1 defeat on the Newton Town Team in a 12-inning battle at Marlboro, last Sunday. Each team tallied in the third and no other score was made until the last of the twelfth, when the home team won out. McLaughlin pitched a fine game for the Newton Town Team with Tom Gilligan on the receiving end.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. lost a heart breaking game to the Riversides of Cambridge, last Saturday afternoon, on the local association diamond. With Hokanson on the mound the locals had the visitors shut out 3 to 0, at the end of the sixth. At that stage of the game, the "Y" pitcher had eleven strikeouts, and had held the opposition to one hit. After the first two batters in the seventh, fanned the visiting shortstop singled to left, the next batter drew a base on balls and the next was safe on first by an error. Before the third out was made, three runs were over and the score was tied. In the eighth the visitors came back for three more runs. The local nine came to bat in the ninth with determination in their faces. McCarthy, first batter, poled one into the tennis courts for a home run. Widener drew a pass, McPherson singled sending Widener to third, and stole second. A wild pitch scored Widener and put Mac on third. Hitchcock drew a pass and stole second. The next batter flied to left but McPherson held third. Hokanson was also passed but both Connearny and Moran fanned ending the rally only one run short of a tie.

Donald M. Hill and his son, Walcott T. Hill of Waban, won their first round match in the Father and Son tennis tournament at Longwood Wednesday. The Waban pair defeated B. S. Blake and son 6-1, 6-1. The Waban pair, who are favorites to win the national title, defeated G. F. Wales and son yesterday in their second round match and meet C. K. Shaw and son of Providence in a semi-final match this afternoon.

The Newton Centre Cardinals sprung an unexpected surprise Wednesday night by shutting out the West Catholic Club, title contenders for the second half title in the local twilight league, by a 3 to 0 score on the West Newton Common. Bill Bright, pitcher for the Newton Centre team, defeated the Club single-handed. In the fourth he connected for a home run with no one on and in the seventh he repeated the stunt with one man on accounting for the three runs. On the mound he twirled good ball and had no trouble holding off the heavy-hitters on the West Newton team, allowing but two hits. In the second inning the Catholic Club had two men on with none out but Bright forced two men to pop up and fanned the third.

Henry L. Johnson and Malcolm T. Hill of Waban were eliminated in their first round match in the National doubles tennis tournament at Longwood this week by Nat W. Niles and Watson M. Washburn, the veteran doubles team.

Gordon R. Naylor of Hunnewell avenue, Newton, has been having a good season in his tennis this summer. In the tournament recently concluded at Megansett he won the finals in the boys' singles. Naylor and Wm. J. Cornwell of Roslindale captured the men's doubles. In the men's singles he reached the semi-final round which he dropped to Donald Gibbs also of Hunnewell avenue. Unfortunately Gibbs was obliged to be away when the finals were scheduled and had to default.

The most unfair decision that has been given in the Newton Twilight League occurred Thursday evening at the Newton Centre playground, where the Newton Centre Cardinals were playing the West Newton A. C. Up to the last inning Cooper of the West Newton team would have pitched the first no hit-no run game of the Twilight league, had it not been for Umpire Barry's demand that the colored boys, who were leading 2-0, play the final inning in darkness. The result was that the infielders could not see the ball, which under ordinary playing conditions would have been easy outs. The result was that the West Newton A. C. lost the game and their pitcher robbed of the honor of hurling the only no-hit-no run game of the season in the league. This is the second occasion that the colored boys were compelled to play in the dark and lose a game thereby.

CAMPING BY AUTO AND OTHERWISE

The autumn months are in many ways the most delightful season for camping trips, especially by auto. If you are an old camper, you will perhaps like to look over some of the newer books on camping, especially those which deal particularly with motor camping, which is deservedly becoming so popular in these days. Or if you are new at the camping stunt, you will be doubly interested in these, as well as in some of our somewhat older camping books, many of which have much material that is quite as useful to the up-to-date camper as it was when first published.

WEEKLY PRIZE CONTEST

The Rules

Anyone not connected with the Graphic is eligible.

Below you will find a coupon divided into twelve blank sections. Each section contains the first few words of a line taken from an advertisement in this week's issue and a place for the name and address of the advertiser from whose ad the line is taken. Look through the ads, find the proper line, fill in the uncompleted portion and the name and address of the advertiser. When you have filled out all twelve of the blanks sign your name and address at the bottom.

Clip the coupon and bring or mail it to the Weekly Prize Contest Editor, Newton Graphic, Box 205, Newton. The first ten correct replies received at the Graphic office will be awarded prizes.

First prizes this week—(North side section) A $2.00 order good for any merchandise at Lane & Cox, Washington street, Newtonville. (South side section) A $2.00 order good for any merchandise at the Bond Market, Langley road, next to the Postoffice, Newton Centre.

Second to fifth prizes, inclusive, (each division)—Passes for two persons to the Community Theatre—good for any night in the week.

As an example the last blank is filled out. The line is taken from the advertisement of the Newton Co-operative Bank on Page 1. "Every service rendered by a" is your clue. "Co-operative Bank is offered to Newton Residents" is the uncompleted portion which you are to fill in as well as the name and address of the advertiser. Fill out the other twelve blanks.

Newton, Newtonville, West Newton, Auburndale, and Nonantum, will make up the North side; Chestnut Hill, Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, Waban, Newton Lower Falls, and Newton Upper Falls, will make up the South side.

Five prizes will be awarded in each section. The first prize, in each section, will be as usual an order for two dollars on a local store. The other four prizes in each section will be passes for two to the Community Theatre, Newton, good for any one night in the week.

The first five blanks, correctly filled out and returned, in each section, will be awarded the prizes regardless of the number of correct ones received from the North side, prior to the arrival of the first one from the South side section.

Remember this—follow the rules to the letter and get your blanks in early. With so many correct replies coming in each rule must be strictly observed out of fairness to all. The winning of a prize last week, does not bar you from further entry. Try each week.

NEWTON DISTRICT NURSING

The Newton District Nurses have had a busy summer, especially during June and July, in August there were fewer calls. For the three months the sick patients cared for were 413 with 1911 visits made on these patients. These patients were in every village in Newton, the two Ford cars owned by the District Nursing Association make an average of seventy-five miles a day, all inside the boundaries of Newton. Beside the Beside Care of sick patients the nurses have made 487 visits on children to see that everything is going well and 53 prenatal patients have been under supervision. Forty-one mothers with new babies have been cared for and the nurses have assisted the doctors at 32 minor operations in the homes. The four Baby Welfare Conferences have been held every week with an average of about 70 babies attending.

Beside the regular activities the vacation season always brings special calls. This summer the District Nursing Association supplied nurses for the following occasions: For the field day at the Swedish Home where the Prince was the guest of the Home three nurses assisted by the Boy Scouts ran a first-aid tent for the Red Cross. Two nurses accompanied the children's outing at Nantasket Beach. Two nurses with two nurses from the Newton Hospital were on duty at Norumbega Park for Children's Day, and two nurses attended the playground feat at Victory Field and assisted with the Baby Show.

Of course the nurses themselves had to have vacations. Miss Elizabeth Ross, Superintendent, was away during July. Miss June Perry and Miss Priscilla Elliott are vacationing and Miss Ruth Ross will be away for the month of September. Miss Ruth St. Amant who has been with the Association as Secretary since last October is with her family in Falmouth, but expects to return by October.

THE BENEFIT SHOP

The Newton Hospital Aid Benefit Shop will continue to be open through September, on Wednesdays and Saturdays, from 1 to 5 P.M. The demand for clothing, furniture, dishes, and household goods is great, and the Hospital Aid urges again its plea for all Newton people to help by sending in all spare goods. Will not each householder and merchant co-operate with the Hospital Aid Association by keeping the shop stocked up?

EDITORIALS

With so many political offices practically determined by the vote at the primary election, it is remarkable that the average voter fails to appreciate the importance of his vote. In the offices, for instance, of attorney-general, councillor, register of probate, county commissioner and representative to the Legislature, for which there are contests at the primary, the Republican nomination is equivalent to an election as these districts are so strongly Republican at the election. In effect, therefore, a vote at the primary for these offices is the election. It is important, therefore, that the voters should arrange their business and social affairs so that they can vote at the primary on Sept. 14th. A large vote at the primary will be an indication that the Newton voter takes a real interest in the personnel of the government of the county and state. Save the date, Sept. 14th.

The decision to place a filling station at the junction of Putnam and Washington streets, West Newton, instead of a store building on the street line is a happy solution of what promised, at one time, to be an unsightly use of a prominent corner.

Once more we congratulate the residents of Walnut street in the substitution of busses for the ancient and far from honorable street cars, which have been such a nuisance for these many years.

The present day observance of the Read Fund picnic is a great contrast to former picnics and a change for the better.

THE WATER SITUATION

Work still continues on cleaning up the water mains in this city. Tuesday night the last 20-inch main was cleaned together with the 16-inch main on Oak street, from the pumping station, and the 12-inch main on Chestnut street to Washington street, West Newton.

Last night the 12-inch main on Beacon street, Waban, was cleaned, three cutouts being necessary. Chestnut street from Woodward to Beacon streets and Beacon street to Washington street.

Some time next week the 12-inch main on Washington street from Beacon street to Newton Corner will be cleared and a large amount of sediment is expected.

CITY HALL

Building permits for August totaled 134 with estimated valuation of $523,025 of which 32 were for single dwellings valued at $320,000 and 13 for double dwellings valued at $138,500.

Doughnut Revealed as Poison Gas Producer

Life seems to be just one menace after another. Here is a man who has died from the fumes of cooking doughnuts. Having reached the saturation point with all the other sorts of major threat, and damage for the time being become measurably adjusted and reconciled to them—bolshivism, communism, anarchy, foreign wars and complications—just when we are all growing a bit easier in mind this most unexpected and unnatural peril arises. The doughnut is a work of peace, our most domestic and tractable contrivance. Heretofore its disposition has been mild and friendly. Nobody ever heard of a doughnut going on strike, exploding with a loud noise, turning to mob law and violence. The only trouble it has ever caused, according to the best authorities, is some controversial friction on the question of resemblance to the cruller. Some have contended that a doughnut is not a doughnut at all, but the true cruller, while the cruller is really the doughnut without the hole. Now it turns out that the doughnut has suddenly committed murder by an unsuspected capacity to produce poison gas. For the sake of the merest fragment of belief that there are still harmless and innocent things in the world, it is to be hoped that this doughnut story may prove to have been exaggerated.—Exchange.

Eyes Need Extra Care
When Lights Are Poor

Autumn and winter months are trying where artificial light is not of the best. The eyes need great care if they are to remain in good condition under the strain.

If the eyes give any definite trouble an oculist should, of course, be consulted at once. But a simple home treatment will not only act as an efficient "refresher," but will also rid the eyes of all harmful secretions of dust. Make a weak solution of boracic powder (about one teaspoonful to a pint of boiling water) leave to cool, bottle and cork tightly. Use this in an eye-bath which can be bought of a druggist.

Night and morning give the eyes a good "bath," using a fresh bathful of the solution for each eye. Once you have started the treatment you will find it so beneficial that you will continue all the year round, much to the improvement of your eyes.

Where Columbus Trod

"All day long we eat the sun," is the delightful way in which a Santa Fe cafekeeper described life in that city about Christmas time. When you consider that a cool wind from the snowy Paraganda gives zest to the sun feast, this City of Sacred Faith, where Moorish feet have never trod, deserves mention, especially as a rendezvous for Americans. For over its Pinos-Puente Columbus once journeyed on his way to France after he was repulsed by Spain as a visionary, and it was on the same bridge that stands today that the queen's messenger caught up with him and told him that his plans were favored, and, weeping for joy, he turned to make Spain his embarkation land on his memorable voyage to America. A picture of this bridge should be in every American schoolhouse.

Happiness in Duty

Whoever goes to his work rejoicing in the vigor of a generous motive; whoever abandons a vice because fascinated by the idea of self-control and the loveliness of the better way; whoever goes aside to do a kindness out of the pure love of the neighbor, manifestly finds the ground of his content in the surrender of himself to what seems to him richly to deserve the service he pays. The content is loved not because it is a gratification, but because it is the frame which suits this service. All other search for happiness fails, because it is really the effort to satisfy some instinct, whose very essence it is not to be satisfied, but to crave ceaselessly and forever.—Samuel Johnson, in "The Duty of Delight."

The Boneyard

The men with pick and shovel seem able to uproot human skeletons, no matter in which part of the earth they toil. This world must have been quite a burying ground during the last 1,000,000,000 years. The delivers with the Franco-American expedition in the Sahara turned up the bones of some human that must have been over six feet high and is thought to have been a woman, at that. The bones are thought to be of a pioneer Tuareg—somebody who came into the desert when it was young and before Timbuktu was staked out. It seems quite simple to weave a story about a nest of human bones, no matter where found.

Pigs Live in Nests

Wild pigs make nests in Slam, according to K. G. Gairdner, writing in the Journal of the National History Society of Slam. In India, Mr. Gairdner says, it is reported that the pigs make nests of grass but in the evergreen jungles of Slam there is little or no grass and the nests are made of sticks. The sticks are all bitten off from the surrounding trees and they vary in thickness from the width of a finger to an inch in diameter. They are piled about a yard high and in a heap about three yards broad. The pigs tunnel beneath the nests, presumably for protection against the rain.

Sunday School, 10:45; Wednesday evening, 8.

Reading Room, 255 Walnut St., Newtonville; weekdays, 10-6; evenings, except Wednesdays, 7-9; Sundays, 2-5.

All are welcome.

At the Eliot School the plaster and painted black-boards have been replaced with slate black-boards.

The kindergarten floors have been covered with linoleum in the Lincoln and Franklin Schools.

At the Classical High School the old steam engine on the ventilating system has been replaced with an electric driven motor.

At the Bowen and Williams Schools the automatic control of the heating system has been changed from Water driven pumps to electric.

At the Franklin, Stearns and Bowen Schools additional radiation has been supplied.

The boilers in all of the schools have been thoroughly tested, examined, and repaired and retubed where necessary.

The roofs of all of the schools have been carefully inspected and either repaired or replaced, and are now in first class condition.

At the Eliot School, an old cast iron chimney has been replaced by a masonry flue of proper size for the heating plant.

A one class-room portable school was moved from the Technical High School site to the Mason School, Newton Centre.

The Girls' lunch room in the Technical High School is being remodeled into four class-rooms.

The Commissioner feels that the school buildings in the city are in first class condition with the exception that a great deal more painting should be done throughout all of the schools, and is in hopes that this might be taken care of next year.

GLIDDEN-WILLIAMSON

Miss Ethel Laville Williamson of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Henry O. Glidden of Newton Centre, were married Saturday afternoon in the First Church in Newton Centre, by the pastor, Rev. Edward M. Noyes. The ceremony was a quiet one, only the families and a few intimate friends being present.

Miss Williamson was a member of the class of 1915 in Coe College of Cedar Rapids and of Chi Omega sorority. She specialized in music during her course there.

Mr. Glidden was a member of the class of 1913 at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, completing the course in architecture and taking a post-graduate course there. He was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

They will be at home at 29 Glenwood avenue, Newton Centre, after October 1.

A protested game between the two. If both lose the result would be the same. If one wins and the other loses the winning team will be a game ahead and the winning of the protested game would clinch the title for that club, whereas if it lost that game the tie would still be unbroken, and a three-game series would have to be played to determine the second-half winner as happened in the first half to decide between the Pals and the Earnshaw.

Probably before next Friday the city series between the Earnshaw team and either the Catholic Club or the Upper Falls team will be under way. Unless other announcement is made the first game of that series will be played on Victory Field with the Earnshaw team as the home club. In all probability the series will be the best three out of five games as the two-light season is nearing an end and it would be inadvisable to play a longer series, while a two out of three games would not give either team a fair chance.

The following players are eligible to play in the championship series which will decide the winner of the first leg on the GRAPHIC cup as well as the city title:

Earnshaw—J. Lyman, E. Lyman, E. Sweeney, H. Holland, C. Maher, G. Howley, J. Murphy, J. McSorley, C. Sasey, A. Switzer, B. Hawks, V. Gildea, Haggerty, R. Schephaque, J. Mooney, Porter.

Catholic Club—Tom Gilligan, B. McCarthy, James O'Connor, Lawrence Dowling, L. Ryan, W. Reilly, P. Reilly, C. Leary, J. Denn, C. Farrell, E. Butler, F. Rooney, H. Lyons, J. Cronin, F. Pond, J. Hickey.

Upper Falls—Neil Mahoney, J. Sullivan, Arthur Walker, Harry Walker, Frank McGuinness, Leo Crowley, William Proctor, Stephen Bennett, Walter Dunphy, Newton Henscom, John Simpson, Michael DeGeorge, Albert Mason, Joe Nixon, Charles Briley, John Proctor.

If the championship of the second half is decided prior to Wednesday night the city series will begin that night on the West Newton Common. There will be a special attractive feature at this game.

The committee in charge of the campaign for the preservation of the United States Frigate ship Constitution, formerly known as Old Ironsides, is sending down a Drum Corps Band, a squad of Marines, and the colors in charge of two lieutenants. They will arrive at Newton Corner about an hour before the game and then march to the ball ground where they will go through a formal ceremony just before the game.

The band will arrive at Newton Corner about 5 o'clock and then proceed to the West Newton playground, probably taking an hour to Newtonville Square or the Army and from there march to the baseball field. The game will be called sharp at 8:15.

If the winner of the second half is not decided before that date the Earnshaw team will meet some other nine in an exhibition and practice game. At any rate the band will be present and the ceremony conducted on that night, weather permitting.

LODGES

The 9th Annual Clambake of Garden City and Waltham Encampments was held on the grounds of the Odd Fellows' Building Association on Saturday P. M. August 28th. There were about 150 present. The guests were Grand Patriarch Richardson of Westfield; Grand High Priest, John Thorn, Haverhill; Grand Senior Warden, L. Lovell of Boston; Grand Jr. Warden, A. A. Hartwell of Milford; Past Chief, Patriarchs, Sam Wood, Jr., Quincy; Frank Holland, Springfield; George W. Hall, Lawrence; Frank Billings, Worcester, and A. L. Bullock, Waltham.

The ball game of 5 innings was won by Waltham, 10 to 0.

Pipe Race won by Harry Apt; Rinaldo Neal, second. Shoe Race, first, A. Haynes; second, A. Payne; Bag Race won by Arthur Haynes; Shot Put won by Alden Wentworth, Waltham; Wheelbarrow Race, won by Temperley and Apt; Ginger Ale Can Race won by Carlton Holmes, Waltham; Two-legged Race won by Temperley and Apt; Carrying race won by H. Walsh and P. Morrison, Waltham; Centipede Race won by Temperley, Haynes, Apt, and Cress; second, A. McLeod, J. McLeod, Morrison and Walsh, Waltham; Hop, Skip and Jump won by Carlton Holmes, Waltham.

At the conclusion of the sports the claims were ready and 150 hungry patriarchs hurried to get their portion of one of the best clambakes ever served by mortal man. Everybody was perfectly satisfied that the 9th Annual Clambake was a most wonderful success.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns & Sons have sold the Fuller Garage on Washington street, running through to Watertown street, West Newton, Mass. With the new garage there are five stores fronting on Washington street, total valuation of the property being $110,000.

Mr. John MacSweeney, Trustee, was the grantor, and the Stuart Marshall Realty Company purchase for investment. As part of the above deal, Stuart Marshall Company have sold to Mr. MacSweeney the large estate on Pine street, Dover, known as the Josiah Whiting place, consisting of a fifteen room mansion house with all the outbuildings and about 45 acres of land, having a total valuation of $25,000.

John T. Burns & Sons report that they have sold for William Fernandez the single brick colonial residence of ten rooms and three baths situated at 40 Royce road, Newton Centre, together with two car garage. With the property is an extra lot of land adjoining, comprising a total area of 18,000 square feet. Mr. Benjamin Werby purchases for occupancy. The property is valued at $35,000.

John P. and Annette Kellaway have sold through the Burns agency house situated at 188 Collins road, Waban, together with 15,000 square feet of land. Mr. William Thresher of Natick purchases this property which is valued at $18,500.

Burns and Sons report that Mr. Henry Urquhart has sold to Daniel Desmond the two family frame house at 206 Crafts street, Newtonville, with 6,000 sq. ft. of land, all valued at $14,000. Mr. Desmond purchased for home and investment.

Mr. Timothy Leonard has sold to Mr. J. Nagle through the Burns Agency his estate at 54 Williams street, Newton, on the Watertown line. With the house there is a stable and 8,000 sq. ft. of land, all valued at $10,000.

WANT CUMMINGS ROAD IMPROVED

Residents of Cummings road, Newton Centre, appeared at the meeting of the aldermen Wednesday night and asked that the street be improved. Attorney James Waters spoke in behalf of Hannah Murphy, whose family has resided on the street for 81 years. James Pendergast told of having resided for 40 years on the road and stated that he and other taxpayers have received but little consideration from the city. The street is filled with gullies and is in a dangerous condition.

PROHIBITION DISCUSSED

Rev. Fr. Corrigan of Boston College was the guest and speaker at the weekly luncheon last Monday of the Newton Rotary Club, held as usual at the Woodland Golf Club.

Fr. Corrigan's subject was Prohibition, Pro and Con. He gave a list of the claims made by the Pros and then cited the Cons on the same subject, stating that he agreed with neither. In his judgment prohibition was a mess. There was the moral issue, as to the use and abuse of liquor and the legal side, as to the right of the state to interfere with what men eat and drink. Fr. Corrigan believed that in passing the 18th amendment, the country made the Constitution a statute instead of a statement of fundamental principles. He characterized the statement in the Volstead Act that 1/2 of 1% of alcohol was "intoxicating" as a "lie." Personally, Fr. Corrigan favored the Canadian method of government control of manufacture and distribution of liquor where it was voted by the community.

An interesting discussion followed the talk.

The next meeting of the Club will be on Tuesday on account of the holiday.

DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT

Mrs. Bridget E. Corliss, the wife of Mr. John Corliss, and a resident of this city for over 60 years, died last Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas J. Lyons, on Auburn street, Auburndale. Mrs. Corliss was born in County Tipperary, Ireland, and was 81 years of age. Besides her husband and Mrs. Lyons, she is survived by one son, Mr. John S. Corliss of Auburndale, and two daughters, Mrs. W. M. Wilson and Mrs. Roland W. Patten, both of Waltham. A solemn high mass took place Tuesday morning at the Corpus Christi Church, Auburndale, with Rev. Fr. McManmon, celebrant, Rev. Fr. Haney, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Ronan, sub-deacon. The burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

BYERS-WIEDWALD

Miss Emma Anna Wiedwald, daughter of Mrs. Augusta Wiedwald of Norwich, Connecticut, was married on Saturday afternoon, August 28th, to Mr. John Rogers Byers, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Byers of Lowell avenue, Newtonville.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride by the Rev. J. Henslinger, in the presence of the immediate families. The bride and groom were attended by the groom's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Byers, 2nd, of Albany, New York.

Frenchman First to Use Gasoline Engine

The first attempt to employ gasoline as a motive power was made by a Frenchman, Pierre Ravel, who patented "a steam generator heated by mineral oils, to be applied to steam locomotion on ordinary roads." Ravel's engine was fitted to a small carriage, and developed three horse power.

The Franco-German war put an end to Ravel's experiments for a time, but years later he built a motor car in which petroleum was used for the direct generation of motive power. In 1870 Lentz invented a burner by which a mixture of gasoline and other naphthas, called massout, was used as fuel on steamships.

About the same time gasoline was used as an illuminant in street lamps, and later a new use was found for it in the manufacture of varnish and oilcloth. Gasoline, amounting to 8 percent of the distilled product of the crude petroleum, continued to be a drug on the market until the invention of the gasoline motor, and its application to automobiles, boats, airplanes, and hundreds of industrial uses.

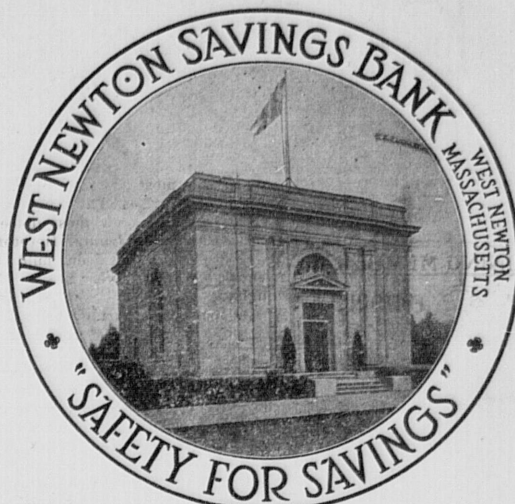

Several inventors helped to inaugurate the "Age of Gasoline," but the chief of them was George L. Selden of Rochester (N. Y.), the father of the automobile.—Chicago Journal.

Equinox Affected by Heating Power of Sun

The autumnal equinox is warmer, not colder, than the vernal in practically all of the continental United States and other places of middle to high latitudes. The reason for this is that the temperature conditions at any locality always lag behind the changing amounts of heat received by the locality from the sun in the course of its annual journey from winter solstice and return. In New Jersey, for example, the heating effect of the sunshine is at a minimum on December 22 of each year, but the lowest temperature of the winter occurs fully a month later, on January 23. The greatest solar heating occurs at the summer solstice, June 22, but the highest average temperatures fall about the end of July. The autumnal equinox, September 21, occurs, therefore, only about five days after the highest temperatures of the year, whereas the vernal equinox, March 21, is separated from the time of highest by fully 130 days, and is separated only about 50 days from the coldest period of the year.

Aerial Supports

The Loomis Radio college says that, while it is generally believed that iron in the vicinity of an aerial absorbs some of the energy, iron supports are frequently employed for this purpose on account of their mechanical advantages. Observe the latticed steel towers used by all the large broadcasting stations, where receivers are also installed as required by law. The aerial should be well insulated from the iron pole and swung a few feet away from it by a stout rope. The other aerials should run as nearly as possible at right angles to each other. If they are one above the other in the same direction they will rob each

DEATH OF MRS. MASON

Mrs. Calista S. Mason, eighty-nine years of age, for eighteen years a resident of Newton, died at her home, 95 High street, Springfield, on Thursday evening, August 26. She was the widow of the late Orlando Mason, a prominent manufacturer of Winchendon, where the burial took place last Sunday following services at Springfield on Saturday.

Mrs. Mason was one of the oldest living alumnae of Mt. Holyoke College, where she was graduated in 1857. She was born at Templeton, Mass., Aug. 10, 1837, the daughter of Franklin and Calista (Collins) Streeter. Until ten years of age she lived in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, then with her father and mother went to Illinois for six years, returning to Massachusetts to enter Mt. Holyoke, which at that time was Mt. Holyoke Seminary. After her graduation she taught in the seminary until her marriage, in 1859, to Mr. Mason. Her husband died in 1905 and the following year she removed to Newton, where she lived until her removal to Springfield in September, 1924.

From her early years Mrs. Mason was a member of the Congregational Church and throughout her life she gave much time and thought to the Church and Sunday School. Her interest in world missions brought her to the presidency of the Worcester County Branch of the Women's Board of Missions, her term of service covering thirty years. In 1925 the Worcester County Branch celebrated its fiftieth anniversary and Mrs. Mason, then in her eighty-ninth year, was the guest of honor. She went from Springfield to Worcester to take her personal greetings and her clear voice filled the large church as she spoke for fifteen minutes.

Mrs. Mason leaves a daughter, Miss Mabel Mason, and a grand-daughter, Miss Josephine Mason, both of Springfield; two grandsons, Orland Mason of New York City and Dwight Allyn Mason of Tacoma, Washington, and three great-grandchildren, Helen Mason, a sophomore at Mt. Holyoke College, and Emily and Robert Mason of New York City.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of the Graphic: In a long and busy life devoted to the service of God and her fellow beings, Mrs. Calista S. Mason has left many precious memories wherever she has lived, but none more tender and lasting than here in Newton. Just twenty years ago she came here with her daughter, having but recently lost her husband and at an age when many women would have felt that their life work was done. Not so with Mrs. Mason. Into the life of Eliot church she entered heartily and was soon one of its best loved members. Her gracious personality drew to her the devoted friendship of old and young. Coming to Newton with a background of long and intimate knowledge of mission work, she became secretary of the foreign missionary department of the Women's Association of Eliot church, in which she was a wise leader and a constant source of inspiration.

With Mrs. Mason, life and religion were inseparable. Her simple and reverent faith was the keystone of her whole existence. Steadfast in her own communion, she entered into the heartiest fellowship with those who under other denominational names were seekers of the truth and followers of the Master.

Notable in Mrs. Mason was her generous appreciation of worth and ability in others. Many young men and women have been heartened in their daily tasks by her words of praise and admiration. To her home on Charlesbank road she invited the neighbors for social evenings, leading to the formation of an informal neighborhood club which continued for several years and revealed unexpected resources of musical and literary talent in our quiet old street.

Mrs. Mason's life reflected to the last the spirit that Browning so tenderly expressed: "Grow old along with me; The best is yet to be, The last of life, for which the first was made."

CALIFORNIA, THE GOLDEN STATE

Members of the National Editorial Association Enjoy the Wonderful Hospitality of the Pacific Coast

By J. C. BRIMBLECOM

One of the many advantages of membership in the National Editorial Association is the opportunity to participate in the educational tours of the country in connection with the annual business meetings of the Association. These meetings and tours usually attract from two to five hundred newspapermen and their families and are always interesting as well as profitable in more ways than one.

The convention this year met in Los Angeles, California, and a long and interesting program of entertainment was promised by the gentlemen who had extended the invitation.

The plans were so elaborate that it did not seem possible they could be carried out, and yet, now that it is over, I do not believe a single item in a long schedule of events was overlooked.

Our California hosts set a high standard of entertainment which will be hard to beat in the future.

The party met at Kansas City, on special trains from Chicago and Omaha. The K. C. chamber of commerce interest themselves in our visit and gave us a fine breakfast. The party was followed by a drive thru the residential sections of the city in automobiles. One of the most striking features of Kansas City is the Soldiers' Memorial directly across from the fine Union railroad station. The Memorial sets on a high hill and is a most elaborate structure. Incidentally, it made me query, as to when Newton will ever recognize in some substantial manner, the part its lads took in the Great War.

That afternoon we made a six-hour stop at Hutchinson, Kansas. This city is certainly alive and up to the minute. It is the center of the hard wheat country and will market over 100 million bushels of wheat this season valued at $125,000,000. It is also over a vein of salt 30 feet thick and some 300 feet below the surface and mines over 4 million barrels annually. Our party was asked to take part in the dedication of a memorial to the late President Harding, at a point where Mr. Harding, on his trip to Alaska, had stopped for a few hours to harvest some wheat. The memorial is a stone shaft erected by the school children of Reno county, on which is a bronze tablet reading "In memory of Warren G. Harding, twenty-ninth president of the United States, who visited Hutchinson, Kansas, June 23, 1923, and harvested wheat at this place. Erected by the school children of Reno, Kansas." We visited this memorial and later in the evening there was a concert and dedication service in the city park at which Captain Frederick M. Snyder of New York gave an eloquent address. This was followed by a salute from guns of the 130th field artillery U. S. A.

Our program called for a "cow boy breakfast" the next morning at Liberal, Kansas, and the train stopped a mile or so from the city, right in the middle of a vast expanse of prairie and wheat fields. We were greeted with wild cow boy yells and decorated with the red bandana handkerchief of the plains.

The breakfast was prepared by aid of genuine, old-fashioned cow chips, politely listed on the bill of fare as prairie fuel, in order that none of the more sensitive might perchance become offended, and hesitate by reason thereof to partake freely. The pungent aroma of the home-made cow chips, odor of the mocha and java seemed to be the finest ever, as a natural consequence. One big lot of cow-chips, piled about waist high was neatly stacked near the fire and labeled "This is Not Applesauce." The visitors caught the full meaning of the placard.

After everyone was out of the train and had been met by Liberal people then on the grounds, breakfast was called out in old-fashioned cow-punch style. The way the guests "fell in" indicated that they had "the makin's" of the old-time characters of the plains, for none of them backed up a particle. They kept the cooks busy dishing out ham, eggs, biscuit and coffee for a full three-quarters of an hour until they were served not only once but many of them several times. Some long tables were fixed for the comfort of the guests who were not required to sit on the ground, but otherwise it was "come and get it" style, and be it said to their everlasting credit—they all came and got it. There was fried jack rabbit, fresh prairie dog, bacon, chicken, eggs, any variety, fried, soft dough biscuits and many other unusual dishes on the menu. The clear, cool air of the morning, the picturesque costumes of the cow boys, the tang of the fire, all contributed a most enjoyable and unique affair. After breakfast, we were given an automobile trip around the city to show us the extent of the wheat industry and were initiated into the latest machinery for taking the heads off the wheat stalks. This little city of but 4000 population, is certainly one of the most enterprising places we have ever seen.

On leaving Liberal, our attention was called to the fact that ahead of us lay a 75-mile stretch of straight track from Texhoma to Delhart, Texas, the longest straight piece of track in the United States. The story is told that the chief of the hotel at Delhart waits until he sees the headlight of the Rock Island train before he starts preparing the evening meal for the passengers who may alight there, as the headlight is seen fully an hour before the train arrives.

Shortly after bidding our hosts adieu, we crossed the state line into Oklahoma, admitted to the Union in 1907. The Rock Island crosses the state of Oklahoma on the California line at its narrowest point from North to South, the distance being only 30 miles.

We reached El Paso, a city on the American side of the Rio Grande river on Sunday morning, and found it hot. And it grew hotter and hotter as the hours progressed. The El Paso chamber of commerce entertained us at breakfast, and furnished us with some tiny straw sombreros as souvenirs. Most of our party took the opportunity to cross the river and make a visit to Juarez (pronounced Warro) on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande. The bridge over the river is the one on which President Taft and President Diaz of Mexico, once clasped hands.

Juarez did not appeal to me in the least. It looked poverty stricken. We stopped at the public market and I was impressed with the way the food stuffs were displayed for sale. The quantities were so minute, indicating that the purchasers bought the small, possible portions. Green peas by the handful, rice by the half cup, cornucopias, and many portions selling for about a cent.

Mexico is not in the prohibition district and there were many saloons, and we were given to understand that the gamblers places and while it was not a busy time of the day, there were many present to take part in the various games of chance. On our return to the street car, we were looked over by a white ducked Mexican, as we reached the bridge and while on the bridge, a U. S. revenue officer passed thru the car inspecting the pass ports of those who looked like Mexicans and confiscating a bag of fruit, which one of our party had bought in Juarez.

El Paso has the distinction of being the oldest and youngest city of the 100,000 class in America, and the largest on the Mexican border. It is so often referred to by writers as "City of Many Gateways," because it is truly the center of business of this section of North America. Mexicans refer to El Paso as "the pass of the north." It is the principal port of entry between Mexico and the United States and of course has the largest custom house on the border.

No city on the continent enjoys a more picturesque or advantageous location than El Paso. It nestles at the foot of lordly Mount Franklin, in the midst of towering peaks. On one side the rugged Guadalupe and Sacramento. Another view is the majestic Guadalupe and Sierra Madre, each a distinctive beauty of its own.

To the west of the city flows the Rio Grande, which divides Old Mexico and Texas, except the strip from El Paso west to the Arizona line. A river that is famed in song, story and picture, teeming with historical interest, has answered the call of modern ideas by furnishing ample water for irrigation purposes. Prior to the invention of electricity, vineyards in the valley were irrigated in a crude way as the Egyptians for centuries have done. Today, dams have been built along its course to furnish water, while in many localities one may see electric and gasoline-driven pumps working when Jupiter Pluvius fails to use his sprinkler.

We left the Rock Island railroad at El Paso, with many expressions of pleasure at the splendid service which we had received particularly on the dining car.

Our journey hereafter was wholly on the Southern Pacific lines, which covered all that section of the great South West.

That night, we had a superb sunset as we passed over the desert after a hot and tiresome ride.

Sometime during the night, we crossed the line between Arizona and California, and at eight o'clock, arrived at the little city of El Centro, in the famous Imperial valley.

Imperial valley is a place of wonderful interest. It is a great basin that once formed a part of the Gulf of California. At some prehistoric time the silt from the Colorado river built up a dike across the valley, eventually the water on the inland side evaporated and left a basin which extends down 260 feet below sea level at its lowest point. A local newspaperman carries a line across the top of his paper, "The Lowest Down Newspaper on Earth."

Twenty-five years ago engineers brought water from the Colorado river, 60 miles away, to irrigate the land. Since then 500,000 acres have been put into cultivation. Crops grow 12 months in the year.

The valley now has a population of 60,000 and its boast is that it ships more than a carload of products annually for each inhabitant.

Breakfast was served at the Oregon and Barbara Worth hotels. It was a repeat hit for kings. Every item on the menu was a California product from the Imperial valley, the "sunshine land of the world." We were quick to notice the absence of colored and foreign dining-room help, which brought forth the statement that El Centro was 95 percent white. The Barbara Worth is one of the handsomest hostleries in the state. This hotel cost nearly a half million dollars and received its name from Harold Bell Wright's stirring novel, "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

The Oregon Hotel is another fine hotel, with screened porches running the length of the building on the second and third floors, enabling patrons to enjoy refreshing breezes. Both hotels are noted for their excellent cuisine service. When members of the N. E. A. arose from the table, each bore that countenance of happiness and contentment, reflected in the face of every Californian one meets.

We were told that Imperial valley produces more gold annually than the placer fields that made California famous in '49. When some one asked to see some of the gold, one of the home folks seized a butcher knife and sliced open one of the cantaloupes that were piled on the breakfast table. "Behold the gold-tinted meat of an Imperial valley cantaloupe," he answered. Over 15,500 cars of these cantaloupes have been shipped to all parts of the United States this season—that is over 160,000,000 melons.

We drove about the city after breakfast and I saw, for the first time, the fruit of the date palm, (not yet ripe) growing like a swarm of bees on the side of the palm tree. I also had the pleasure of eating my first fresh fig, right from the fig tree, and found it most delicious.

One of the big problems of the city is the matter of drinking water, and they are tackling the question in the characteristic broad minded Californian way. The water from the Colorado river is very muddy, and it flows first into settling basins, where most of the silt is deposited, and it is then treated by electricity, which clears away the rest of the impurities. At present the reservoir is surrounded by huge piles of dried mud, taken from the settling basins, and with its rapid increase in bulk, the city fathers have a big problem over its disposition.

On our return to the train, we found that the good people of El Centro, had put a ton and a half of chilled watermelon in the baggage car of our train. They were real watermelons, too, not the white livered kind we have here in New England, but the deepest kind of red pulp and the thinnest kind of rind. It is needless to add that the baggage car was a popular place for the next hour of our journey.

On the way to San Diego, the train runs thru the wonderful Carrizo Gorge for a distance of seven miles and the railroad is a tribute to American engineering skill. There are tunnels, to pass thru, great chasms to cross on high bridges, and sharp cuts made on the mountain sides. The gorge is not beautiful as the mountains and valleys are mostly desert, but it is awe inspiring, as we look down a thousand feet just out side of the car window. One feels a sense of relief, when the Gorge has been left behind. Incidentally, the train itself, after standing four hours in the heat at El Centro, was a vast furnace, and one could hardly bear a hand against the side of the car without burning it. There was another sense of relief, as well, when we passed thru the mountains and felt the cool breezes of the Pacific Ocean.

The railroad to San Diego, crosses the Mexican border several times, and at the notorious Tia Juana, runs very near the race track and gives one a good idea of the place.

Arriving in San Diego, we received a hearty welcome and found over a hundred automobiles awaiting us. We were given a fine drive about the city, which has about 100,000 population, and which in the past eleven years, has expended over a hundred million dollars in new construction.

Motoring out to the Balboa Park, where the Panama-California Exposition was held for the entire year, we viewed the beautiful exposition buildings that have been retained by the city as a civic center. The handsome California state building, costing a quarter of a million dollars, is one of the finest types of Spanish architecture in America. The building is now used by the city for its fine library of science. The museum occupies three of the restored exposition buildings, contains many priceless exhibits of ancient American art, and anthropology. Professor Scopes of Tennessee, and Attorney Clarence Darrow of Chicago, should study evolution here and familiarize themselves more with their subject. But this is not an evolution story.

San Diego citizens and visitors are given an opportunity daily of listening to the sweet strains of music rendered on the out-door pipe organ, the only one of its kind in the world. This, too, is located in Balboa Park and was presented to the city by John and Adolph Spreckles. In the Natural History Museum one may note programs by man since the discovery of the Pacific slope centuries ago. Among other attractions of the park are the zoological gardens showing the highest flying cage in the world, painted desert with Indian village which is now used as headquarters for Boy Scouts, American Legion building with war relics, fine Arts Building, Botanical Building and other interesting sights. One may spend weeks in this beautiful park and never grow tired of its resplendent beauty.

The motor trip from the city to Coronado Ocean, Pacific, La Jolla, Imperial and Mission beaches, proved one of the most delightful outings of the afternoon's visit. Within a few miles of San Diego, there are more than a dozen seaside resorts, the playground of the west, the same as Atlantic City and Coney Island on the east.

Our drive also included the U. S. Military reservation at Point Loma, on which is located the first lighthouse ever built on the Pacific coast. It stands some 600 feet above the water, and has been discontinued as a light house for many years, as it could not be seen in foggy weather.

It has been succeeded by a modern lighthouse at the base of the cliffs. On our way to Point Loma, we passed the Theosophical headquarters of Madame Tingley, which bore every aspect of wealth. From Point Loma one can look directly down on the channel to San Diego harbor, a channel which we were told has a depth of 85 feet and a harbor which can contain the entire U. S. Navy. This entrance to the harbor is called the Silver Gate. On the other side of the channel, the government has a fine aviation field and base, and farther along is the famous Hotel Coronado. Later in my trip, I revisited San Diego and had dinner at this hotel. It is an old fashioned structure, but is kept in splendid fashion. In the court yard there were four of the most beautiful bougainvillea vines I have ever seen. The hotel is reached from the city by a ferry across the harbor.

Lovers of Ramona, the famous story by Helen Hunt Jackson would be interested in Ramona's Marriage place, which is one of the sights of the city. I was much impressed with the many fine estates and the flowers and as I said before, was so much interested that I made a special visit later.

The federal government has a large investment in San Diego, with a Marine corps base, costing about three million dollars, a naval training station, costing over two million dollars;

a naval depot and base, an aviation base, and a coaling and fuel oil station. It is said that its payroll in this vicinity alone is over two million dollars a month.

We were dined that night at Mission Beach, which will in time be to the Pacific coast, what Coney Island is to the Atlantic seaboard. After dinner, we met Governor Friend W. Richardson, who combines the office of governor of a local newspaper, and who has been president of the California State Press Association for many years. Governor Richardson accompanied us for most of the trip.

NEWTON SALES

Sullivan & McCarthy report the sale of the new six-room house and garage at 94 Prospect street, West Newton, to Miss Beatrice L. Hinkley, of Pepperell, Mass., who is to make the property her home.

Final papers have gone to record in the sale of a very desirable parcel of land, containing 20,000 square feet, on Beacon street, in the Reservoir section of Chestnut Hill, whereby Ralph Snider secures title from Christian Reid. Mr. Snider will improve the land with a high-class residence. Sullivan and McCarthy represented the grantor, and Henry W. Savage, the grantee.

ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST FIELD DAY

The annual field day conducted by the members of the St. John the Evangelist Parish, Newton, will this year be held on the parish grounds adjoining the new school on Watertown street, Nonantum. As usual, the affair is to be run for two days, Saturday, Sept. 4th and Labor Day, Sept. 6th.

Every effort has been made by the pastor, Rev. Joseph Robicheau, and his assistant, Rev. J. J. Tremblay, to make this year's event one to be remembered.

Among the features arranged will be a tug-of-war between two expert teams, a contest which will carry the winner to the top of a greasy pole, and field events for the youngsters.

On Labor Day a road race will be the premier attraction. Entertainment will be furnished by professional singers from the Irving Berlin and Jerome Remick headquarters, together with popular local performers.

It is anticipated that thousands of people will be attracted to the field.

ARTICLE No. 34

There has been more or less discussion as to the type of hand that justifies a bid of four card suit. About the weakest four card suit that should be without any outside strength is four to the ace king, queen or any four honors. Some writers advocate a bid with only four to the ace king, but with such a holding the hand should also contain at least a king in an outside suit. For example, as dealer, bid one club with each of the following:

Hearts—7, 6, 2
Clubs—A, K, Q, 7
Diamonds—8, 4, 3, 2
Spades—9, 2

Hearts—K, 7, 2
Clubs—A, K, 4, 2
Diamonds—A, 9, 4, 2
Spades—J, 10, 2

Hearts—8, 3, 2
Clubs—K, Q, J, 10
Diamonds—8, 3, 2
Spades—9, 4, 3

but pass with the following:
Hearts—7, 6, 2
Clubs—A, K, 7, 2
Spades—Q, 2

In other words, don't bid four card suits without at least half a trick (a guarded king) on the side. The four card suit bids are also interesting as second round or take-out bids. For example, the dealer bid one spade on the following hand:

Hearts—K, Q, 9, 2
Clubs—7, 6
Diamonds—A, 10, 8, 4
Spades—A, Q, J, 2

Second hand passed and the dealer's partner bid one trump on the following hand:

Hearts—A, 8, 7, 6
Clubs—J, 4
Diamonds—A, K, 9, 3, 2
Spades—9, 3

His opponents passed and opened clubs, running off five club tricks before he got the lead. If the dealer had bid two hearts, his other four card suit, he would have made game. Such hands are semi-two suiters and frequently work out better at the suit bid than at no-trump.

Another point to consider in the bidding of four card suits occurs when holding the 4-4-4-1 or 5-4-4 type of distribution. For example, suppose as dealer you hold the following hand:

Hearts—A, K, J, 4
Clubs—4
Diamonds—A, Q, 10, 6
Spades—K, 9, 4, 3

and bid one diamond. Second hand passes and your partner bids one no-trump. You should then bid two hearts.

Answer to Problem No. 17

Hearts—K, 7
Clubs—6, 5, 4
Diamonds—9, 8, 6, 2
Spades—A, K, Q, 4

Hearts—10, 6, 5
Clubs—9, 2
Diamonds—Q, 10, 7
Spades—10, 9, 8, 5, 2

Hearts—A, Q, 9, 4, 2
Clubs—J, 7
Diamonds—A, K, J, 4
Spades—7, 3

There is no score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one heart, A and Y passed and B bid two clubs. Z bid two hearts and all passed. A opened the nine of clubs and B won the first two tricks with the king and queen. He then led the ace of clubs which Z trumped with the nine of hearts and A over trumped with the ten. A now led the six of hearts. How can Z so play the hand that he will make the balance of the tricks against any defense? Z should for the 4-4-4-1 type of hand plays far better at a suit bid, and you should try to find the best bid for the combined hands.

Here's another example. Suppose your partner bids one no-trump, second hand passes and you hold the following hand:

Clubs—A, Q, J, 7
Diamonds—A, 9, 4, 2
Spades—10

With this hand you should bid two clubs. This type of hand is hopeless as a no-trump proposition so try for a suit bid, and in doing so, try to find the suit bid that is the best for the combined hands.

Here's still another example. Suppose as dealer you hold the following hand:

Hearts—A, 10, 9, 7, 2
Clubs—none
Diamonds—A, K, Q, 4
Spades—A, Q, J, 7

With this hand, first bid one spade and if overbid, show the heart bid. Then if you have another chance, bid diamonds. With a hand as strong as this one, it is almost a certainty that you can go game in the suit that best matches up with your partner's, so you should try to find that suit.

The following hands were given as problems in the preceding article. There is no score, you are the dealer and have bid one no-trump. Second hand has passed, your partner has bid two spades and fourth hand has passed. What would you now bid?

Hand No. 1
Hearts—J, 7, 2
Clubs—A, K, 7, 3
Diamonds—K, 6
Spades—10, 9, 4, 2

Hand No. 2
Hearts—Q, 10, 6, 3
Clubs—A, K, J, 5, 2
Diamonds—K, Q, 7
Spades—Q, 4

Hand No. 3
Hearts—J, 10, 4, 2
Clubs—K, J, 7
Diamonds—A, K, Q, 6
Spades—7, 6

With Hand No. 1, you should pass. You have fine help for the spade bid and it offers a better chance for game than the no-trump. With Hand No. 2, the writer would bid two no-trump. It is a close hand but the no-trump offers a slightly better chance for game than the spades. With Hand No. 3 the two no-trump bid is obligatory. With only two small spades a game in that suit is unlikely and yet the hand is strong enough to try for game in no-trump.

With this trick with the king of hearts in dummy and then lead out his three remaining heart tricks. On these tricks A is forced to make two discards. If he discards two spades, dummy's spades

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

"Did you have a nice vacation?" This question is frequently put nowadays. There are at least two reasons for so doing. It is a polite thing to do—most of us are pleased to be thought polite—and it provides a topic of conversation.

I have listened to many replies to this query and have found them always interesting. Again I have heard people attempt to answer and get no chance. And that reminds me of the third reason for making this personal inquiry. It permits of an opportunity to tell of one's own adventures—to talk about oneself.

Often somebody is led into taking the matter seriously. Perhaps you yourself have started to say, "Yes, my vacation was a very pleasant one—only to find the questioner interrupting with, 'Is that so, well that's fine, now. I had a wonderful time, etc., etc., etc.'" A monologue of considerable length follows and the person who was asked the question hasn't been allowed to make a complete reply in anything like it.

However, this is not to be a discussion of manners but of vacations.

As we reach the period of life when matters of diet and blood pressure attain importance we look upon vacations as an investment. They really are to everybody, but until the reflective age arrives it is merely an excuse for romping and a good time. Sometimes one's plans for the Summer are more or less upset. I could write at length of one case in particular but if I did I would be accused of talking about myself.

If one has passed a Summer without obtaining new impressions that Summer, it seems to me, has been lost. Travel, of course, supplies one with the greatest number of fresh ideas, but contact with people one has never met before produces new thoughts and one has only to journey into the country or down to the seashore to get in touch with interesting strangers.

It would be a pleasure to hear from our various friends just what their vacations have brought them. Aside from a complete rest, which is always desirable, it seems to me one is offered a splendid chance to get out of the rut, intellectually and otherwise, and obtain a fresh grasp of things.

Therefore, if you ask a friend about his Summer, let him tell you what- ever is in his mind and unless I am very much mistaken you will hear something worth while. When I find somebody willing to take the trouble to write in detail of an extended trip I am anxious to read it because I know I shall learn something.

The Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "Mikado" is filled with rich humor, much of which has a point that is not to be ignored. I recall Kokoi's song about the "social offenders who never would be missed." He refers to many "pests," as we term them these days, and his shafts are well aimed. It strikes me, however, that there is one he has overlooked—the person who takes a book from the Newton Free Library and marks with a pencil passages that impressed him or failed to do so.

The other day I ran upon a volume that seemed to have been a favorite with library patrons, judging by its abused appearance. At least one who had read it seemed not to be satisfied until he or she had underlined sentence, placed marks at the beginning and close of numerous paragraphs and had all but added marginal notes.

I wonder just what is the idea. Of course if one has the right ownership that carries with it the privilege of destruction, with or without wisdom. But why should public property be damaged by an individual to whom the volume has been loaned by a generous municipality?

Newton has been slighted somewhat this year by candidates for primary nominations. That is, we haven't had many corner rallies conducted by perspiring orators in connection with "whirlwind tours of the district." The fact remains, however, that on Tuesday, September 14, which is about 10 days distant, voters of both parties will be called upon to choose candidates for the State election in November.

Some voters insist they are too busy to pay any attention to politics. They prefer to come around at the last minute and ask, "Who's running?" or "Who should I vote for?" Well, if that is their idea of exercising the great American privilege of the ballot, let them do it that way. But don't let them appear after the votes have been counted and complain that they were induced to vote for the wrong man.

It is due to such conditions, as I view it, that unworthy candidates frequently "get by." It also provides advantages for the man who seems to want to make his public office a life job. Names get fixed in the minds of the voters—that is those voters who give no serious attention—and a name that is familiar is more likely to be marked than one that is not.

It's easier to vote without thinking but it isn't always safe.

What is this the papers are printing about new passenger coaches for the Boston & Albany with smoking compartments especially for women? The item which was published recently made it appear that there were to be some Pullman cars of this type. It also said that the men would have to go forward to the club car on the front of the train, if they wanted to smoke.

It would be interesting to learn just what is planned and why. The impression has always prevailed that the Pullman cars were provided with smoking compartments in order that the main part of the car might be free from tobacco fumes. Of course this was done in deference to the ladies, it being understood that they would be annoyed by smoke from pipes, cigars and cigarettes.

Well, what are we to understand? Is it that there are still women who object to smoking and prefer to have the air as pure as it can be with soft coal smoke and cinders on all sides. Or does it mean the ladies who smoke had rather not do so in the open? We can't just make it all out. Won't somebody please explain?

What do you suppose the citizens of Lynn said when they heard the tax-rate for 1926, was to be $4 less than that for 1925? And what do you suppose Newton citizens would say if similar news were forthcoming from city hall? In Newton they wouldn't say anything—they would be speechless with astonishment.

Lynn is still old-fashioned in that they strive to reduce the tax rate. Newton is much more advanced in that its efforts are confined to preventing too large an increase. They have come to take it for granted that there will be an increase and, therefore, are satisfied if it isn't too excessive.

Sometime ago we referred in this column to the insistence of the Mayor of Lynn, on economy. (He even refused to allow spending city money for a Fourth of July bonfire). Furthermore he cut out a lot of small things, including social features, extras, etc. He refused to be a "good fellow" and didn't care how many enemies he made, according to his own statement. Well, he lowered the tax rate by $4.00, and that should make him friends whether he wants them or not.

Labor Day for some people means a hard day's work on the golf links.

AN IDEAL CANDIDATE

(From The Brookline Chronicle)

Brookline and Newton are included in the new Third Councillor District. John C. Brimblecom of Newton, is a candidate for councillor in this district. In a letter, issued this week, Mr. Brimblecom raises an interesting point, which we believe to be well taken. The new Third District, Mr. Brimblecom states, is the residence of two members of the present Governor's Council and both are candidates for re-nomination. One has held the office for six years and now seeks a fourth term, while the other has served four years and is anxious to make it six. The usual term of service, Mr. Brimblecom points out, has been for four years. Mr. Brimblecom protests against such efforts to hold the office in perpetuity. Mr. Brimblecom very properly asks: "Is it not good policy to defeat them both and nominate a candidate who does not believe this office should be the personal property of any one man?" Since but one candidate can be elected in this councillor district, Mr. Brimblecom presents a solution of the problem. The Chronicle is glad to know Mr. Brimblecom is in the contest. He merits the nomination by reason of his long and able service in the Republican Party. He has represented his district in the Legislature for five years and was House chairman of Election Laws. He is the owner and editor of the Newton Graphic and in this capacity has loyally and consistently supported Republican candidates and Republican measures. He has also served as president of the National Editorial Association of about 2,500 newspaperers of the country. We believe him fitted in every way for the office of councillor and wish him success in his campaign. The voters of Brookline will make no mistake in supporting him for nomination at the polls at the State Primary next month.

ABOUT TOWN

There has been much conjecture—and comment, because of the precedence given at the last aldermanic meeting to Petition 56955 over Petition 56874. Petition 56874 was that of Erasmo Divasta for a gasoline selling station at 741 Beacon Street, near Chesley Road, Newton Centre. Petition 56955 was that of the Gulf Refining Company for a gasoline selling station at 732 Beacon Street, near Union Street, Newton Centre. The two local are nearly opposite.

Petition 56874 was on the docket in a position ahead of Petition 56955, and according to regular procedure the hearing on it should have been held before that on Petition 56955. But, when Petition 56874 was reached in the course of the aldermanic meeting, President Pratt announced that Petition 56955 would be discussed first. He gave no reason for making such an unusual shift, but, undoubtedly, there was some justifiable one. It surely was not done because of an ulterior motive: the Newton aldermen do not descend to peanut politics. People are so suspicious, however, that it has been somewhat current through the city, since the meeting, that Petition 56955 "was given the pole" to afford it an advantage over Petition 56874. No appreciable opposition developed against the proposed station near the corner of Union and Beacon Streets. Some conditional objections were raised by G. Wilbur Thompson and Robert Vachon. These two gentlemen own property adjoining this locus and testified that they had each donated to the city land for a right of way which runs from their property to Beacon Street. They contended that this right of way should be continued 20 feet wide by the locus of the proposed gasoline station. The counsel for the Gulf Refining Company understood that this right of way was to be but 10 feet, but Mr. Rockman, who is to convey, has conveyed the property to the Gulf Refining Company, assured these gentlemen that the right of way will be 20 feet. Whereupon, they stated that they do not object to the granting of a permit for this station.

Objections were raised to the granting of a permit for the station across the way at the corner of Chesley Road and Beacon Streets. Alderman Norman Pratt stated that he had received protests. Mr. G. Wilbur Thompson objected on several grounds: he considers this locus dangerous because it is at the foot of the grade on Chesley Road; there is a two-apartment house now on the locus which will be torn down if the station is permitted, and, he stated, "houses are more needed than gasoline selling stations." Mr. Thompson also remarked "if the aldermen continue to grant permits for filling stations, Newton will be known as the 'Gas City,' instead of the 'Garden City.'" Another objector, William Pratt, asserted that this station would be a menace to the safety of his children.

There are many who agree with Mr. Thompson that the aldermen should not be too free in granting permits for gasoline selling stations. As regards Newton Centre, they even go further than objecting to the proposed station at the corner of Chesley Road and Beacon Street. They contend there is even less reason why a permit shall be granted for the proposed station on the opposite side of Beacon Street, near Union Street. On this side of the street, within 100 yards, or so, are two well equipped drive-in filling stations. A third filling station will soon be established between these two, in a garage. Theoretically, therefore, there is more need for a filling station on the north side of Beacon Street, than on the south side. But, according to the persons who object to the business section of Newton Centre, becoming a replica of the "gasoline oasis" at Quincy, neither of the two proposed stations is needed. They point to the large yard of the Mason School, acquired by the city at considerable expense, the attractive clubhouse and grounds of the Newton Centre Women's Club, and the Village Green with its War Memorial, which have contributed towards making Newton Centre the business section the most attractive in the country, are to be nullified by the creation of a "gasoline quarter" nearby?

Now that the Middlesex & Boston is running busses from Watertown to Newton Upper Falls, and no electric cars are running on Walnut or Watertown Streets, the transportation company and the city should co-operate to have the tracks removed as soon as possible from these two highways. The condition caused by the tracks on Watertown Street, Nonantum, is positively dangerous, and has been so for several years. The tracks are so depressed below the street surface, that it is difficult for automobiles to get out of the ruts formed by the tracks. This hazard has resulted in a number of accidents.

In explaining why the Newton Development Trust desires an increase in storage capacity from 2000 to 5000 gallons at its station at Washington Street and Lowell Avenue, Attorney William V. Hayden explained to the aldermen that because of changed conditions in the distillation and treatment of gasoline, companies now have for sale, "gas and super gas." One person in the aldermanic chamber, who is somewhat deaf, thought Mr. Hayden said, "Sewer gas," and was surprised that this malodorous fluid had been discovered to possess commercial value.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Welden W. Malmgren to Roscoe L. Davidson, dated January 11, 1925, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4341, page 59, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on WEDNESDAY, the fifteenth day of September, A. D. 1926, at four o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage with all improvements thereon, and described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:—

A certain parcel of land containing by estimation 5810 square feet with the buildings thereon situated on the Southeastern side of an unnamed private way in the City of Newton in said County of Middlesex called Newton Centre, and being the larger portion of said plan "Cochituate Addition," plan dated May, 1925, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 367, page 41, and bounded and described in said mortgage, to-wit:—NORTHEASTERLY by said unnamed private way (now called "Cherry Street"), sixty-four (64) feet; NORTHEASTERLY by lot 25 on said plan, ninety-seven (97) feet; SOUTHEASTERLY by land marked on said plan "Cochituate Addition," fifty-six (56) feet; SOUTHWESTERLY by the remaining portion of said lot 25 by a line parallel to and distant fifteen feet from the Southeastern line of lot 25 on said plan, about ninety-eight (98) feet.

Together with all right, title and interest I may have in the remaining portion of said lot 25 shown on said plan as a strip fifteen feet wide and containing the premises described above.

For my title see deed of W. Mark Noble, Jr., dated November 2, 1925, and recorded with said Deeds, Book 4911, page 98. And said premises are hereby conveyed subject to the unpaid taxes and assessments noted or referred to in said deed.

The premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes and assessments, if any there be.

$500 cash will be required of the purchaser at the time of sale. Other terms announced at sale.

CANDIDATES' OPINIONS

The Massachusetts League of Women Voters is sending a series of questions to all candidates for the General Court. Below are the questions together with replies of two of the Newton candidates. Other replies will be published as received.

Personal Information
Leverett Saltonstall.
Born September 1, 1892, in Chestnut Hill, Mass.

Profession: Lawyer.
Public offices held: Assistant District Attorney of Middlesex County; Member of Newton Board of Aldermen, Member of State Legislature for four years and candidate for reelection from Fifth Middlesex District.

Questions
1. Do you favor making women liable for jury service?
I shall not be in favor of jury service for women until I am convinced that the majority of women in this State desire to undertake this arduous duty. My reaction gained from conversation with many women throughout the State is that the majority do not now desire to undertake it.

2. What are your views on the Direct Primary method of nomination?
I believe that the present system of direct primary is not operating for the best interests of the State. I believe that the question should be carefully studied to see how the present system may be improved.

3. How much authority should the Commission on Administration and Finance have in regard to salary increases. Should the salaries of State employees be determined by salaries paid by private business for similar services?
I believe that the present law on the question of salary increases to State employees is satisfactory. The difficulties that arise concerning salary increases are those of administration and not those of legislation.

In order to determine the proper reimbursement for services rendered, the State should and must compare its salaries paid with those paid for the same service in private business. What is finally paid any state employee is a question if judgment properly exercised within certain limitations by the executive department of the State government.

4. What in your judgment is the most effective and permanent program for the reduction of crime?
Strict, vigorous and quick enforcement of the present laws of our Commonwealth.

5. Should public school education be so modified and laws relating to school attendance so changed that all children shall be within the influence of the school until they are 16 years of age?
Until our municipalities are able to care properly for the education of the children they are now required to educate, that number should not be increased.

6. What are your views on the maintenance of the present laws protecting women in industry and the vigorous enforcement of minimum wage laws?
Women in industry should be properly and adequately protected. I believe in laws that will give them this protection. If legislation can be enacted that will both give them this protection and at the same time accelerate the wheels of New England industry, I shall be in favor of it.

Any enforcement law on the statute books of our Commonwealth should be enforced or repealed.

7. Should you favor some trained women in policy-making positions in the State Departments dealing with the enforcement and application of laws concerning women, children and family life?
If they fully understand the requirements of their position and are efficient in the execution of these requirements, I can see no objection to the employment of women in such positions as stated in this question.

Leverett Saltonstall.
240 Chestnut Hill Road, Chestnut Hill. Candidate for Representative from Fifth Middlesex District.

Personal Information
Arthur W. Hollis.
Born April 29, 1877, in Newton, Mass.

Business: Insurance.
Public offices held: Newton Board of Aldermen, 9 years—President 3 years. Massachusetts House of Representatives 1925-6; Candidate for reelection from Fourth Middlesex District.

Replies to Questions
1. I am opposed to compulsory jury service for women.

2. In theory the Direct Primary is the ideal method of nomination. In practice it has been a failure to a certain degree. The fault not with the Direct Primary but with the people. I am in favor of reforming the people rather than reforming the Primary.

3. Some one head—individual or committee—should have final authority on all salaries paid in the State. Otherwise favoritism and injustice are liable to prevail. We should have chaos if each department head had final authority.

In my opinion the salaries of State employees should not be determined solely by salaries paid by private business, since it is usually impossible to compare the positions and duties.

4. Proper laws properly enforced. This does not necessarily mean new laws, rather rigid enforcement of existing ones. Also, less sentiment and more punishment.

5. I believe in public schools and send my children to them. I am, however, opposed to any laws which shall further curtail personal liberty.

6. I have never made a study of this subject, but from what little I know of the situation I believe in the maintenance of the present laws and the enforcement of the minimum wage laws.

7. I am not prepared to answer this question at the present time as I have never made any study of it.

LODGES

Garden City Lodge, A. O. U. W. held an outing last Sunday at Salem Woods, making the trip by bus.

ABOUT TOWN

Francis L. Bacon, director of secondary education in the Newton schools has remained in Newton this summer, instead of taking his customary vacation, in order that he can keep in immediate touch with the work on the new High School building. This sacrifice on the part of Mr. Bacon should be appreciated by the parents of Newton's school children, and by the children themselves.

BUSES ON WALNUT STREET

Residents on Walnut Street, who have been for some years seriously disturbed by the noise of the trolley cars, are greatly pleased that the M. & B. Street Railway Company has recently substituted busses for the Watertown-Upper Falls Line. This action removes all trolleys from Walnut Street. The Company has not been able to obtain the necessary permit for busses from Needham authorities and until that permit is granted will run a trolley car from Upper Falls to Needham Park and Needham.

The agreement between the Company and the city required the Company to substitute busses on Walnut Street by January 1, 1927, and consequently the Company is well in advance of its schedule. On account of the lack of busses to carry school children, the Company will have to continue the school car until the busses can be obtained.

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE

NEWTON BOY MAKES GOOD

William O. Wellman Director of Moving Picture Coming to Community Theatre Next Week

Newton is proud of its youths who have their lives in the World War. It is no less proud of those boys who did their bit and returned to take up their work at home, and have achieved success in their various endeavors. It is more reason to be proud of those who returned, went out again into the parts of the country and used their knowledge and gained in the service as a stepping stone to success. A striking example of this latter class is William O. Wellman, a director of the Lasky-Famous Players Motion Picture Company. One of the pictures which the former Newton youth directed is to be shown next week at the Community Theatre. The title of this picture is "The Cat's Pajamas" starring Betty Bronson.

The life of Billy Wellman, as he is known to his friends, has been as interesting as any book of fiction. He was born in Brooklyn, but when he was but a small boy his parents moved to Newton. He was educated in the Newton schools and while at high school was one of its star athletes, winning places for himself on the major sport teams and starring at hockey. He graduated with the class of 1914. When the war broke out Wellman went across with an ambulance unit but never saw service of this description as he immediately went with the Lafayette Escadrille. He learned the art of aviation on the same field with David Putnam, another Newton high school boy and also a classmate and intimate friend of his. His flying partner, Tom Hitchcock, was captured by the Germans and held a prisoner some time. After coming home he served as an aviator with the Escadrille. Wellman's plane fell with him one day and his back was injured. Prior to this fall he was officially credited with four Boche planes and unofficially got three others. Although an "ace" should have five official planes to his credit, Wellman, to his displeasure, was so-called.

At the time of his fall he and Putnam were about to fly together. Shortly after his injury Wellman was honorably discharged and sent back to the U. S. A., where he was commissioned a first lieutenant and sent to San Diego flying field as an instructor in war tactics. While there he met Douglas Fairbanks who asked him to go into the movies with him after his discharge from the army. This young Wellman did and was in one picture with the popular screen actor. Not taking a great liking to acting before the movie camera Wellman turned to directing, which had more of an appeal to him. At the conclusion of his picture with Fairbanks he "went on the lot" as they say in the movie world, as an assistant director for Goldwyn. Some time later Fox offered him a better position as director. This he accepted and directed Buck Jones in several of his films.

At this juncture Schulsburg, an independent producer, offered him a still better directorship, which he accepted. Later Schulsburg merged with Lasky and the latter chose Wellman as the only director in the former's employ which he would continue on his payroll. Once with Lasky Wellman directed Betty Bronson and Florence Vidor. The latter actress he directed in the film entitled "You Never Know Women" which has had continued success in filmdom. Variety, in a criticism of this picture has the following to say regarding the directing of the Newton youth: "Wellman at the megaphone lifts himself into the ranks of the select directors by his handling of this story, for his direction is never obvious or old-fashioned, his methods being neat and naive enough to excite others. Although an 'ace'"

PLANS APPROVED

Preliminary plans for the Newton Hospital were yesterday approved by the hospital building committee, meeting in the office of the architects, Densmore, LeClear & Robbins, Park Square Building. At this time it was announced that Dr. F. A. Washburn, Director of the Massachusetts General Hospital, has accepted the post of consultant to the architects and will advise with them in preparing final plans which will be submitted to contractors for bids.

The new structure to be located in the Newtons near the site of the present hospital, will be a five story fireproof building and will represent the most modern improvement in hospital construction and equipment. The building itself and a nurses' home are being made possible by the raising of a $1,500,000 Building Fund which is now more than two-thirds subscribed.

A modern cafeteria service will be available to nurses and others. The American Laundry Co. has been selected to provide equipment in the elaborate, sanitary laundry work indispensable to an institution of this kind.

Yesterday's meeting, which was called to order by General Chairman Leon B. Rogers, brought to a successful conclusion weeks of discussion concerning the apportionment of space for operating suites, laboratories, diet kitchens, rest rooms, etc., which have been under consideration by the building committee.

In addition to the lay members of the board, the building committee has at all times had the counsel and advice of one or more members of the medical staff of the hospital.

WASHINGTON STREET MAINS CLEANED

During the past week the 12 inch water main on Washington street, from Beacon street, Lower Falls to Church street, Newton, has been cleaned in the same manner as the other water mains in the city.

On Tuesday night the men in charge of the work for the National Water Pipe Cleaning company, lowered the scraper into the main at the junction of Washington and Beacon streets and before daybreak had reached Chestnut street. The resulting sediment which was taken out gave Watertown street, just below its intersection with Washington street, the appearance of an Oklahoma road, have been cleaned, at least.

The gutter on each side of the street is red with the rust and sediment which flowed through them after the sediment had been forced out of the main at Chestnut street.

Last night the pipe was scraped out from Chestnut street down to Church street, Newton. During the first of next week it is expected that the main, as far as Nonantum square, will be entirely free from the accumulation of many years. This will leave the 12 inch mains on Centre street, Waverley avenue, and Walnut streets, with shorter lengths on other streets to be cleaned. The work will go right ahead as fast as the city laborers can get things ready for the intersection with Washington street, scraper until all the 12 inch mains

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL

Ninety Candidates Report for Practice. Schedule for Season Announced

With the passing of Labor Day last season with the first and last named playing the guard positions in the last game. Not a veteran end is back, McCullough, Hemeon, Ramsden, and Murphy are all lost to the team and it is these positions where Dickinson has his main problem. Bennett, a sub-end of last year, was among those reporting for practice.

In the backfield the incomparable Tom Gilligan has graduated. His loss will be felt in more ways than one. Billy "Goat" Proctor, whose line rushes in the Medford game will never be forgotten, is another star who has been lost by graduation. Guy Holbrook, another three-letter athlete, who was the best kicker Newton had last season, enters Harvard this month. Lyons, Hall, halfback, and Adams, sub-quarter, are the other backfield men who graduated.

But the backfield problem is not as difficult as the end problem because there are three letter men available. Len Clark and Frank Spain, who played quarter and halfback in 1925 are back. Either one of them will be depended upon to do the punting and it is a toss-up which will call the signals. "Bud" Perry, quarterback on the intermediate eleven last year, is trying for a place in the backfield. The third letter man available behind the line is John Proctor, brother of Billy. He, too, shone in the Medford game when he ran back the opening kick-off over thirty yards. While not the triple threat that Gilligan was he

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

SPORT NOTES

The Upper Falls nine put the Newton Centre Cardinals out of the running for the second half title in the Newton-Two-League last Friday night by defeating them at the Upper Falls playground, 8 to 2.

The Newton Catholic Club pulled pui into a first place tie with the Upper Falls team in the Two-League race last Saturday by defeating the Pals at Victory Field, 6 to 5. With two men down in the ninth, two men on and one run behind the Catholic Club pitcher into throwing him the ball on the pretext of examining it. As the ball came toward him he sidestepped and the ball rolled away allowing two runs to cross the plate. In the last of the ninth Ryan held the Pals at bay. The Pals protested the game on the grounds that a coach has no right to talk directly to the pitcher.

Wednesday night on the West Newton Common the Newton Catholic Club beat the Earnshaw team 3 to 1 in an exhibition game. Jack O'Connor, popular two-league pitcher, was on the mound for the West Newton team and in addition to pitching a good game, played a fine game in the field and at the bat. He fanned nine opponents, accepted eight chances in the field without an error, made seven assists and one putout and at the bat poled out a single and a double. The U. S. Navy band from Charlestown, a bugle corps, and a squad of marines from the Navy Yard went through a formal drill before the game. They arrived at Newton Corner about five o'clock and were taken to the Armory by automobile from which point they marched to the field. The exhibition was put on as an advertising feature of the "Old Ironsides Day" to be held tomorrow at the Navy Yard. Mayor Childs presided at the celebration on the field.

Tomorrow afternoon at the West Newton Common the Upper Falls and Catholic Club nines will play off their protested game. Should the Upper Falls team win that team will have won the second half championship and the right to meet the Earnshaw team in the city championship series for the city title and the first leg on the Graphic Cup. If the Catholic Club defeats the Upper Falls team then and the protest of the Pals is upheld then the Club and Pals will play again. If the West Newton team should win this game it means another tie between the Catholic Club and the Upper Falls. This would be played off into a three game series. Then the City series could be begun. At a meeting of the league officials last Friday night it was voted to play a best three out of five series with the Earnshaw team entertaining the other contenders at Victory Field in the opening tilt. It was also voted not to take up any collection at these games.

Captain-elect Clem Coady of the Harvard football team returned this week from Cody, Wyoming, where he spent the summer months on a ranch. The West Newton youth is in perfect condition and ready for a hard season. On the way East he stopped off at Chicago and had a conference with Head Coach Arnold Horween and Assistant Coaches Brader and Carney. Until practice starts next week Coady will be at Scituate.

Mike Gullan, former Brown and Newton high football captain and star tackle, has signed up again with the Providence Steamrollers. The Steamrollers, who are expected to make a strong bid for professional honors this fall, held their first practice sessions this week.

Carleton McCullough and Tom Gilligan, star high school athletes, will enter Exeter Academy where Francis Gilligan, Tom's older brother, is a student. Local fans will remember the playing of the two Gilligan boys while together at high school and will watch their play at the prep school with interest.

Johnson, guard, and Hemeon, end on last fall's high school eleven, will enter Cushing Academy this month.

Eddie Kevorkian of Newton Centre, who is expected to land a regular berth in the Brown University grid-team line this fall, is among the 22 veterans at the Brown training camp outside of Providence. The former Newton high guard weighed in at 208 pounds.

A glance at the Newton high school football schedule shows several important changes from schedules of other years. The first game will be played a week from tomorrow at Clafin Field. Quincy high which usually helps the orange and black pry off the grid-season lid will again be the visitors on that day. As usual the first Suburban League game will be played on Columbus Day. This year however instead of entertaining Everett on Clafin Field the Dickinson outfit will travel to Everett to meet Dennis Gildes's boys on the Everett gridiron. Local fans who witnessed the game last year which was won by the visitors after Ahlin had intercepted a forward pass and run 105 yards for the only score of the game, will make the trip hoping to see the local eleven get their long anticipated revenge.

Medford high, which dropped out of the league at the close of the season last fall, has been replaced on the schedule by Lawrence high. Newton and Lawrence authorities have agreed to an alternate home and home game each year. This year Newton will play at Lawrence and in 1927 will meet the Mill city team on Clafin field. Lawrence has a new athletic field and stadium which will be used for the first time this fall.

Waltham high, which dropped Newton after the game last year at which Coach Jack Leary was accused of coaching from the side-lines, has been replaced by St. Mary's high of Waltham. Although it is doubtful if the game will excite the intense interest that he old game between Newton and Waltham public high schools, there isn't any question whatever but there will be a large gathering of Watch City fans come over in anticipation of seeing the orange and black defeated. Newton, however, must have at least one Waltham team to beat and if the public high school authorities refuse to meet them then Dickinson's boys will show their class against St. Mary's high. There are two or three local boys who are expected to make positions on the St. Mary's team, which will undoubtedly increase the interest in this game.

Samuel Moore, holder of the world's record of 3000 consecutive bulls-eyes with a .22 calibre rifle in 8 hours and 40 minutes on a 50-foot range at his home in Newtonville last spring, will enter Cornell University this month. Before his 18th birthday young Moore established his record which, in the opinion of army officers engaged in the training of sharpshooters, will stand for years. In recognition of his remarkable feat the Newtonville boy was presented a medal by President Coolidge at the White House. In addition to his target shooting Moore turned to fancy shooting and clipped the ashes from a cigarette in the mouth of a companion who stood against a tree 50 feet away. He was also a sprinter on the high school track team during the winter season. During the summer months he coached the rifle team at the Mashpee Island Camp, Buzzard's Bay, which won the summer camp rifle championship of the U. S. A year ago he coached the rifle team at Camp Frank A. Day. This team were the winners of the title that summer.

In the yacht races at Duxbury last week Saturday Harriet Ellison in the Aeolus placed second in the race for 15-footers. William Ellison in the Harriet placed ninth.

In Monday's races Miss Ellison placed third and her brother fifth. Larry Pratt and his partner, Dr. Benedict, won the final of the men's doubles in the annual Duxbury Yacht Club tennis tournament on Labor Day. They took two sets, 6-0, 6-1 from a pair of Brookline players.

The Greater Boston preliminaries for the fifth annual Two-State Y. M. C. A. tennis tournament will be played tomorrow afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock, at the Huntington avenue Y courts. Four men will represent each association and Newton being in this section will have its team entered. One double and two singles matches will be played. The finals will be played next Saturday, September 18th on the Newton Y courts at 2 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded winners of the best two out of three games in the preliminaries and semi-finals and to winners of the best three out of five games in the finals. The championship last year was won by the Boston association.

Clark Hodder will compete in the national amateur golf championship at Baltusrol, New Jersey. The crack right hander, who also can break 90 as a southpaw, will also send in his entry for the left-handers tournament to be held at Sandy Burr within a short time. Hodder is one of the few rare natural athletes. He excelled in hockey while at Harvard, is one of the low-handicap golfers in the state, can play baseball with the best of them, and has the natural ability to better than the average in any sport that he attempts. With his natural ability he is a strong contender for the southpaw honors in the New England championship.

C. V. Moore was on the committee in charge of the Humerock Beach Association field day on the holiday.

At the Upper Falls playground last night the Upper Falls team and the W. N. A. C. played a 1-1 exhibition game. West Newton scored first in the second inning when with two down Rollins doubled and scored on Wright's single. Upper Falls tied the count in the fifth with two out when John Proctor singled, stole second and came home on George's double.

Wherever New England women gather together the Globe occupies a prominent place in the discussion.

COME AND JOIN the most inexpensive club in all New England! Two cents a day is all it costs—and to attend the meetings you don't even have to leave your own front porch.

Thousands of New England women belong to the Globe's famous Household Club—women with the same interests, the same problems that you have. Here is what a few of the members say:

"I think the Household Department splendid. I often think if it helps us old-timers, how much it must mean to young housekeepers."

"Let me welcome you to this wonderful and unique department of the Globe. There is none other like it, you will find, for it is a veritable melting pot of ideas and peoples."

Recipes, home furnishings, clothes, crocheting and knitting, budget plans, care of children—you will find all these things discussed every day in the Globe.

Over 50,000 letters a year are received from the Globe's women readers. More than 60,000 recipes—sent in by Globe readers—are on file in our office.

What is going on in your own neighborhood? You'll find it in the Globe—every day local news of interest about your community. What's the news of the big Boston stores? You'll find it in the Globe—store news more complete than in any other paper.

FOR the man who likes his news straight—uncolored by racial or religious prejudice or political bias, accurate and reliable—there's nothing like the Globe.

The Globe has always made a specialty of sports. Not only the leading professional and amateur sporting events, but local sports of all kinds.

Orange County
 Our experiences in El Centro and San Diego enjoyable as they were, served merely as curtain raisers to the entertainment furnished our party in Orange County. In many years of travel, I have found that most places have but one outstanding feature either of scenery, production or people. Orange County therefore, is unique in that it has the mountains, the valleys and the sea shore for scenery, a most fertile soil which produces annually over eighty millions of dollars in fruits, vegetables, nuts and oil, and last, but by no means the least, a population which believes in religion, education, in cleanliness and in hospitality.

Our day began with breakfast at St. Ann's Inn, a most pleasing and restful hotel in Santa Ana, the county seat, and a city of 31,000 people. Here we met among others, Mr. John P. Baumgartner, editor of the Register and a past president of our Association.

After breakfast, we filled a hundred automobiles, for a drive about this interesting county. Splendid paved roads led thru thousands of acres of orange and lemon groves, and past neat and attractive homes, most of which were set in bowers of many hued flowers. Our first stop was at Newport Beach, at the entrance to Newport Bay, which the county hopes to make into a harbor for coastwise traffic, as well as for pleasure craft for all Southern California. Our journey then carried us to Huntington Beach, and thru beautiful little towns and cities, past more and more groves and cultivated fields to Orange County Mountain Park. Our host left the scheduled route to take us to the top of a hill in Marcy's ranch, where we had a wonderful view of the valley with its thousands of orange, lemon and avocado trees.

Orange County Mountain Park of 160 acres is situated in a natural grove of enormous spreading live oaks and sycamores, under the shade of which we had a beautiful and delicious luncheon, during which we were entertained by music from a group of Spanish strollers.

Leaving the park with many expressions of regret that our time was altogether too short for a full enjoyment of the place, we resumed our drive, passing thru El Modena, Villa Park, Olive, Richfield, Yerba Linda and Placentia to the city of Anaheim the home of the California Valencia Orange Show, held annually in May. I was particularly impressed during this ride with the production of school houses all thru the county. They are all of pleasing architecture and are set in grounds made beautiful with lawns and flowering shrubs and plants.

There are two classes of oranges in California, the naval orange with which we in the East, are most familiar and which is harvested in the winter time, and the other, the Valencia orange, which is harvested during the summer. Orange County is known as the "Home of the Valencia," producing about 8700 carloads each year, most of which are marketed under the Sunkist brand.

One of the delightful features of the day, was a visit to the home ranch of Mr. Charles C. Chapman, at Fullerton. Mr. Chapman has thousands of acres of citrus fruits and leads the entire county in the production of oranges. He made us more than welcome at his attractive home. High School girls in orange colored smocks served us with cool orange juice, from stands scattered all thru his spacious grounds and found many customers for the afternoon was warm. Possibly the greatest "kick" some of us got during the visit was the opportunity to pick ripe and luscious oranges right off the trees. It was a real treat and a courtesy which was much appreciated by the entire party.

A feature which adds greatly to the wealth of the County, but not to its attractiveness, is the oil industry. This has grown rapidly the past few years and now covers some 8000 acres with 1,000 wells producing some 50 million barrels a year.

A few figures of interest as showing the wealth of the county. Oil, gasoline and natural gas produced $50,000,000 last year; Oranges, $15,500,000; beans, $3,200,000; lemons, $2,072,000; sugar beets, $1,500,000; dairy products, $1,500,000; and peppers, $1,196,000.

One of the interesting places in Orange County, although we did not visit it on this particular day, is the San Juan Capistrano Mission. Capistrano, to me, is the most attractive of all the famous California Missions. It was founded in 1776, and its church was partially destroyed by an earthquake in 1812, and never restored. The picturesque ruin of the church dominates the entire Mission and is particularly interesting from the attractive garden, filled with many beautiful flowers. Part of the Mission is still used for religious services.

Justin Craemer and Timothy Brownhill, who came to Richmond last year, to invite the Association to California, made many glowing promises for which we made certain allowances. Our day in Orange County proved that these gentlemen knew what they were talking about, when they claimed Orange County as the "Paradise of the World."

I doubt if my readers would be much interested in the business affairs of the convention, which met every morning for the next three days in Los Angeles. Suffice it to say that it was a profitable meeting for those of us who appreciate the value of touching elbows with men in the same line of business and exchanging ideas and experiences.

One feature of the convention may be of interest to the general public. Realizing the amount of biased propaganda which has been in the newspapers the past few months relative to the sentiment of the country on the matter of national prohibition, I had suggested to the president of the Association, that this convention, attended by newspapermen from all over the country, would furnish an excellent opportunity to obtain first hand information on this important subject. President Edgemoor agreed with me and promptly assigned to me the task of obtaining this information. Out of 170 newspapers I had returns from about 150, and representing 31 different states. 100 reported that their communities were in favor of strict enforcement of the Volstead act. 29 said they favored modification, 6 thought a system of government control similar to that in Canada would be the best. 3 wanted entire repeal of the act. Most significant of all, however, was the report that 109 said there was less drunkenness in their vicinity since the advent of national prohibition and only 15 stated that there was more drunkenness. This report was greeted with enthusiasm by the convention and the few conclusions I drew from those figures met with hearty approval.

The meetings of the convention were so arranged that after the morning sessions, some form of entertainment was provided for the afternoon and evening.

After the first session, we had luncheon, as guests of the Ambassador Hotel, one of the noted hostilities of the Pacific coast, and a luncheon which, after a wonderful series of entertainment, still lingers in my mind as one of the high lights of our stay.

Later in the afternoon, following a short business session, at which it was announced that the Newton Graphic had been awarded second place in the contest regarding advertising in local papers, we were taken on a drive thru Santa Monica and Beverly Hills.

Santa Monica is one of the noted places on the Pacific coast and besides an excellent beach, has a beautiful park along the top of the cliffs overlooking the ocean. Later in the month we paid a short visit to Mrs. Theodore W. Trowbridge, a former resident of Huneewell Hill.

Our drive thru Beverly Hills was most interesting as this beautiful city is the home of many of the motion picture stars. Our hosts had been most thoughtful and had placed a small numbered sign on the lawn of these homes and each bus had an escort who told us who lived in each place. I am not much of a movie fan, and knew only a few of the forty or fifty names which were called out. I did recognize the names of Charley Chaplin, Rudolph Valentino, Charles Ray and Norma Talmadge. I was much interested in land values in this little city and was shown one corner lot, 105 feet frontage, in a development which seemed quite a ways from either a business or a residential center, and which had just been sold for $200,000. Beverly Hills is no place for a poor man, that is evident.

Our hosts at Beverly Hills provided an unusual entertainment for our party. Tom Mix, the well known movie artist, performed with his wife and a quartet and a horse show was put on by riders from the Fox-Mix studios. Charlie Hoff, the Norwegian pole vaulter, gave an exhibition, clearing the bar at 13 feet six inches. A whip-pet race for those near enough to see, was also a novelty to most of us.

A perfect night and an ideal setting in a tropical park that cannot be rivaled by any in Southern California or elsewhere, completed the details for the brilliant occasion. Colored lights played over the fountain and fountains. A battery of giant sun-lamps, from the Olson studio, in themselves, an innovation to the guests, illuminated the entire garden. A Spanish barbecue dinner, prepared by the Elite Caterers, was efficiently served by a corps of skilled waitresses.

After the banquet, Fred Niblo, motion picture director supreme, was master of the evening's ceremonies. Taking charge of the program with the ability of a past master and as "at home" as if he were directing scenes for a screen spectacle, Mr. Niblo introduced to the editors a number of picture people whose names are widely known.

The Buster Brown team made a great hit and little Mary Louise Phillips, who has a prominent part in Mary Pickford's "Sparrows" was received with hearty applause. And thus ended the first day of the convention.

Luncheon, the second day in Los Angeles was served in the building of the Chamber of Commerce, at which we were told many interesting statistics about the city and to which reference will be made later.

In the afternoon, there was a drive thru the rapidly growing city of Glendale, Flintridge, a suburb of Pasadena and to Pasadena itself. Glendale prides itself on its rapid growth claiming an increase from 13,000 in 1920 to 60,000 the present year. It has a valuation of $63,000,000 and a tax rate of $3.46 per $100. It has 5978 children in the elementary schools and 2785 in the high schools. $1.67 of the tax rate is for schools. Its water, light and power are municipally owned. Golfers will be interested in the course of the Sunset Country Club, where all of the nine holes are par 3 and yet so laid out that it takes an expert to negotiate the course in par figures. We had heard a great deal about Pasadena and found it a delightful city in every respect. Its Orange Grove avenue, or "Millionaire's row" was lined with palatial homes set in most attractive floral surroundings. Possibly the most interest attached to the home of William Wrigley, the gum king. The Avenue Deodars, also known as the street of Christmas trees was a beautiful sight without any ornamentation and must be a brilliant scene at

WHAT OUR MODERN LAUNDRY SERVICE OFFERS YOU

Mrs. Smith relies on us for all of her washing and ironing. She likes our Finished Family Service best.

Mrs. Brown prefer to iron her own frilly things, but she has us do all of her washing, and iron her bed and table linen, towels, and other flat pieces.

Mrs. Adams sends us her heavy wash-rugs, blankets, and comforts regularly, and Mrs. Martin wouldn't think of letting anyone else touch her curtains and pillows.

These are some of the many household helps which we offer you.

Select the one which best suits your needs—no matter how critical you may be, we promise to please you.

We will wash for you with the purest of rain-soft water and the mildest of white soaps. We will do your ironing with improved equipment which never scorches, wears, or tears.

In everything we do for you we use care and skill, and we give you the benefit of modern methods which science and experience have taught us.

Try this improved service—it costs you little, and it saves you so much.

Just bundle up everything that needs washing and put in a call for our driver today—we'll have him there promptly.

Christmas time when it is illuminated with thousands of colored lights.

I was rather disappointed in the looks of the famous Rose bowl as it was not nearly as attractive as many other stadiums we visited while in California. Possibly it might look different during the tournament of roses.

Pasadena, with its suburbs such as Altadena, Oak Knoll and Flintridge, is termed the "Crown City." It spreads out on the foothills of the Sierra Madre Mountains in which range are Mount Lowe and Mount Wilson. The latter is topped by the world famous Mt. Wilson observatory and resort hotel, commanding vistas of orchards and farms and beautiful Southern cities with Santa Catalina Island 75 miles distant. Here a veritable maze of bridge and hiking paths begin, following the Arroyo Seco and the mountains through Glendale, Griffith Park, Beverly Hills and on to the ocean at Santa Monica, 35 miles away from Pasadena.

Dinner was served in the picturesque Maryland Hotel, one of the most attractive and typically Californian hostilities in the state. It spreads over two city blocks, its imposing Spanish entrance mutely testifying to the hospitality within. In addition to the main structure itself, the hotel has numerous bungalows. This hotel is noted the world over as a tourist hotel, and in winter it is the scene of many colorful society events.

After the dinner, which was tendered the editors through the courtesy of the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce and Civic Association, the party was taken to the Community Playhouse where they witnessed the world premier of "In the Next Room." The Playhouse is unique in that the Players are all young society people of Pasadena with the exception of the leading character. They donate their services for the furtherance of drama. The building, built along Spanish colonial lines, was built largely by young millionaires who donated overalls and did manual labor on the exterior. Spanish entertainment was offered the party between acts, and the editors were taken back stage following the production.

Our party was complimented while in Los Angeles by an invitation to take breakfast with the Breakfast Club of that city, one of the most unique clubs in America. One member, compliments the club at breakfast every Friday morning and there is a waiting list of over 100 who have made application for the privilege of being hosts. The editorial party were guests of Mr. Harry Chandler, the publisher of the Los Angeles Times, one of the great newspapers of the country. We were told that the club has a unique salutation among its members, the greeting being "Hello Ham" and the reply "Hello Eggs." The breakfast club meets a few miles out from the business section and we passed by the Angelus Temple, where Aimee Semple McPherson has made her reputation as an evangelist.

That noon we were luncheon guests at the Hotel Alexandria of the Los Angeles Publishers' Association, a restaurant which was enlivened by the presence and singing of the Scribes Club of San Fernando Valley, attired in Spanish costumes. Later we took busses for a trip thru this wonderful valley, which has a story like the fairies. Ten years ago it was a barren waste, with practically no vegetation except a few desert plants. Los Angeles brought from the mountains 250 miles away through a huge aqueduct, millions of gallons of water daily. It was decided to sell part of the water to people in the valley. And today, it is a veritable paradise. Practically any kind of truck or vegetable thrives, and ranchers and truckers are growing rich each season, for they are not dependent upon rainfall and never have a crop failure.

At Memory Garden Park we visited the historic old mission, erected in 1793, and standing intact today. It is one of the most interesting of the Spanish Missions on the American continent. In the park a stand had been erected, and here a forty-piece band furnished music for the occasion. Indians from the valley reservation entertained the crowd of three thousand with their war dance. Spanish dancers charmed the audience with their music, songs and dancing. Costumes were beautiful and colorful.

While here I was greeted by Arthur Watkins, whom I had not seen since our Bigelow school days. He resides in Glendale but has one of the ranches in the San Fernando Valley.

The next day was designated as "Old Home Day" and we were invited to attend a picnic held under the auspices of the Federated State Societies of Los Angeles and held in Sycamore Grove, which has a native tree from every state in the union. We registered in the New England section of the grove and met a few people from this part of the country but none from Massachusetts and we took the remainder of the day for a much needed rest. Sunday, also was a "free" day and we continued to enjoy ourselves without the usual admonition to keep to schedule.

But what we had seen and what we had experienced up to this point, however, was merely a prelude to a program of entertainment which, for the next week, was as strenuous as well as interesting, as I had ever experienced. Each day we left the hotel, often in the early morning and did not return until late each night, each day being something entirely different from each other.

On Monday we made a tour of the San Gabriel valley covering 120 miles thru a region devoted to oil, citrus and walnut ranches. Within a distance of not exceeding 40 miles from Los Angeles, there are about 25 or 30 prosperous little cities and towns, each with its schools and churches and stores, all kept as clean and neat as one could wish. Indeed, one of the striking features of California towns is the cleanliness of the streets and care of lawns and gardens around the attractive homes.

Whittier, the largest of these cities produces 75,000 barrels of oil each day, has 5000 acres of Valencia oranges producing fruit worth over three million dollars yearly, and 4000 acres of walnut trees. Puente is known as the "Walnut City" with 8000 acres devoted to that industry. We were presented with a pound of walnuts as we passed thru this little town. In a little circular giving us some valuable facts about Puente, I was interested in the last item which states that "Puente has business houses of nearly all kinds but needs a moving picture show, small modern hotel, chiropractor and a laundry."

At Hillgrove we were privileged to inspect an orange packing house, and were shown how the oranges are graded and packed. Orange juice and avocado sandwiches added to the pleasure of this visit.

We stopped for a few minutes, also, at the Fourth of July celebration at Covina, "the city of flowers," and joined with a large crowd at a typical country fair.

We passed thru the city of Pomona and on to Claremont, the home of Pomona college. Here we were guests of the college at luncheon, served in the college gymnasium. While our party was arriving at the building, had the pleasure of meeting Mr. and Mrs. George Trowbridge, former residents of West Newton. Mr. Trowbridge presented me with a copy of the Graphic. We had an interesting chat together and he told me he was the purchasing agent for the Pomona schools.

The outstanding feature of the trip was a visit to the world's only lion farm near El Monte. There are 85 lions on the farm ranging in age from three weeks to 25 years. They are used in making movie pictures as well as furnishing animals for the zoos. They are kept in large strongly barred cages, similar to that used for bears at Norumbega Park. The owner has no fear of them and entered several cages for us and made the animals go thru several stunts, including laying down across the body of his wife. One of these lions he told us weighed 900 pounds.

We also made a stop at San Gabriel to visit the famous Mission of that name.

Mr. Densmore, our automobile host, took us to his home, a most comfortable residence before returning to Los Angeles.

San Gabriel Valley, one of California's oldest developments, is being rapidly built up and it is predicted, that the 1930 census will give Los Angeles count a population over three million. It may be safe to say that in 190 the population will be double the for out here they do things different.

WEEKLY PRIZE CONTEST

The Rules

Anyone not connected with the Graphic is eligible.

Below you will find a coupon divided into twelve blank sections. Each section contains the first few words of a line taken from an advertisement in this week's issue and a place for the name and address of the advertiser from whose ad the uncompleted line is taken. Look through the ads, find the proper line, fill in the uncompleted portion and the name and address of the advertiser. When you have filled out all twelve of the blanks sign your name and address at the bottom.

Clip the coupon and bring or mail it to the Weekly Prize Contest Editor, Newton Graphic, Box 205, Newton. The first ten correct replies received at the Graphic office will be awarded prizes.

First prizes this week—(North side section) A $200 order good for any merchandise at C. H. Campbell Co., Inc., Hardware, 261 Washington St., Newton. (South side section) A $200 order good for any merchandise at the Newton Centre Motors, 20 Union street, Newton Centre.

Second to fifth prizes, inclusive, (each division)—Passes for two persons to the Community Theatre—good for any night in the week. As an example the last blank is filled out. The line is taken from the advertisement of the Newton Co-operative Bank on Page 1. "Every service rendered by a" is your cue. "Co-operative Bank is offered to Newton Residents" is the uncompleted portion which you are to fill in as well as the name and address of the advertiser. Fill out the other twelve blanks.

Newton, Newtonville, West Newton, Auburndale, and Nonantum, will make up the North side; Chestnut Hill, Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, Waban, Newton Lower Falls, and Newton Upper Falls, will make up the South side.

Five prizes will be awarded in each section. The first prize, in each section, will be as usual an order for two dollars on a local store. The other four prizes in each section will be passes for two to the Community Theatre, Newton, good for any one night in the week.

The first five blanks, correctly filled out and returned, in each section, will be awarded the prizes regardless of the number of correct ones received from the North side, prior to the arrival of the first one from the South side section.

Remember this—follow the rules to the letter and get your blanks in early.

With so many correct replies coming in each rule must be strictly observed out of fairness to all. The winning of a prize last week, does not bar you from further entry. Try each week.

POLICE NEWS

Five men were in District Court Tuesday morning, charged with driving under the influence of liquor.

Pompeo Manari, 32, of 12 Skehan street, Somerville, was arrested by patrolman George L. Tobin. His case was continued until Sept. 15. The motorcycle which he was driving Saturday night hit a car driven by Miss Margaret M. McDonald of 295 Webster street, Needham Heights, at Lowell avenue and Washington street, Newtonville.

Manari sustained cuts and bruises and was taken to the Newton Hospital. When he was released from the hospital he was arrested by patrolman Tobin.

William W. Watson, 32, of 134 Worcester street, Wellesley, was arrested Sunday evening by patrolman J. P. Murphy. His case was continued until Sept. 14. Luigi Calcheri, 42 Waltham street, Watertown, was arrested by patrolman Regan Monday morning. His case was also continued until Sept. 14th.

Paul Geary, 21, of 12 Frances street, Newton, was arrested Monday by patrolman Laughlin and Tegan. His case was continued until Sept. 13. Robert H. Halberd, 28, of Lawrence avenue, Winchester, was arrested Monday by patrolman Seelye and McDonough. His case was continued until Sept. 15.

George Landry, 24, of 9 Carter street, Needham, was fined $100 for driving while under the influence of liquor and $50 for leaving the scene of an accident where damage had been done to property without making himself known, when he was arraigned before Judge William F. Bacon in Newton District Court Wednesday morning.

Landry appealed and was held in $500 bail. About a week ago, the automobile he was driving, is alleged to have sideswiped an automobile parked at Parker and Boylston street, Newton Centre.

When police came to investigate the accident they found that Landry was gone.

Quentin C. Roberts of Hurlcroft avenue, Medford, has appealed fines of $25 and $50 on charges of speeding and refusing to stop when signalled by police officer.

Thomas Freeman was fined $10 for drunkenness and given a sentence of one month in the House of Correction for driving "wutiol." He appealed the fine and the sentence.

Joseph Puglisi who pleaded not guilty to charges of carrying a revolver and firearms, was fined $100 on the first charge and $50 on the second. He was given until next January 29 to pay the latter. The first fine was suspended until that date.

LANDMARK SOLD

Alford Bros. report that they have sold for the Misses McGrady their estate bordering on Commonwealth avenue and Summer street to a group of Newton Centre business men. The grantors convey two single and two two-family houses, together with two acres of land. The purchaser buys for investment, and the price although not announced is understood to be in excess of the assessed valuation of $20,000.

In connection with the above transaction Alford Bros. have resold for the purchaser all the available building land to Frank Seretto, who intends to improve with a high type of brick dwelling. The purchase price was around $1 per foot.

Four and one-half acres of land in Waban have been sold by the same office for Ellen G. Miller of Monterey, California, to Benedetto Generazio of Newton. Mr. Generazio proposes to divide the property, for investment, into lots of 10,000 feet or more. This parcel lies between Waban avenue and Quinobeguin, near Irving road and is assessed for $10,000.

Mrs. C. A. Hutchinson has transferred title on her two-family house at No. 19 Rowe street, Auburndale, to Mrs. Mabel C. Peterson of West Newton. Mrs. Peterson has bought for a home. The purchase price is understood to have been in the vicinity of $13,000.

Holtzer-Cabot Electric Co. has sold approximately nine acres of its tract of land on Needham street, Newton Highlands, to J. J. Coppinger. In connection with this transaction it is interesting to note that this transfer has conveyed a part of the only unrestricted land in Newton under the zoning ordinance. Mr. Coppinger has bought for investment and will subdivide to suit a purchaser. Alford Bros. have been the exclusive agents of this land.

In Newton Centre Ida R. Fitzgerald has taken title to the single house, garage, and 5,000 feet of land at No. 39 Walter street. Herbert L. Ray was the seller and the property is valued at $10,500.

First Public Utility.

The first known public utility was a grist mill at Dedham, Mass., erected in 1640 on the waterway cut through to join the Charles river and the Neponset. This waterway, known as Mother brook, was the first canal constructed in the United States. Owners of the mill provided a place where the early settlers might grind their corn, extracting a title in payment for mill maintenance.

Soldiers Willing to Share Glories of War

A scrap of conversation just before the Blanc Mont action shows the attitude of the men in the trenches toward the war.

It was the last day of September, and as the forenoon went by an intermittent drizzle sent the battalion to such miserable shelters as the men could improvise. Company commanders and second in command went toward ruined Somme-Py for reconnaissance and returned to profane the prospect to their platoon leaders.

"I do not like this place," declared the captain of the Forty-ninth company to his juniors. "It looks like it was just built for calamities to happen in."

"Yep, and all the division is around here for calamities to happen to. . . . A sight more of us will go in than will ever come out of it."

Meantime it was wet and cold in the dripping shelters. Winter clothing had not been issued, and the battalion shivered and was not cheerful.

"Wish to God we could go up and get this fight over with!"

"Yes, 'n then go back somewhere for the winter. Let some of these here noble national army outfits we've been hearin' about do some of the fightin'! There's us and there's the First division, and the Thirty-second—H—! We ain't hogs! Let some of them other fellows have the glory!"

"Gawd help the boche when we meets him this time! Somebody's got to pay for keepin' us out in this wet an' cold."—Capt. John W. Thomason Jr. of the United States Marines, in Scribner's.

Luncheon Club Rules in Queen Anne's Time

We think luncheon clubs are new stuff, forgetting there is nothing new under the sun. Rambling through my Addison the other day, I found that the Spectator's club, organized by Brother Editor Addison, had some rules that have a familiar ring and some unfamiliar. For example:

None shall be admitted into the club that is of the same trade with any member of it.

If any member swears or curses, his neighbor may give him a kick upon the shins.

If any member tells stories in the club that are not true, he shall forfeit for every third lie a half-penny.

If a member brings his wife into the club, he shall pay for whatever she drinks or smokes.

If any member's wife comes to fetch him home from the club, she shall speak to him without the door.—Merle Thorpe in Nation's Business Magazine.

Swimming to Work

Pacific islanders are probably the cleanest people on earth, for they spend a good part of every day in the water, and may be said to be almost as amphibious as seals. The children learn to swim almost as soon as they learn to walk. If the village happens to be at some distance from the shore, a swimming pool is formed in a nearby stream, and there mixed bathing is indulged in several times every day.

With the skin constantly greased with coconut oil, the pulp of the bitter green orange makes a good soap and lathers freely. Dame Nature also supplies them with scrubbers, the husks of the coconut, and this they apply to their shining bodies very vigorously. Their towel is provided by the sun and wind.

When Windows "Sweat"

The sweating of windows is due to imperfect ventilation, and if perfect ventilation could be obtained it would probably give the most effective results.

In many cases openings are made in the sash, top and bottom, so that a current of cold air may cover the interior side of the glass. In some instances, where the sweating of windows is not so bad, 55 grams of glycerin is dissolved in 1 liter of alcohol (63 per cent), to which a little amber oil is added. As soon as it is thoroughly mixed, it may be rubbed on the inside surface of the window with a camels or linen rag. A thin coat of pure glycerin applied to both sides of the glass will prevent moisture.

Europe's Oldest Bell

What is the oldest bell in Europe? This distinction is claimed for the largest of the bells in the town steeple of Lanark, Scotland. This bell originally hung in the old church of St. Kentigern, Lanark.

Although its bearings are worn and require attention, the ancient bell is still in good condition.

Wallace, the Scottish patriot, worshipped in St. Kentigern's and met and married his bride there. Doubtless the hero often listened to the chiming of the old bell, and we can imagine it ringing a joyous peal on the morning of his wedding day.

Early Canadian Coal

The first recorded mention of coal in Canada was made in 1654. At a very early date coal was gathered in Nova Scotia without mining, and mention of this was made in 1721. In 1743 coal was shipped from Cape Breton, as is stated in a letter of M. Duchambore to the French minister. In 1785 coal was mined at Sydney, Cape Breton, under license from the crown. In 1798 the coal in Pictou county, Nova Scotia, attracted the attention of the authorities, and Admiral Sawyer of the British navy ordered a small cargo to be sent to Halifax for the use of the admiralty.

Whispered Speech and Received Big Ovation

A prominent suburbanite, who is well known as a speaker in fraternal organizations, recently had occasion to go to a northern city to make an address at a dedication.

When he arrived in the city he was so hoarse that he could scarcely be heard. The committee of reception was dismayed. "Why not take some Turkish baths today?" was suggested. "All right," he responded in a whisper, "I'll try it." So he went through a steaming process, and sure enough, in the evening his voice had come back to him to an extent.

When he arose at the meeting he apologized by saying that he had practically lost his voice, but, that after years, he would put into practice a precept, of an old elocution professor, to whisper so that everyone who would be attentive could understand each word. So he whispered his speech. He was given an ovation—the greatest he had ever had. Later, in speaking of it, he said: "That was one of the principles laid down by Professor Neff years ago."

"He asserted that articulation was necessary in public speaking and that the voice could be pitched in any key or could be loud or soft. I remember as though it were yesterday when I stood on a platform in a large hall and whispered to him as he sat at the other end of the hall. He heard me perfectly. It was all due to articulation."—Philadelphia Record.

Chronic Worry Nerve Solved Real Problem

We all know the chronic worrier! The woman who always sees calamity ahead. Each new event that comes or threatens to come, is for her a new matter of apprehension.

To be sure, most of the things she worries about never happen, and the real problems of her life are not the things she foresees in time to fear.

But the fact remains that she squanders her vitality and her nervous system, maybe ruins her good digestion, and brings wrinkles into her face, worrying.

And she accomplishes nothing with all this tremendous waste of emotion. Things happen just as they would have if she could have remained calm and tranquil about things.—Montreal Family Herald.

Islands Part of America

The Virgin islands in the Caribbean sea were purchased from Denmark for $25,000,000. The purchase was made during the World war to shut Germany out of a possible submarine base. But negotiations for the islands had gone on intermittently for a half century. Secretary Seward first opened the question with Denmark at the close of the Civil war. Denmark agreed, the purchase was arranged and the king bade farewell to his subjects, then Sumner in the senate killed the ratification of the treaty. On another occasion negotiations proceeded to a final stage, only to be rejected by the Danish parliament. The price paid amounted to about $300 an acre for land worth for peace time purposes possibly $20 an acre.—Kansas City Star.

Nursery for Children

Some young mothers are so exercised over the thought of germs that they won't let their babies or children play on the floor. They let them tumble or sit up to a table to play. Now really, this seems a shame when children of all ages enjoy "scotching around" so much. No cutting table or dining table can compare with a floor for a place on which to build blocks or set up railroad tracks. Why don't these people have a nursery with a floor kept clean enough and dustless enough to be played upon? Have this room kept for the children to play in and see that they wear little house slippers or sandals when playing there and that no grown-up enters who wears shoes that have trod the streets.

The Foreman's Report

A spinster living in a London suburb was shocked at the language used by two men repairing telegraph wires close to her house.

She wrote to the company on the matter, and the foreman was asked to report.

This he did in the following way: "Me and Bill Fairweather were on this job. I was up the telegraph pole, and accidentally let the hot lead fall on Bill. It went down his neck. Then he said: 'You really must be more careful, Harry.'"

Romeo and Juliet

I can't bear to think Americans as a race are unromantic, but the evidence all around me is fairly strong. For instance, ask the average modern flapper if she thinks Romeo and Juliet are Shakespeare's saddest lovers, and she may say, "Saddest? You mean, sappiest! Gee! It's hard enough nowadays to find someone you can live with, let alone dying with them!"—From "If I Know What I Mean," by Elsie Janis.

Congenial Tree

One time as Toofus is going along the trail a leaf drops right into his hand. Toofus is pleased, stops and makes talk with tree.

Along comes Willow Plume and says, "Toofus, I told you that you must not talk to trees. People will think you are nutty."

"I did not intend to talk," Toofus said, "but this tree hands me its visiting card."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Will Currier Eddy of Auburndale have announced the engagement of their daughter, Luella Louisa (Eddy) Smith of New York, widow of Horace Greenwood Smith of that city, to James Williamson Eddy, son of the late Peleg Esek and Caroline Sawyer (Howe) Eddy of Boston. Mrs. Smith is a sister of Gwendolyn Marian (Eddy) Perry of Melrose, and of Laura Mabyn (Eddy) Hastings of Framingham Centre. Mr. Eddy's brothers are George Howe Eddy of Kenosha, Wis., and John Hardenbergh Eddy of Newtonville, with whom he is associated in business in Boston.

Mrs. Smith is a descendant of John Alden and Myles Standish of the Mayflower. Both Mrs. Smith and Mr. Eddy are officers of the Eddy Family Association, and are descended from Samuel Eddy, the Pilgrim, of Plymouth, 1630, though through different branches of the family. Mr. Eddy is also a member of the New England Historical Genealogical Society. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

CARUSO-ALTIERI

The wedding of Miss May J. Altieri of Thornton street, Newton, and Mr. Joseph J. Caruso of Arlington, took place at the Church of Our Lady on Monday.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Louise C. Altieri, and Peter C. Caruso, brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride was dressed in white georgette. Her veil of tulle was caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of valley lilies. Her attendant was dressed in coral taffeta, and wore a large picture hat and carried pink tea roses.

A largely attended reception followed the ceremony at G. A. R. Hall, Arlington.

Following the reception the couple left by automobile for an extended trip through Canada and the Provinces, and on their return they will make their home at 11 Thornton street, Newton.

DROWNING ACCIDENT

Raymond Carney, aged 16, of 98 Old Harbor street, South Boston, was drowned Saturday afternoon in the Charles River near Norumbega Park, when the canoe was paddling with his chum, John J. Degan, 18, of 190 L street, South Boston, tipped over, throwing the two youths into the water.

Carney sank immediately and his body did not reappear until the police located it with grappling irons. Degan clung to the overturned canoe and was saved by Metropolitan police. The two young fellows hired a canoe that afternoon and they were just passing the bend in the river near Norumbega when Carney wanted to change seats. While the change was being effected, the canoe tipped over, throwing both into the water.

Carney's body was taken to the Metropolitan Police station, where for two hours Dr. F. J. Halloran and Sgt. Daniel McLeod worked over it vainly.

EDITORIALS

In his broadcast Thursday morning Secretary of State Newton D. Cook put considerable emphasis on the importance of taking part in the state primary to be held next Tuesday. This state is so strongly Republican that the nominees of that party as determined by the primary are usually certain of election. This is particularly true of the offices for which there are contests for the nomination.

We have heretofore expressed our opinion that District Attorney Arthur K. Reading deserves a promotion to the office of attorney-general and our readers are referred to a clipped editorial from the Springfield Republican which is printed elsewhere.

The contest for the nomination for Councillor is also noted in another editorial, as the editor himself is one of the candidates for the nomination. For County Commissioner to fill an unexpired term, there should be no question as to the selection of the present acting Commissioner, Mr. Nathaniel Bowditch. Mr. Bowditch is the kind of man Massachusetts needs in public office.

For Register of Probate the voters of Newton can do no better than to endorse Governor Fuller's nominee for that office, the present acting register, Loring P. Jordan. While there has been considerable newspaper talk about this office Mr. Jordan has the hearty endorsement of many leading lawyers in the County and his experience in the office is unquestioned.

For Representatives to the Legislature from the new fourth district, there is no doubt whatever as to the renomination of Representative Arthur W. Hollis, who has made a good record during his first term. For his colleague we heartily endorse Mr. Rupert C. Thompson, who has a wide acquaintance thru his work as chairman of the Republican city committee for some years and more recently for his connection with the Newton Hospital drive. Mr. Boyd, who is contesting the seat with Mr. Thompson is a clean, intelligent young man, who should cultivate a wider acquaintance with public affairs, before attempting to enter the service of the state.

There are four candidates for the Republican nomination for Councillor in this district. The names on the ballot appear in this order, Esther M. Andrews of Brookline, John C. Brimblecom of Newton, Charles Lawrence Burrill of Lincoln, and Charles S. Smith of Lincoln.

The principal duties of a Councillor are the confirmation of appointments to office, and the approval of pardons as submitted by the Governor. The first requires a wide acquaintance of men, and politics, something which the woman voter has not yet attained. The second should require a cool, unbiased judgment, and ought not to be swayed by feminine sentiment. These conditions eliminate Mrs. Andrews from consideration of the nomination.

Mr. Burrill has had a rather hectic political career and used bad judgment when he sought to become mayor of Boston last fall, and thereby endangered the election of Mr. Nichols. This should eliminate Mr. Burrill.

Mr. Smith has already served three terms of two years each, two years more than any of his predecessors and his candidacy for two years longer has a porcine flavor which thinking Republicans do not relish. In addition Mr. Smith has the backing of the Charles H. Innis organization in Boston, and if elected to the Council Chamber which might not be desirable. These facts should eliminate Mr. Smith.

With these eliminations, the only candidate Newton voters should support is the editor of the Graphic.

A pleasing incident of the campaign for the Councillor nomination in this district, was the refusal of Mayor Childs to endorse the candidacy of Mr. Smith and his announcement that he would support Mr. Brimblecom for the office. Mr. Childs' attitude on this matter was wholly unexpected and is doubly welcome on that account.

We are glad to see that work is rapidly progressing in cleaning out the water mains.

School opens next Monday.

AUBURDALE CARNIVAL

On the evenings of September 30th, October 1st and 2nd and the afternoon of October 2nd as well, the Auburdales Club will conduct its third Annual Carnival on the Club Grounds in Auburdales Square. The features of the occasion will be a large automobile show, a Newton Trades' Exhibit, free shows and a host of concessions. There will be special music and special attractions for children. A particular feature will be the doll carriage parade.

AMERICAN LEGION

The delegates are Col. F. W. Stopford, Frank L. Wilcox, Henry J. Ryan, Thomas A. Franey, Julius B. Ramm, Matthew Hurley, Francis J. Barry. The alternates are Major Frank McCabe, Edward T. Dungan, Russell Viles, Rola Allen, Ray Adams, Patrick Leger.

Too Much Mechanism for the Modern Mind?

Complete civilization will be here when our modern conveniences do not annoy us as much as they help us. Disquisitions are multiplying in the public press on the perils of the mechanical results of our inventive ingenuity. It requires such vigilance and intense application to carry on all this machinery of our civilization.

The complaint is made that the mind is left no time for abstract thought or contemplation or even for a healthy following. Can we live "on the jump," and live long and profitably? Every moment of our time feels the demand of some new distraction.

We are not in Alaska, where they can "set and think" through the long winter nights, and the advantages of "setting and thinking" are not to be belittled. By and by, Alaska may begin producing our sages and philosophers. Down here in sunnier and busier climes, we have no time for Platonic ratiocination.

A generation or two ago we reasoned out a fairly tenable philosophy on "What is man?" and "What are his purposes?" but now we are not so sure. W. G. Wells, somehow, is not so convincing as John Stuart Mill, and what gains have arisen since Darwin and Spencer and Huxley and Tyn-dall? Machinery, machinery!—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Cultivation of Hobby Remedy for Overwork

Many remedies are suggested for the avoidance of worry and mental overstrain in persons who over prolonged periods have to bear exceptional responsibilities and discharge duties upon a very large scale. Some advise exercise, and others, repose. Some counsel travel, and others, retreat. Some praise solitude, and others, gaiety. No doubt all these may play their part according to the individual temperament. But the element which is constant and common in all of them is change.

Change is the master-key. It is not enough merely to switch off the lights which play upon the main and ordinary field of interest; a new field of interest must be illuminated. The cultivation of a hobby and new forms of interest is therefore a policy of first importance to a public man. To be really happy and really safe, one ought to have at least two or three, and they must all be real.—Rt. Hon. Winston S. Churchill, in Hearst's International Cosmopolitan.

Fish Change Color

Many species of fish can change color at will to suit temporary needs. Experiments in aquaria have shown that the changes in color depend entirely upon the sight of the individual, since the color of blind specimens remains unaffected by changes in the color of their environment. The method by which a fish changes color is well known, says Nature Magazine. The color cells in the skin may contain red, orange, yellow and black pigments, and the variations in color result from muscular action, constrictions or subconstrictions, upon one or more of the color cells. The changes of color, generally under the control of the individual, are chiefly made for the purpose of concealment; but they are also made for many other reasons, including the capture of prey, for mimicry or for courtship.

Slow Breathing Best

It has been noted by scientists that the slow breathing animals are the longest lived and the least susceptible to tuberculosis. The rabbit, which is the most susceptible to the disease, breathes 55 times a minute, while the horse, the least likely to contract it, breathes but ten times a minute at rest. The animal which never is attacked by tuberculosis and which is perhaps the longest lived is the turtle. Its respirations are so few that they are scarcely perceptible. The observations and tests on animals have been made by experts in pulmonary diseases for the purpose of trying a slow breathing treatment on tuberculosis patients.

First English Theater

The first real theater in England was built in 1576 (in 1476 the first book was printed in England). The Puritanism of London made it necessary to build this theater on the Surrey side of the Thames. Only one bridge crossed the river—old London bridge, with its houses and shops. Across this bridge streamed the apprentices and their lassies, the workmen and non-Puritan craftsmen. The mansions of the great were built upon the river bank—hence the name of the street: Strand. Steps led to the water and gay barges carried the "quality-folk" across the river, the ladies frequently masked to escape rudeness and jest.

Many Tobacco Varieties

A variety of types and grades of tobacco are grown in the United States. Some are suitable for use in the manufacture of two or more kinds of product. The bright blue-colored type, grown mostly in Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia, is the principal cigarette tobacco. More of this type of leaf than any other is exported. Burley, grown chiefly in Kentucky, is used mainly in the manufacture of smoking and chewing tobacco, but largely also in cigarette production. The dark-fired type, produced for the most part in Kentucky and Tennessee, is used in the manufacture of snuff and smoking and chewing tobacco.

Farmer Gets Benefit of Ancestor's Bravery

One pennig rental has been paid annually for the past 250 years by the same tenant family to the house of Rantzau, at Itzehoe, Germany, for ten acres of land. A pennig equals one-fourth of a cent. The recipient this year is the family of Count Ulrich K. Brockdorff-Rantzau. Because of the scarcity of silver pennings, with which the original agreement provided that the rental be paid, the same coin has been used in the transaction for 25 years. Each year the coin is received with great formality and handed back to the farmer so that he may "pay" again the following year. The curious agreement commenced when the original Count Rantzau, hunting on horseback on the border of his large estate near Itzehoe, rode into a swamp. His horse sank immediately. The count shouted for help and Rheinhard Brauer, a neighboring farmer, succeeded at the peril of his life in rescuing the nobleman. Brauer spurned a cash reward, but Count Rantzau insisted on showing his gratitude in some manner. "Well," said Brauer, "if you must give me something, let me have the marsh from which I rescued you." The count agreed, on the condition that Brauer and his descendants pay to Count Rantzau and his descendants an annual rental of one silver pennig.

Abyssinians Hold Name of Saint George Holy

St. George seems to be the patron saint of the Abyssinians, for in their country there are a number of churches named for that personage.

One of them is carved out of solid rock and is a wonderful piece of work, having the appearance of hewn stone. There are beautiful arches and windows and some exquisite carving in stone. The structure is built in the shape of St. George's cross and the stone roof has a similar cross carved upon it.

The building is very pretentious and of a size designed to hold and accommodate several hundred persons. It has a sacred pool on the premises which is said to have been filled with water from the River Jordan years ago and which has never evaporated. The story is one which is generally accepted by the natives, but incidentally a casual observer will see that the surrounding area is drained into this pool and that is probably what keeps the level constant.—Chicago Journal.

Evolution of Trousers

The Haberdasher says: "Trousers are comparatively young things, having come in about the same time the last century did. George III was the last English monarch who wore knee breeches as a regular thing. The change from breeches to trousers was not a studied one, however, for there was a period of transition. During that time men took to tight and garters, and these were the forerunners of trousers proper, that is, the straight up-and-down loose-cut models we know today. We cannot say who first introduced them to America, but then, as now, our countrymen over here followed the fashions of England very closely, and it is quite likely that they made their appearance simultaneously in England and in the States."

Last Word, as Always

Motoring with one's wife should be the most enjoyable recreation there is. However—with blame placed upon neither husband nor wife—it is not always considered an event in which one might delight.

O'Grouch and Mrs. O'Grouch were taking their customary Sunday trip to the country, and on this particular Sabbath day things had not been going as smoothly as it was possible for them to go.

"The car is behaving very well today, Jane," said O'Grouch, who was trying to win his way to peace and quiet for at least a few miles. "I know," flashed back the better half. "Now it's up to you, John."

Why Speculators Lose

I asked one broker, as we stood looking at the crowd of perhaps 100 customers in his place:

"How many of these will get out of the market with a profit?"

"Nine out of ten will lose," was his candid reply, "because the first big sag in the market, no matter if only temporary, will wipe them out. No matter how conservative they are at first, carefully keeping reserve funds in the bank, they will soon have all available money up on margin and then they can't weather even a momentary reaction."—Fred C. Kelly, in Heart's International Cosmopolitan.

Restoring Soiled Table

Heat stains may be removed from a highly polished table by applying the following in their respective order, using a separate cloth for each: Kerosene, alcohol and sweet or linseed oil. The last should be well rubbed in until the spot no longer shows. Frequently a cloth moistened with warm camphorated oil will remove the stain. If these methods fail, probably the table will have to be refinished.

Leading to Success

We are told that constant dropping of water will wear away stones. So will continuous endeavor overcome obstacles to any worthwhile undertaking. Persistent adherence to right purpose creates a "successful life" in the best meaning of that term.—Grit.

press fully both the frolic and serious parts of the story." He made such a hit as a director in this picture that "Wings," an aviation picture which will be the biggest ever produced by the Famous Players. Some of the scenes in this picture will be taken in France.

Wellman left last week for San Antonio, Texas, where he will be for the next three or four months filming some of the scenes in "Wings." The newest creation to be directed by Wellman will cost over a million and a half dollars and will take over a year to produce.

It will have as its theme the part played by airplanes in the World War, and will be made on a scale eclipsing anything of the kind ever produced. It will be released in 12 reels and is said it will be "The Covered Wagon of the Air." It's author, John Mark Saunders was also an American aviator, and he will assist Wellman in accurately portraying on the screen the thrilling story of the American air heroes.

Prior to going into the moving picture game Wellman, on his return from France wrote a book of his experiences in the war entitled, "Go Get 'Em." While in California he accidentally met his former flying mate, Tom Hitchcock for the first time he had seen him since Wellman returned from France. Hitchcock after Wellman's injury was captured by the Germans, and so the pair had a wonderful time swapping war time recollections.

Collecting Debts in 1647

Old residents of England had their own ideas of debt payment and their own methods for enforcing payment where the customer was not interested in meeting the obligation. One old method in use in 1647 was a debtor's chair, that would be placed in the office of the man to whom the debt was due. The debtor was invited to enter and, when seated in the chair, a trigger was released that clamped iron hoops about the knees of the debtor and held him helpless while the other man negotiated a settlement, and the use of the chair in enforcing payment was entirely legal and in general use.—Ohio State Journal.

First Use of Spectacles

Spectacles are of French origin. The proof ocular, which is the kind that ought to be acceptable on the subject, lies in the fact that the oldest known portrait wherein spectacles appear is that of Cardinal Hugues De Provence, painted by one Thomas of Modena, which represents the prelate with the w. k. globes in front of his eyes. The fresco in the church of Saint Nicolas of Treviso, of which the portrait forms a part is dated 1352. There is, it appears, in the national library at Paris an illuminated manuscript, dated 1380, which shows St. Paul wearing spectacles. One would like to know where St. Paul got the idea. He was a great traveler.

Not So Aristocratic

"How many people know that the goldfish, supposed to be the embodiment of everything piscatorial aristocratic, is nothing but a lowly member of the carp family?" asked the proprietor of a bird and animal store. "It's the truth. Some species of goldfish will grow to six or eight inches in length. These big goldfish betray their antecedents by their coarse scales. In other words, they look like carp."—Detroit News.

Little Known of Aesop

Aesop lived during the latter half of the Sixth century. The exact date of birth is unknown. He was a Phrygian; not a negro. Phrygia was a country of Asia Minor. Under the Roman empire, it was bounded on the west by Musia, Lydia and Caria; on the south by Lucra and Pisidia; on the east by Lycania and Galatia, and on the north by Bithynia. Phrygians were probably a branch of the great Thracian family.

The week end and holiday they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Crossman of Milton at their summer home in Chebeague, Maine.

Mr. James Stanton of Abbott street, Mr. Harold Walker of Elliott street and Mr. Charles Hooker of Needham Heights, narrowly escaped serious injury when an Overland sedan, owned and operated by Mr. Stanton, skidded on the wet pavement on Central avenue last Sunday night and turned over on its side, when a rear tire blew out. None of the party was seriously injured outside of a severe shaking up. The car was damaged on one side.

Derivation of Names

of Parts of Church

When you enter a place of worship, you first pass through the porch, and may then proceed to an aisle, or possibly take a seat in the nave, or near the chancel.

Porch, aisle, chancel, and nave are all queer words. Some have been built up just anyhow; others are derived from the Latin, and twisted weirdly in the process.

"Porch," for instance, is the word-child, just recognizable, of the Latin "porta," a gate. Why "ch" pushed "ta" out of it, one cannot say.

"Aisle"—the schoolboy who called this word a "wicked speller" was quite right!—is what our Saxon forbears made of "ala," a wing. An aisle, of course, is a "wing" of a church.

"Chancel" is really the "canceled" or shut-off part of a church, and its word-parent is "cancelli," meaning "lattice work."

The connection—or the excuse for the word "chancel"—lies in the fact that carved screens, or lattice work, generally divided the east end of a church from the other parts.

"Nave" is from the Latin "navis," a ship. A church in a religious sense is an ark. So—"nave!"

Found Famous Writer

Had Been Before Him

The monument to Guy De Maupassant at Mirmesnil, Norway, recalls a story illustrating how easily unconscious literary plagiarism may be committed. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle once told a friend that, traveling in Switzerland, he came upon an inn isolated in the mountains for four months in every year. By the time he had reached the plain below he had mapped out in his mind a story in which two enemies were to be shut up in the inn for four months of isolation. At the first railway bookstall he came to one of De Maupassant's books caught his eye. He bought it, and, turning to the first page, "L'Auberge" appeared as the heading of the story. The "Auberge" was his identical inn, the story was of two enemies shut up there during the winter, and the denouement the same as he had imagined.

MR. READING FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL

The Republican nominee for attorney-general will be elected. Arthur K. Reading, now the district attorney of Middlesex County, is to be preferred for the nomination and for the office itself because he alone of the candidates can be depended upon, it appears, to enforce, as opportunity arises, certain laws which other candidates regard with ill-concealed or open hostility. These are the liquor laws of the commonwealth.

It is an error to assume that the attorney-general has nothing to do with law enforcement. He is more than the legal adviser of the executive and legislative branches of the state government. Many attorney-generals have personally participated in the prosecution of criminal cases. We have seen them functioning in that way in the Hampden county courthouse. The attorney-general seldom or never intervenes in the work of the district attorneys without good cause, yet he has the power to intervene in any criminal prosecution should the public interest dictate such a course. He constantly consults with the district attorneys, and he may even summon a grand jury on his own initiative in any county. But a few years ago, Atty-Gen. J. Weston Allen intervened in Suffolk and Middlesex counties to prosecute automobile thieves who had received virtual immunity from the district attorneys.

The state liquor law arouses the hostility of some people because it closely follows the federal law. It is a prohibition statute and prohibition is not approved by them. Yet a majority of the voters of Massachusetts are behind this law, as well as the Legislature. The attorney-general should not be so hostile to it in principle or in personal feeling that his official conduct would be prejudiced either in his own mind or in the public mind.

Mr. Adlow's course in the Legislature has indicated a complete antipathy to the liquor law. Mr. Lincoln, who it may be freely granted, is the most learned, experienced and dignified counselor at law among the candidates, believes in the "annulment" of the law. He is the treasurer and director of the Constitutional Liberty league, the purpose of which, according to its own constitution, is "to secure the annulment or repeal of the 18th amendment and the repeal of the Volstead law" to support the passage of state laws authorizing the sale of beer and wine.

Nullification proposals are openly advocated by opponents of prohibition. Mr. Lincoln belongs to the group that would nullify the constitution without first repealing the part of it that offends them. Consequently, he cannot be without hostility to the Massachusetts prohibition liquor law, which an attorney-general must swear to support and enforce. In fact, the Constitutional Liberty league exerted itself to the utmost to prevent the state liquor law from being adopted; it was the league's proclaimed desire that the state should seek to nullify the 18th amendment to the extent of failing to enact any enforcement code whatever. Massachusetts is entitled to an attorney-general who will regard with some slight sympathy at least efforts to enforce the liquor law as well as other laws. The candidate who best measures up to this standard as well as this task of enforcement is Mr. Reading, the excellent district attorney of Middlesex county.

—Springfield Republican.

LODGES

At a meeting of Newton Council, K. of C., Tuesday night, the officers who served during the past year were re-elected, with one exception, Lewis A. Farmer, who was a candidate for chancellor to succeed the late Daniel J. Hannigan, withdrew his name from the list of nominations and Francis J. O'Donnell was elected. The officers elected are: John A. Dunton, grand knight; John Monaghan, deputy grand knight; Francis J. O'Donnell, chancellor; D. F. Quinlan, recorder; George W. Linnehan, treasurer; William J. Geegan, advocate; Thomas F. Foley, warden; Edward White, inside guard; James Matthews, outside guard; Thomas F. Watters, trustee; John Nolan, delegate to Boston Chapter for five years; William J. Gerrity, delegate to the State convention; John Hickey and John F. Gallagher, alternate delegates.

DEATH OF MR. EDDY

Mr. Clinton L. Eddy, a native and life long resident of West Newton, died suddenly on Wednesday at Kineo, Maine.

Mr. Eddy had strayed for a vacation in the Maine woods and died before reaching his destination.

He was born in West Newton in May, 1868, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb F. Eddy. He was educated in the Newton schools and at Harvard College, being graduated in the class of 1890. He went into business with the firm of C. F. and G. W. Eddy, and continued with the firm until his retirement two years ago. He was a member of the Brae-Burn Country Club, a trustee of the Newton Savings Bank and treasurer of the Eddy Family Association. During the war he was a captain in the Newton Constabulary.

He is survived by his widow.

NEWELL-STAHLL

The wedding of Miss Ethel Hulda Stahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Stahl of Newtonville to Mr. Chesley Sumner Newell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb S. Newell of Stuart street, Watertown, took place on Saturday evening, September 4th. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. D. Parker of the Newtonville M. E. Church at the home of the bride on Bowers street.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Alice Mildred Stahl and the best man was Mr. Kenneth Newell, brother of the groom, Mr. Carl Hamilton and Mr. Henry Stahl, a brother of the bride, were ushers.

The gown worn by the bride was of white satin crepe and georgette and her veil was of Venetian lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore a gown of Nile green georgette and carried a bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas.

A reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home.

After a wedding trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Newell will reside at 30 Irving street, Cambridge, where they will be at home after October 1st.

Couldn't Really Call

Inn Ancient Building

We had paddled through Ghent's complex waterways and were wondering where we could leave our canoe in safety, when some racing shells shot past, a boathouse pennant fluttered, and a cheery voice invited us to utilize the Royal Club Nautique for as long as we wished. So we stored our canoe in the club's "garage," then drove through the town to a quaint inn whose leaded panes looked out upon a row of shops built into the outer walls of a great Gothic church, Melville Chater writes in the National Geographic Magazine.

The sight of people flocking to service, while others sipped drinks, got shaved or bought curios, all under the eaves of a sacred edifice, hinted that we were in an ancient quarter of the town.

"Is this an old inn?" we inquired of our Flemish host. He was a singularly literal man. He replied gravely:

"Not so very. Probably when built in the Thirteenth century it was some wealthy man's home. In the Sixteenth century, about the time Albrecht Durer stopped here, it was the house of the Grocers' guild. Later it was privately owned for a couple of more centuries. No, as an inn I wouldn't call it particularly old."

After that we reverentially used the doormat, and refrained from striking matches on the woodwork.

Nature's Lavish Gifts to Left-Handed Folks

If you had lived at any time in the period 2500 B. C. to A. D. 1500, and had been left-handed, you would have been regarded as one highly favored by the gods and far superior to ordinary folk. If, of your own initiative, you had not seized on power, it would have been placed in your hands. But in all probability that would have been unnecessary, for all down the ages the left-handed have gone ahead and made a success of life. They've something that the right-handed haven't. The leading Pharaohs were left-handed; so were the Caesars; so also Alexander the Great and Charlemagne.

Whether Nature compensates the left-handed by endowing them with special talents is a matter of speculation. The fact, however, remains that the left-handed are, in brain power, far superior to the right-handed. A schoolteacher, through whose hands thousands of boys have passed, is emphatic on that point. No left-handed boy, or could be, a fool is his dictum.

Differences in Heraldry

In heraldry "differences" or marks of "cadency" indicate the various branches of a family. During the lifetime of his father the eldest son bears a label, the second a crescent, the third a mullet, the fourth a marlet, the fifth an annulet, the sixth a fleur de lis, the seventh a rose, the eighth a cross moline, the ninth a double quatre foil.

In "Hamlet" Ophelia says that both she and the queen are to wear rue, herself as the affianced bride of the eldest son of the late king, but the queen with a "difference," indicative of the fact that, although she was Hamlet's mother, her status was that of her present husband, Claudius.—Detroit News.

Modest Philanthropist

A philanthropist, feeling that his end was approaching and not desiring any publicity for his kind acts, advertised in the newspapers and offered a prize for the best hint of how to dispose of his property. Many replies were received, some sound and sensible, and others wildly fantastic. Finally one came which suggested that he establish a fund to supply ice to dumb parrots.

This delighted the philanthropist so that he lay back and laughed heartily, he caught his breath with difficulty and laughed again. In the midst of his mirth he burst a blood vessel and passed away, leaving his fortune to his heirs and nothing for the poor dumb parrots.—Kansas City Times.

Sociology as a Study

Sociology is the term applied by the philosopher, Comte, to the study of mankind in their social relations. It recommends the prevention of national wars by arbitration, and the settlement of the war of classes by boards of conciliation. The term sociology is regarded by some as equivalent to history. The English philosopher, Herbert Spencer, used the term in the titles of several of his greatest works, for instance, "The Study of Sociology," published in 1872.

Lee as Matchmaker

General Lee played the part of fatherly matchmaker to many a pretty girl of his circle. In fact, he had always liked that role.

"Tell Miss—" he had written from Mexico, during the occupation, "she had better dismiss that young divine and marry a soldier. There is some chance of the latter being shot, but it requires a particular dispensation of Providence to rid her of the former."—Scribner's Magazine.

Some Family

Buddy went to a dog show and came home all excited. Breeds meant nothing to him and blue ribbons less, but the puppies delighted him beyond measure.

"Oh, mother!" he exclaimed, "I saw five puppies with their mother. Two of them were brothers and the other three were twins."

Sea's Expanse No Bar

to Butterfly's Flight

Not many people realize that some kinds of butterflies make enormous flights. It has been recently proved that these frail insects may journey thousands of miles, although why they should move about in this way is somewhat of a mystery.

How the butterflies manage to cross miles of ocean is a matter which it is difficult to explain. It has been suggested they may have some way of resting on the water, although this has never been proved to be the case. Certain it is that when settled in a locality, painted lady butterflies never appear to make long flights and spend virtually all their time flitting from one flower to another.

Another point which has to be cleared up is whether after this tremendous migration the butterflies make any attempt at a return journey. If there should be a flight toward the south at the end of the summer, it is probable that the insects would belong to a later generation than those that migrated in the spring. As is well known, the life of an individual butterfly is short and in most cases does not extend to more than a few weeks.—S. Leonard Bastin, in St. Nicholas.

Mud's Important Part in Earth's Formation

Importance of mud and the part it played in the earth's formation was the theme of a lecture by a noted Welsh geologist speaking on Welsh geology at Cardiff. He affirmed that mud was one of nature's most important productions—a commodity without which man could not live. Changes in the earth's crust had profoundly altered the muds which had been formed in past periods of the earth's history. One of the most interesting of rocks produced by the alteration of mud was slate, and the slates for which north Wales was so famous were formed during a period when that part of the earth's crust was in a condition of violent unrest, and some very ancient muds were intensely squeezed. The effect of the squeezing was to compress the mud and to twist its particles round until they all came to lie in the same relative direction like torn fragments of paper lying flat. The result of this, and other changes which accompanied it, was to make it possible to split the rock into thin sheets like cardboard.

Liszt as Press Agent

"Genius in the preceding generation forged ahead without the aid of a press agent," said a magazine editor the other day in a speech. As a general rule perhaps. But there are exceptions, Pierre Van Paassen, writing in the Atlanta Constitution, contents. Consider the case of Liszt. When he first began to play in public he came to places where his fame had not preceded him. One evening there were only a dozen persons in the auditorium. Instead of playing, he invited them all to supper, where he treated them to truffles and game and champagne and cognac and all the delicatessen in season. Then he sat down at the piano and played for his guests for two hours, as only he could play. A few days later he announced another recital, in a larger hall. It was filled to capacity, but the audience was not invited to supper. As a press agent, evidently, Liszt could have given points to the best of our days.

Best Basis for Love

The more wheels there are in a watch, the more trouble they are to take care of. The movements of exaltation which belong to genius are egotistic by their very nature. A calm, clear mind, not subject to spasms and crises which are so often met with in creative or intensely perceptive natures, is the best basis for love or friendship. Observe, I am talking about minds. I won't say the more intellect, the less capacity for loving; for that would do wrong to the understanding and reason; but, on the other hand, that the brain often runs away with the heart's best blood, which gives the world a few pages of wisdom or poetry, instead of making one other heart happy. I have no question.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Funny Ambitions

The question in an English periodical, "What would you like to be?" brought out many clever and amusing answers. Here are a few of them:

The sun, because it is always sure of a rise.

The letter "I," for then I should always be in the midst of comfort.

A shoeblack, because I should be continually shining before my fellows.

A man of forty with the ideals of twenty and the judgment of sixty, to make life worth living.

A billiard ball, frequently kissed, carefully nursed when necessary, and not out of pocket even when in a hole.—Boston Transcript.

Well Founded

In the days of the old Cripple Creek a mining camp judge, upon finding the bad citizen of the camp hanging by the neck from a cottonwood, with his hands tied behind him, a six-gun in one hip pocket and $25.10 in the other, reached this decision:

"If the cot know itself, and the cot think it do, it allow this hyar man came to death from some unknown causes at the hands of persons unknown to this cot, and the cot fines the corpse $25.10 for carrying concealed weapons."—Everybody's Magazine.

Tibetan Church Music

Charmed Sven Hedin

Dr. Sven Hedin, the Swedish explorer, who was the first white man to penetrate into the interior of Tibet, has excited the curiosity of musicians by his extravagant praise of the church music of that mysterious country. He claims that he has visited no fewer than 31 temples in the land of the Grand Lama, and that he found the music of the "temple service" to be so beautiful that he was spiritually transported by it to regions supernatural. He writes: "All through Tibet the life of these monks has appealed to me and filled me with delight beyond anything I can say. The most delightful thing in all Tibet is the church music. Fresh young voices, softened by thick, dark draperies along the front of an open gallery, pour forth their wonderful hymns, full of peace and love and longing. Between whistles you hear the rumble of thunder of the bassoons and the rhythmic clash of the cymbals; then the flutes with their shrill melodies and the rolling drums, which echo through the high halls of the temples. But the singing is by far the most beautiful; it carries one up and away from the troubles of this earth."—Pierre Van Paassen, in the Atlanta Constitution.

Long List of Injuries

Result of Accidents

Examples of disease resulting from particular accidental conditions most frequently found in the experiences of the compensation commission are accidents to the head or spine resulting in epilepsy, nervous or mental disease, or insanity; serious fracture or shock resulting in traumatic pneumonia; severe trauma or severe burns or extreme exposure to cold and wet, resulting in nephritis; injuries to the eye resulting in cataract, detachment of the retina, optic atrophy, and numerous other diseases of the eye; sprain or fracture or dislocation or blow resulting in arthritis, bursitis, cellulitis, synovitis, periostitis, osteomyelitis, or tuberculosis of the bones; serious injury to the chest, with traumatic pneumonia; injury with tuberculosis of a bone or joint; injury with severe infection, or severe injury from inhalation of gas resulting in tuberculosis of the lungs.

The Man Who Builds

No man ever builds anything which doesn't first bear a castle in the air—which is old stuff, of course, but no one ever builds a castle in the air save the optimists—which is a sapient amendment. Just think that over. No man ever gets anywhere, whether it be selling strawberries or building empires or peddling ice cream, unless he possesses that unconquerable mastery of his own moods, that buoyant, sanguine assurance which makes him keep on believing that better things lie ahead.

A famous New England merchant once said: "Almost every man knows the things that must be done to get along in the world. Those who don't get along are the ones who refuse to do the things they know so well."—William E. Telling, in the American Magazine.

History of Locks

The history of civilization could be written from a study of its locks and keys, for since the barred gate of Eden problems of inclusion and exclusion have concerned mankind. Egyptians and Greeks were adepts at lock-making; the Spartans wrought an improvement of which the description is lost. It is a historic fact that the downfall of the Roman empire gave a marked impetus to the manufacture of wards and bolts, for Rome had policed the world and thieves were encouraged by the disappearance of strong-armed authority which they had feared. It is singular, in view of the prevalence of padlocks in official employment today, that the derivation of the first syllable of the name is uncertain. Webster says that it may have meant a basket or pannier.

Legion of Honor Origin

The Legion or Honor, the famous French order, was instituted by Napoleon Bonaparte when he was first consul, May 19, 1802. Although this order confers honors upon distinguished civil servants of the state and eminent benefactors of humanity, it is provided that three-fifths of all the medals awarded must go to the officers and men of the army and navy. During the World War thousands of the medals of the legion were awarded to soldiers and public servants. There are now five classes, the Grand cross being the highest.

Many American and British citizens received the medal of the Legion of Honor, and immediately after the war it was also conferred upon the military leaders of the allies of France.

Builders' Device

The principle of the entasis, which is a swelling or outward curve of the profile of the shaft of a column or pillar, is utilized to avoid appearance of concavity in its middle portion. In the finest examples of Greek Doric the swelling is a little below the middle point of the shaft, but never so great as to interfere with the steady diminution of the shaft from the base upward. The entasis is designed partly to counteract the optical illusion which would cause the profiles of the shaft to appear curved inward if they were bounded by straight lines. The entasis is almost invariably introduced in the spires of English churches.

Easy Lessons in AUCTION BRIDGE

What are the odds against a player holding a hand at bridge containing thirteen cards of one suit? According to the mathematicians, about 600 billion different hands may be dealt at bridge and as there are four possible "perfect" hands, one of each of the odds are just four out of 600 billion. In other words, a player has one chance in 150 billion hands to hold thirteen trumps. Dr. F. L. Jenner, of the Quadrangle Club of Chicago, is reported to have held thirteen hearts and to have bid "seven hearts." This fact is remarkable in itself but the report adds that another member of the club, a professor of Chicago University, held a similar hand in clubs about four months ago. If these cases are authentic, they should be of great interest to all card players. It is very rare indeed to hold more than nine trumps. In fact, the writer has never heard of a player holding more than eleven trumps until the Chicago incidents.

It's really surprising how often games are lost by the failure to make the simplest kind of bids or plays. The writer was watching some very fair players the other night and in the first six deals, four games were lost; three by bad bidding and one by bad play. If that average were kept up for an evening's play it would mean that only one hand out of three is played or bid correctly. One of the greatest players in the country is authority for the proposition that four out of every five rubbers are "chucked," that is, lost by bad bidding or play; and the writer is inclined to agree with him. If you doubt the statement, keep a record of bids or plays that lose game and rubbers and you will be surprised how they mount up. Here are the four hands mentioned:

Hearts—A, K, 7, 6, 2
Clubs—A, J, 10, 7
Diamonds—A, 4
Spades—9, 5

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one no-trump and A passed. What would you bid with Y's hand? A should bid two hearts. It is an excellent example of a justifiable take-out, one that is practically a sure game in hearts but problematical in no-trumps. As a matter of fact, four odd could be made in hearts and only one odd in no-trump; quite a difference.

Hand No. 2
Hearts—10, 6
Clubs—A, J, 8
Diamonds—K, Q, 8, 7, 4
Spades—A, J, 7

Hand No. 3
Hearts—A, K, 7, 4
Clubs—9, 8, 4, 3
Diamonds—J, 7
Spades—Q, 8, 5

It is a fine example of the value of the information double.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

As you have motored about the State this Summer you possibly observed that the billboards in all their ugliness are still with you. Maybe you said to yourself, "Let's see, wasn't there a law passed to do away with billboards?" I know the thought came to my mind and I resolved to find out the situation. I don't mind letting my friends in on the ground floor for they, I feel sure, are just as puzzled as I was until I completed an investigation.

The 1924 Legislature passed an act authorizing the State Department of Public Works to make such rules and regulations governing outdoor advertising as it saw fit. Authority was later given municipalities to make local regulations. It looked as if something were to be done.

As far as that goes something was done. The State Department of Public Works, after numerous hearings, decided upon rules and regulations. Some people thought they should be more stringent. Billboard and outdoor advertising companies, however, set up a roar of protest. Twelve bills in equity were filed with the Supreme Court by billboard companies, to prevent the enforcement of the State Department's regulations on the ground they were "involved and unconstitutional."

Later these bills were combined in a single suit against the State Department to prevent the enforcement of the regulations. This suit, together with another against the Selectmen of Concord to prevent enforcement of that town's billboard regulations, were put before a master to "hear the evidence and find the facts."

The master, Frank H. Stewart, began hearings last month and after two weeks adjourned further hearings until October. When he has completed his hearings and made his report to the Supreme Court there will be begun arguments of the State and town of Concord attorneys and those acting for the billboard companies. Then the Supreme Court will eventually make its decision.

If you have wondered why the billboards are still there you have now the answer.

There are gates and gates. "By the old garden gate" is a phrase suggestive of poetic thought and one that has been used for many, many years in verse and prose. Then there are the gates found in the photographs of Wallace Nutting, who has won fame by reproducing the old and picturesque houses and estates in the country. Another gate is that of which the songster asks, "Will you wait, wait, wait by the old red gate, will you wait till the cows come home?" I would tell of another gate—one of prosaic setting and as far as I know possessing no glamour of romance. Rather, it is the source of delay and annoyance. I refer to the gate in a large business or law office. It is usually placed just inside the main door. Near it sits a telephone operator or minor employee or maybe an office boy.

The visitor enters. "Is Mr. Blank in?" he asks.

The operator replies, "I'll see. What is the name?"

You give your name and the operator calls Mr. Blank. "He'll see you in a moment," she tells you—that is if you are lucky.

When the time comes for your "Go right in—second door on your left," you start to open the gate. Just where is the lock concealed? You fumble with one hand and then with both; you pause, embarrassed, and then you exert the pressure of your knee and still the gate does not open. The operator or clerk, who has been watching you with an amused smile, comes to your rescue. By this time you have found the evasive lock, often underneath the upper bar, and the next thing you know you have bumped into the operator or clerk. As the gate strikes the latter she gives you a dirty look as much as to say, "No gentleman would do that."

Well, at any rate you have entered. Then comes your interview. Instead of keeping your mind on the details of the matter under discussion you are constantly thinking, "How did I open that gate and how shall I get out again?"

Just why the purpose of these office gates is not clear to those who have occasion to use them only once in a blue moon. If it is to worry the visitor and afford diversion for the office employees it may be said to be a great success.

It is pretty well understood by the general public that there is to be a compulsory automobile liability insurance law in this State beginning the first of next year. Most everybody seems to approve and is willing to agree that the early administration of the law may reveal defects, but that a fair trial should be given before amendments are sought.

All this serves as a reminder that horse-drawn vehicles are still free to go about without any marks of identification whatever. It may seem idle to suggest that the possibility of a horse and wagon becoming involved in a fatal accident is much more remote, but who will say that such things are not likely to happen even if infrequently?

In cities vehicles drawn by horses are for the most part labelled with the name of the owner. Yet there are those which are not, while in the country districts few wagons bear the owner's name. These differ in no respect from automobiles, since they are operated on the public ways, and yet if their owner is without funds or possesses no financial responsibility he cannot pay damages although the court may order him so to do.

For years unsuccessful efforts have been made through the Legislature to compel owners of horse-drawn vehicles to have their names on the sides of the wagon. This seems a small thing in view of what is now required of automobile owners. Why not put all the same class for the protection of the general public? In other words, why the discrimination?

Certain readers of this column have insisted that some of my criticism of those who fail to interest themselves in things political has been too severe. They say that many voters are disgusted with political methods and take this way of showing resentment. I am prepared to admit that the way a few politicians carry on is enough to provoke righteous indignation, but I believe that it is the same in this as in other matters, a small number can fix a bad name on an entire body of individuals.

Politicians are not all the same, however, and yet a candidate who has every requirement and who would make an ideal office holder may find himself compelled to do things much against his own wishes. Why is he thus forced to resort to spectacular or cheap methods? Because the other fellow has found that by using such tactics he can gain advantage. This puts the decent candidate in the place of sitting tight and letting things go by default or getting into the game and "pulling the rough stuff" as the saying goes.

The exhibition under such conditions is likely to be distasteful to the clean-minded voter and he is likely to get the notion that all candidates are no better than they should be.

If one has ever had to do with the campaign of a man seeking public office one knows that there are many things to be done which are both necessary and legitimate. A candidate must, of course, make known his intentions. Public announcement is the only way he may expect to arouse the interest of voters. There are dignified ways of doing this and there are undignified ways. It is doubtless the latter that are open to criticism.

Instead of admitting that the average voter has reason to be "disgusted" I am inclined to believe it is more than ever his duty to look into the campaign procedure. If he does so he can readily determine the candidate he favors by watching the individual in his efforts to obtain public support. If the latter's appeal is straight-forward, if his meetings, statements, etc., are those of a serious-minded candidate whose desire is only to serve the cause of his constituents, that is the man to be voted for above all others.

The voters of Newton are not forced to endure the spectacle—at least not at their very doors—of a scramble for nomination. Larger cities cannot escape, and my hope is that as Newton grows it will not find aspirants for political office adopting Boston methods.

Next Tuesday is the day of State party primaries and if there are voters who happen to read this and whose minds are not made up I urge them to consider gravely the possibility of every citizen—to vote at the primaries and to support by their ballots men who are not perpetual office-seekers and who would spend their days holding down a comfortable and congenial position of public trust, but to determine the men best qualified and see to it as far as they are able that such are nominated and elected.

When Susie wears her bathing suit, I must admit she's awful cute. I wonder, though, how long she'd take to swim the length of Crystal Lake.

TO SELL PAPERS

We wondered as we watched the metropolitan newspapers at the time of the death of Valentino what they would do if something of real consequence should happen. They gave page after page of space to every incident in connection with this movie actor's passing. Every little, inconsequential detail of his illness, of his life, of his numerous love affairs, of his activities in the screen world, everything that could possibly be scraped together and that had any possible connection with Valentino, was printed and much of it as front page stories.

The Chicago Tribune, along with other metropolitan papers, not only carried all the text that it was possible to scrape up, but pages of pictures as well. All of this was done not because the passing of Valentino was of importance to the world, but because the carrying of it would sell newspapers. It was a business office policy.

The Tribune explained editorially that the space was given to the death of Valentino because millions would read of the death of Doctor Eliot, to whose passing at the same time was given about one column. The Tribune evidently thought of the circulation manager more than it thought of the constructive influence of the paper. It catered to the mass for circulation purposes. In this the Tribune was in no sense alone; it was but one in a class of the metropolitan dailies generally.

The metropolitan newspapers can and do have an influence, a powerful one, in American life. They can do much to make us a cultured, thinking, refined people, or they can do much toward making us a nation of jazz seekers. The jazz element provides the thrills, and newspapers of this class are looking for thrills with which to sell more papers to the thrill-seeking class. Valentino represented an element of jazz, the sex appeal, in American life, and Doctor Eliot represented the culture and refinements, the things really worth while.

Thank God that all America is not metropolitan cities, and that all newspapers are not metropolitan dailies! —Publishers' Auxiliary.

BILLBOARDS

District Attorney Arthur K. Reading, candidate for the Republican nomination for Attorney General, addressed the members of the Chair City Club at Gardner, Tuesday noon. Mr. Reading said in part:

"One of the great issues in this campaign, which has not yet received public attention, is the attitude of the billboard interests who are fighting desperately to nullify the regulation of billboard advertising in Massachusetts."

"The great majority of the billboards in Massachusetts now stand in defiance of the law. Combined billboard companies of the United States, through able attorneys backed by ample financial resources, are now attacking the law in our Supreme Judicial Court, and have applied for injunctions restricting the Department of Public Works from enforcing the state regulations for billboards."

"As I have traveled about the state I have been amazed to see Adlow's name advertised from hundreds of glaring billboards. Mr. Adlow will have some difficulty in explaining to the voters of Massachusetts how he can afford this expensive billboard advertising and also how it happens that his principal endorser, of whose support he boasts, is George L. Mayberry, senior counsel for the billboard interests in their case, involving millions of dollars, against the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, which it will be the duty of the attorney general to defend."

"The long struggle by the people of Massachusetts to save the landscape from billboard blight, has reached a crisis. The victory thus far achieved should not be jeopardized. It would be unfortunate to commit the upholding of any law to a man not in sympathy with it or obligated in any way to the interests opposing it."

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

County Commissioner Nathaniel I. Bowditch is a candidate to succeed himself at the Republican primaries, September 14, next and is being supported by his fellow Commissioners, Chairman Erson B. Barlow of Lowell and Commissioner Walter C. Wardwell of Cambridge as well as the present county officials.

Commissioner Bowditch is one of the best known men in Middlesex County, having for the past 29 years been elected Trustee of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and for the past dozen years President of the Middlesex County Extension Service, the latter organization being nationally known for its having placed the school youth of Middlesex County, among the front ranks of the country in club and home gardening work.

In his home town of Framingham, Commissioner Bowditch has held the office of Chairman of the Park Commission for the past 21 years and has been continuously elected tree warden as well. With his years of experience in the practical affairs of Middlesex County, Commissioner Bowditch is being supported by the leading Republican organizations of men and women in the county for nomination and election.

COMMUNITY THEATRE

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday—"Into Her Kingdom"—Corinne Griffith at her best in a melodrama of Russia in pre-war days as well as under the Soviet rule.

Jack Blystone one of the most popular directors, welded the megaphone for "Hard Billed," film version of Shannon Fife's thrilling story of the open spaces in which Tom Mix is starred.

Thursday, Friday, Saturday—"Lew Tyler's Wives," Wallace Irwin's popular, book, now a great picture with strong appeal.

William Wellman, youthful director who wielded the megaphone on "The Cat's Pajamas," starring Betty Bronson, Ricardo Cortez and Theodore Roberts, is well known to Newton people, having lived here for many years. He will be remembered as an American aviator during the war, who has many enemy planes to his credit. This, his latest picture, is a gay, swift comedy complete with heart gripping romance.

her husband as he came in from business, mopping a heated brow, "I think you waste a terrible amount of money."

Roberts spun around and regarded his wife with a look of deepest suspicion, while a gleam came into his eyes.

"I waste money, my dear?" he questioned. "Why, I have never wasted a cent in my life!"

"Oh, yes, you have," answered his wife, while all the time Roberts' brow grew blacker. "That encyclopedia you bought on the installment plan last month is no good at all."

"Oh, that!" laughed the husband, as his frowns vanished. "Well, what's wrong with it?"

"I'll tell you," came his wife's confiding reply. "This morning I wanted to find out why it rains when there's a new moon."

"Oh, and where did you look for that?" asked Roberts, a smile hovering round his mouth.

"I looked under 'Why,' of course, and I didn't even find the word there at all!"

Teal Duck Swiftest

of All Flying Things

An old controversy hangs around the subject of the fastest bird. The prize used to belong, at least in the opinion of sportsmen, to that little and most typical duck, the teal. So far as I have been able to collate the evidence and compare it with personal experience, the very fastest birds belong to the classes which come between the gulls and ducks.

The peregrine falcons and some of the swifts compete for the head of the list; and it is worth notice that the swifts, which people in general class with the swallow tribe, thanks to several real and obvious likenesses, are put by the classifiers as cousins of the hawks. However this may be,
it remains that the ducks attain a dazzling speed and can defy the winds better than any bird that flies, though their momentum exaggerates their difficulty in changing direction.

But so much depends on the engine that when it is in the least out of gear, when it is not tuned up, as happens at the early moult, they cannot fly at all; they become into the state of their primeval ancestor.—Sir W. Beach Thomas in the Atlantic Monthly.

Wrong Kind of Cushion

A camel has its limit of endurance as the old saw concerning the ultimate straw and the broken back will testify. Mrs. North also had her limit, which was finally reached when an argument, about which little could be understood, continued with unabated fury for two hours in the Smith household next door.

Calling to Willie Smith, who was playing in the back yard, Mrs. North asked the seven-year-old shining light of the warring Smiths:

"What is all the row about, Willie?"

"Oh, mamma put her cushion on daddy's chair and he sat down on it," replied the small lad.

"Why, that is no cause for such an argument, is it?"

"Sure it is! It was mamma's pin cushion!"

Insect Furnishes Shellac

Shellac is a modified form of lac, which is a resinous substance formed by an insect as a coating on the twigs and young branches of various trees in India and neighboring countries.

The term "lac" is the same as the Indian numeral meaning 100,000, and is indicative of the myriads of insects which make their appearance with every successive generation. Lac encasing the twigs as gathered is called stick lac; the resin crushed to small fragments and washed in hot water to free it from woody particles and coloring matter is known as seed lac or grain lac, and this, when melted, strained through thick canvas and spread out into thin layers, is known as shellac.

Sugar From Linen

There is now in Germany a manufactory which turns out daily 1,000 pounds of pure white sugar made from old linen. An understanding of the process helps somewhat to dispel the unpleasant feeling we experience on hearing of the fact. Clean old linen is vegetable fibrin, and when treated with sulphuric acid, it is converted into dextrin. This is washed with lime water, then treated with more acid, and it changes almost immediately, and crystallizes into glucose or grape-sugar, which is so highly valued in the making of rich preserves and jellies. The process is said to be economical, and the sugar is found to be chemically the same as the grape.

Mutuality

It was but this present morning, as he rode on the omnibus from Richmond; while it changed horses, this present chronicler, being on the roof, marked three little children playing in a puddle below, very dirty, and friendly, and happy. To these three presently came another little one.

"Polly," says she, "your sister's got a penny." At which the children got up from the puddle instantly, and ran off to pay their count to Peggy. And as the omnibus drove off I saw Peggy with the infantine procession at her tail, marching with great dignity toward the stall of a neighboring loll-pop woman.—Thackeray, "Vanity Fair."

American Planned to Save Ill-Fated Queen

The facts upon which are based the story that Marie Antoinette was to have been brought to this country by Stephen Clough seem to be these:

The mayor of Wiscasset, Maine, says: "The only basis that I have found for the report or legend that a plan existed to bring Queen Marie Antoinette to Wiscasset is that the ship Sally of this port, Stephen Clough, master, brought from France certain articles of furniture, etc., supposedly from a palace there which had been occupied by her. The bulk of the goods went to the possession of Col. James Swan of Boston, as will be seen by an article upon that family published in the Boston Transcript about seventy-five years ago, being one of a series of articles by Mr. Bowditch, which articles were known as 'Gleaner' articles ('Gleaner' being the signature to them), the articles being afterward reprinted by the Boston record commissioners in a volume of their reports, which report I do not remember and have not the set before me. It has seemed to me that the legend about the queen naturally grew out of the fact which I have referred to."

Legend Avers Birds Obeyed Monk's Behest

In a chapel in the grounds of the Franciscan monastery at Washington is an almost life-sized statue of the founder of the order, St. Francis d'Assisi. The statue reveals St. Francis sitting on the stump of a tree. A falcon perches on a branch beside him.

By every lover of nature the name of St. Francis d'Assisi, says Nature Magazine, must always be revered. The chronicles of his communing with nature are many. Arriving at a castle where he intended to speak, great flocks of swallows nesting in the battlements and crannies of the building kept up such an incessant chattering that it was impossible for him to be heard. St. Francis turned to his feathered friends and asked that he might have silence in order to deliver a great message with which he was charged. The compliance was instant, we are told, and the impression of their obedience added increased weight to the sermon which followed.

Waterproofing Paper

The most important thing in the making of waterproof paper is the proper choice of the sheet. The toughest papers are now made from jute and also from wood, the kraft or sulphate pulping process being used for the latter. The wood or other raw material must be long fibered and tough to start with. Waterproofing is accomplished by the use of sizing agents, such as resin, water glass or waxes and paraffin. One type of water and grease-proof paper is made by immersing sheets of paper made from sulphite pulp in strong sulphuric acid solutions. The action of the acids tends to harden the fibers and render them transparent as well as resistant to moisture and grease. The strength, however, is not increased by this process.

Smart

Freddie was sobbing bitterly in the road, and the kind-hearted old gentleman stopped to ascertain the cause of the trouble.

"What's the matter, my little man?" he asked.

"I've—I've lost my new ball," sobbed the youngster, "and I've no money to get another!"

"Never mind," said the old gentleman; "here's a shilling to go and buy a new one." And out came a bright coin which Freddie promptly pocketed.

"Where did you lose your ball, sonny?" he inquired, as an after-thought.

"It went through our dining-room window!" said Freddie, as he disappeared round the corner.

Treating Glass Stoppers.

After a bottle of glue has been opened rub a little fat or oil around a sound cork before inserting it in the bottle, and the cork will pull out quite easily. Glass stoppers should be treated in the same manner.

Find New Wood for Pulp.

Australian experimenters have found that satisfactory paper pulp can be made from the wood of several native trees when mixed with other fibrous materials.

Revised His Opinion After Fall of Apple

Two Arabian men were visiting on a farm and they sat under a high apple tree.

One of them was complimenting the Creator on His wisdom and the other was criticizing the Almighty because he thought that God did not create things in a balanced manner. And so he said to his friend to convince him of his side of the argument: "Look up here at this large and high apple tree and it only produces a small fruit and over there is a tiny watermelon seed which produces a large fruit that weighs ten or twenty pounds. Now I should think if things are created in a just, equal and harmonious manner then the big tree will produce a large fruit and a small seed or plant will produce a small fruit, but instead it is the reverse and things are unbalanced in the human family, in the animal family and the vegetable family as well."

While he was talking thus, an apple fell from the high tree and hit him on his nose.

He realized his mistake immediately and with eyes raised upward he said, "I thank God that it was an apple and not a watermelon, which might have smashed my nose."—Complete Novel Magazine.

Odd Mixture of Races Found in Madagascar

The peoples of Madagascar have long furnished a fascinating mystery for ethnologists and archeologists, says the Detroit News. They are of extremely mixed cultures, inclusive of three apparently main elements—Bantu negroes from Africa; the Hovas of Malay stock, and a fringe of Arabs all along the coasts, the descendants of the Fatimite caliphs, who were driven out of Arabia and Egypt in the Eighth century.

These three elements are subdivided into fifteen or more main tribes, which in turn are divided again into smaller partially distinctive groups. There are also hints of a pygmy element among the populations.

Madagascar, incidentally, is the only spot in the world where lemurs, believed by evolutionists to be the parent stock of both monkey and man, are still numerous.

Why "Grass Widow?"

Authorities have never definitely been able to trace the origin of the term "grass widow." It is to be found in many languages. Some believe that it is a corrupted form of "grace widow"—that is "widow by the grace of circumstances." There are no facts to substantiate this belief, however. According to Doctor Brewer, the modern use of the term seems to have originated among Anglo-Indians, about the middle of the Nineteenth century, from the practice of European husbands sending wives to the hills during the hot season in India. In this section the grass is plentiful. Another suggestion is that it arose in America during the gold rush in California. A man not infrequently put his wife and children to board while he went to the diggings. This he called "putting his wife to grass," as a horse is put to grass when not in use for work.

Joke Had Rebound

A Rockland girl was entertaining her beau, a policeman from a neighboring town, and the maid's young brother thought he would like to put on the handcuffs the caller carried in his pocket.

The genial copper was willing to oblige and the wristlets were fastened on the youngster, who was confident he could get them off without any aid. But they were obstinate, and finally the courting cop was asked to unlock them. Then the officer began to get chills and fever. A hunt of one pocket after another failed to locate the key.

As a last resort the flustered officer of the law was obliged to bundle up little brother and carry him to the home in another town where the key had been left. All that occupied quite a lot of time and that Sunday evening was practically wasted for the kid's sister.—Brockton Enterprise.

Paul Revere a Silversmith

Paul Revere of Revolutionary fame was a silversmith, his work being exhibited in the Boston museum in 1903.

See Peculiar Charm in Oriental Streets

It is really quite impossible to draw a comparison between our wide and spacious avenues and boulevards and the crowded, smelly bazaar streets of the Orient, Pierre Van O'Paassen asserts in the Atlanta Constitution. They are built and run on entirely different standards. There may be grace, majesty and beauty in a noble, poplar-lined thoroughfare, yet tourists go to the end of the world to see a scene as Ben Shazar describes: "I entered a long stone passage, lined with shops, more a flight of steps than a street. I moved through the bowels of a great market lit with occasional shafts of the sun which dropped through manholes in the overhead vaulting. . . . It was bound together with stone arches. It was hung with draper's goods, dead sheep, shoes and kerchiefs. It was thronged with an unwashed multitude, their heads bobbing up from the lower depths as they climbed the grade, turbaned heads, skullcapped heads, fuzzy-haired heads, wimpled heads, tarbooshed heads, calpakped heads, derby-crowned heads, nose-and-earringed heads. It choked with noise. It brayed with asses and tinkled with camels. It danced with gesticulation."

Found Compensation for Her Affliction

A clergyman called on an old lady who had been bedridden for some years.

"Well, Mrs. Davies," he said, "and how are you today?"

"Oh, I'm pretty well, thank you," was the cheerful answer.

"Ah, that's right," said the clergyman, sympathetically. "I hardly expected to find you in such good spirits, considering your affliction. I was afraid I should find you downhearted."

"No, no, sir," she cried, interrupting him. "No, no, indeed, sir, I've much to be thankful for. Why, only the other night, when that house just opposite was on fire, I couldn't help thinking of all the poor people crushing each other in the street, and many of them not getting a sight of the fire at all, while here was I, all nice and comfortable in bed, and I could see it beautifully through my window without even turning over! Oh, no, I've a lot to be thankful for."—London Tit-Bits.

Whence Cocoa Comes

The cocoa plant is now grown in many districts of the tropical belt, and its consumption, in one form or another, has increased all over the world. It is an evergreen, and is equal in size to a well-grown apple tree. The pods, about eight inches long, grow out of the trunk, and are red, yellow, black and purple, according to the season. There are twenty or thirty pale red beans inside each pod, embedded in a soft white pulp. Cocoa groves are never planted solely with cocoa trees. Although it grows best in hot countries, it is delicate, and has to be protected from the sun, and for this purpose forest trees are planted in the groves. Some of these grow to a great height and have a tufted head like a natural sunshade. These protecting trees are called "Cacao Madre," or cocoa-mother.

Squirrel's "L"

A telephone wire might be termed a public highway, but rather a highway of speech than one for transportation.

However, this fact does not seem to be generally known, at least not among our animal friends. From Wilmington, Del., comes the story of a squirrel that travels a mile every day by telephone wire for its meals, crawling all the distance along the wires. William Krause, a grocer, some little time ago coaxed the squirrel down from a telephone pole by offering it nuts, and since then the squirrel has made its appearance every day. Out of curiosity, Krause followed it one morning and found that its nest was in the woods fully a mile distant.—Telephone Service Bulletin.

O, Ye of Little Faith!

Science destroys old poetic ideas, but supplants them with a more imaginative new poetry. It has given us a global world spinning on an axis and revolving about a sun which is rushing through space at more than 12 miles a second. For a sky that was a roof, it has given us a great sea of ether extending to infinity, in which the stars are not lamps but great glowing suns, some of them a hundred million times the size of our sun. And our own little earth is shown by science to be full of magical chemical and biological processes. In truth the wonders already made known to man warrant him in believing many things that are quite as wonderful as eternal life.—Capper's Weekly.

No Place for a Lady

At a small country station a freight train pulled in and sidetracked for the passenger train. The passenger arrived and pulled out; then the freight started to do its switching. A placid, well-dressed woman had alighted from the passenger train and was passing close to one of the freight brakemen when he yelled to his buddy:

"Jump on her when she comes by, Bill, run her down by the elevator, cut her in two and bring the head end up by the depot!"

The lady picked up her skirts and ran for the station yelling murder at every jump.—Everybody's Magazine.

CROUSE-TAFFE

At a nuptial Mass celebrated at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton at nine o'clock on Monday morning, September sixth, Miss Mary Alice Taffe, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Taffe, was married to Mr. Arthur Hill Crouse of Elm avenue, Waltham. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Dwyer, pastor of the church.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Gertrude Taffe of West Newton and the best man was Mr. Roland Crouse of Waltham, brother of the groom. The ushers were Mr. Arthur Leo Taffe of Wellesley and Mr. Thomas Kelley of Waltham.

The gown worn by the bride was of white satin and shadow lace and her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. Her bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore a dress of peach color georgette with hat to match, and her slippers and stockings were of silver color. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The church was decorated with gladioli. Miss Esther Costello, organist, played the wedding music and Mr. John Joyce was the soloist.

A reception was held following the ceremony until eight o'clock in the evening at the home of the bride's brother on Albermarle road, West Newton. The couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Taffe. The home was tastefully decorated in a pink and white color scheme and with gladioli and ferns. Guests were present from Jersey City, N. J., Onset, Brockton and Boston.

After a wedding trip touring the South Mr. and Mrs. Crouse will reside on Crescent street, Waltham, where they will be at home after October first.

The bride is a graduate of the Newton High School.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Representatives from the seven wards of Newton attended a dinner last night to start the fall work of the Newton Hospital Campaign Fund. Nearly two score were present when Chairman Edward J. Frost called the meeting to order. The fund now stands at $1,073,000. While no effort will be made to reassemble the entire unavailing organization of 600 who met nightly in the armory during the latter part of May and who were successful in turning in over 6,700 pledges, the campaign will be continued until the full $1,500,000 is raised.

The campaign this fall is to be carried on by an enlarged Special Gifts Committee. To the original Special Gifts Committee have been added the Ward Chairmen, the Chairman of the Women's division and a few selected canvassers.

These workers will meet weekly at one of the Newton Clubs. The plan followed last night was to draw up a new list of special gifts prospects. The prospective donors, in some cases, are new arrivals in Newton. Other prospects who will be solicited are those who made subscriptions and who may be induced to increase their pledges if given a longer period of payment. Apparently the stimulation of the most successful campaign ever conducted in the Newtons carried the workers' enthusiasm over the summer, for last night's gathering showed every evidence that the workers would stick to the end until the full $1,500,000 has been raised.

Following are the men and women who will lead the fall campaign: Dr. Guy M. Winslow, Mr. Frank A. (Continued on Page 8)

ABOUT TOWN

While the water-main on Walnut street was being cleaned the other night, two residents of this city received a bath. The work was being impeded by the collection of loosened rust and silt in the main so the hydrant at the corner of Walnut street and Kirkstall road was opened to allow some of the matter to work out. A mighty stream gushed across Walnut street as an auto containing Charles Fagan and Walter King attempted to pass. It stalled the car and gave the two occupants in it a drenching with dirty water that was more enjoyed by the onlookers than by the twin taking the unexpected "shower."

The machine for reaming the 10 inch water mains is lost in transit somewhere between New Jersey and Boston. Pending its recovery the work of cleaning these mains must be delayed.

Alderman Ball told his fellow members of the Board that the results obtained from cleaning out the 20 inch water main were so satisfactory, that his committee had at once decided to have the same process performed on the 16 inch, 12 inch, and some of the 10 inch mains. After the 20 inch main had been cleaned, the pressure necessary to pump the water from the station at Upper Falls to the reservoir at Waban Hill, was lowered from 115 or 120 pounds to 90 pounds. This means that not only will be a considerable saving of coal be made, but much more water will be supplied.

LIGHT VOTE CAST AT PRIMARY

Thirteen Per Cent of Registration Gives Reading a Substantial Vote. Hollis, Luitweiler, Saltonstall, and Thompson Win Representative Nominations

The state primary on Tuesday attracted but little attention from the voters of Newton, only 2693 ballots being cast out of a registration of 20,164, a little over 13 per cent. Of this number, 2511 were Republicans and but 182 Democrats.

Mr. Reading, for attorney general on the Republican side swept the city with a vote of 1589, to 465 for Lincoln and 288 for Adlow. For Councillor, Brimblecom led the field with 1022 votes, Mrs. Andrews polling 421, Burrill 318 and Smith 521. For Representatives in the new Fourth District, Representative Hollis led with 979. Thompson winning second place with 635, Boyd last with 575. Jordan for Register of Probate had 1200 votes with his two competitors Andrew polling 475 and Wood 411. Bowditch for County Commissioner had 1864, McBride having 94 and Peck 85.

The Democrats had two contests, one for Lieutenant governor, Dooley polling 63 and Ely 51 votes. The other was for attorney general, Swift receiving 76 and William 75.

The vote was so light that the returns came in early, Newton Highlands coming in last about nine o'clock.

POLITICAL NOTES

Hon. Charles S. Smith of Lincoln won the Republican nomination in the third councillor district on Tuesday with a vote of $540. Mrs. Andrews of Brookline was second with 4686, Mr. Charles L. Burrill was third with 4067 and J. C. Brimblecom was last with 2135. Two small towns in this district are missing from this tabulation.

Mr. Loring P. Jordan was an easy winner in the contest for the Republican nomination for Register of Probate. Mr. Nathaniel Bowditch won the Republican nomination for County Commissioner, to fill a vacancy.

NICKERSON-GRAHAM

The wedding of Miss Laura Helen Graham of Willard street, Newton, and Mr. Ivan Leslie Nickerson of West Newton, took place Wednesday evening at Waltham, at the home of the bride's brother, where the ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by the Rev. Irad Hardy.

The bride was gown in ivory georgette trimmed with brilliants and pearls and wore the conventional veil with orange blossoms. Miss Mary Nickerson, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid, and was in changeable taffeta, in orchid and gold.

Mr. Ralph Graham, brother of the bride, was the best man, and another brother, Mr. Charles Graham was an usher, with Mr. Frederick Goulding.

The Misses Eileen and Freda Graham, nieces of the bride, were flower girls.

The ceremony took place under an arch trimmed with pink and white and the wedding march was played by Miss Evelyn Pratt.

Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson will reside at 97 Francis street, Waltham.

M. C. O. F.

Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F., held its regular meeting Tuesday night and nominated officers for the coming year. The Court will hold a two day bazaar next month.

ALDERMEN MEET

The aldermen held a regular meeting Monday night. Seventeen members were present, the absentees being President Pratt, Favinger, Fitts and Hinckley. Vice-President Madden called the Board to order at 8 P. M. There was but a small attendance of citizens, the only matter on the docket that caused any appreciable opposition being the petition of the Edison Company for a permit to erect three poles on Church street, between Oakland street and Maple avenue. The representative of the Edison Company stated that these poles are needed to supply current to street lights.

John W. Fisher of 211 Church street opposed the petition, speaking for himself and all the property owners on both sides of Church street, between Maple avenue and Oakland street. Mr. Fisher stated that it does not seem that it is necessary to erect three poles to supply a few street lights. The underground cable of the Edison Company now reaches to within a few feet of the first of the proposed pole locations, and, according to Mr. Fisher, it should be an easy matter to continue this underground cable for the short distance required rather than make the street less attractive by erecting the poles. He remarked that he and the other objectors do not wish to prevent necessary extension of electric service, but that unless it is absolutely necessary, they do not desire the poles to be placed in their neighborhood.

Mrs. Harriet E. Tucker of 233 Church street stated that the Edison Company has been trying for years to obtain permits to erect the poles and that her husband, the late Samuel W. Tucker always opposed such petitions

HARVEST FESTIVAL

The Girl Scouts of Newton Highlands are beginning their fall activities with a Harvest Festival, to be held on the Hyde school grounds, Saturday afternoon from two until seven o'clock. Keenest community interest is being shown in home grown flowers, fruit and vegetables, as one of the features of the festival will be the exhibit for which prizes will be given. An exhibit of model boats will prove interesting to young and old, as all types of boats will be entered. A magician will amaze and delight the audience and a fortune teller will thrill those who desire knowledge of the future. All the attractions of a County Fair will be had.

Hot Virginia ham sandwiches, for which the Newton Highlands Scouts are famous, will be served as part of the appetizing supper. The Newton Girl Scouts' Drums and Bugle corps will furnish music during the afternoon.

Girl Scouts and their friends from all the Newtons will find the festival most interesting and enjoyable.

because the value of surrounding property would be decreased should the poles be erected. On the request of Alderman Madden, the representative of the Edison Company promised to investigate the feasibility of using the underground cable rather than poles, although he gave the opinion that the cost of laying a cable would be too costly.

J. Edward Callanan, who is petitioning for an automobile salesroom and service station at 399 Washington street, emulated the method used by some of the attorneys who appear before the Board.

MOGULS LOST LAST GAME

The Newton Moguls, 17-18 year old championship amateur baseball team of the city of Newton and also of greater Boston were defeated 7 to 6 last Sunday by the Monarchs, champions of the state of Rhode Island. The game was hard fought all through with victory in the grasp of the local nine when the arm of the law stepped in and informed both teams that it was 6 o'clock and further play would be impossible under the state law. The Moguls had men on bases in position to score when the game was called. Each man on the team was given a wonderful reception by the fans as he came to bat.

The Moguls had a successful season with a record of 27 wins and 3 losses, their victims including some of the strongest teams in and around Boston. Most of the local team games were played away from home but it is of interest to know that the management is making up schedules for football and hockey that will keep the team at home for the most part. With the close of the baseball season the Moguls are turning to football and should be represented by one of the strongest teams in greater Boston.

SPORT NOTES

The Newton Town Team was shut out 3 to 0 by the Boston Manufacturing Co. nine of Waltham Sunday afternoon. Johnny Powers of Auburn-dale, pitcher for the St. Mary's high school of Waltham, was on the mound for the home team. Jakey Pass of the Pals twirled for the Newton Town Team with McVarish on the receiving end.

Miss Harriet Ellison and her partner, Raymond Hunt, carried back to the Duxbury Yacht Club the second yachting championship bowl which that club has won in three weeks by taking first honors last Sunday in the mixed doubles sailing event under the auspices of the Nahant Yacht Club at Nahant. It was the first event of its kind ever staged in the State. The trophy, which was given by Samuel G. King, must be won three times for permanent possession. Miss Ellison and her partner were also given silver medals as personal tokens of their victory. Eleven races were sailed with the feature race being the semi-final struggle between the Duxbury pair and the craft representing the Corinthian Yacht Club. Three races were sailed between these two craft with the Duxbury pair capturing the first and third. In all of the three races the opponents won the lead but in the first race Duxbury took the lead in the beat to windward. In the second Corinthian was never headed. The third was the best race of all. Corinthian won the start by a narrow margin and held the lead to the first mark. The next leg was to the windward and Hunt nosed his boat into the lead in the first 100 yards. In the last leg, a reach to the finish, the Marblehead crew came fast and nearly nailed Duxbury at the finish but failed to do so by six seconds. In the finals between Duxbury and Annisquam, Duxbury was handicapped by over half a minute at the start of the first race, due to a misunderstanding of signals but in the beat to windward the Duxbury crew gained the lead and had a margin of 40 seconds at the second mark. The second race was well fought but Hunt gained steadily and won as he pleased.

Dwight C. Shepler of Newtonville is a member of the backfield of the first team squad at Williams College.

CATHOLIC CLUB WINS SECOND HALF

The Newton Catholic Club nine captured the second half title in the Newton Twilight League last Saturday afternoon on the West Newton Common by nosing out the Newton Upper Falls team 4 to 3 in the play-off of a protested game earlier in the season. With the score 3 to 2 against them going into the last of the ninth the home team scored the necessary two runs for a victory.

Farrell started off for the Catholic Club in this frame by drawing a base on balls. He got to second on a sacrifice and scored on Rooney's triple. Rooney scored the winning run on a squeeze play.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

CATHOLIC CLUB WINS OPENER

The "little world's series" of three out of five games for the city championship and for the first leg on the GRAPHIC CUP was opened Wednesday evening on the West Newton Common with the Newton Catholic Club team winners of the first half of the Newton Twilight League and the Newton Catholic Club, winners of the second half, as opponents. The Catholic Club won, 4 to 1, in a game marked by fast play, air tight pitching, and display of real baseball ability and knowledge. O'Connor allowed the visitors but three hits which with the fielding of Rooney and the timely hitting of Lyons and Farrell, featured the game.

The playing field was in fine condition, the groundkeepers having worked on it all day. Mayor Childs, a strong supporter of the league and an ardent fan, was an interested spectator in the center field. The crowd numbered around 3000, every seat in the grandstand being occupied and even standing room at a premium. "Buck" Donahue, league umpire, was the arbiter at the plate and "Rufe" Bond, the Harvard player and assistant playground director, the umpire on bases. Joe O'Connor went to the mound for the Catholic Club and Tom Gilligan was on the receiving end. For the Earnshaw nine Amos Switzer and Howley formed the battery.

First Inning

Sweeney lost off for the Earnshaw and reached first on Hickey's error. Porter attempted to sacrifice him to second but his bunt went directly into Hickey's hands and Sweeney was doubled up off first. Mooney was thrown out by O'Connor. Leary was first man up for the Catholic Club—Casey took his bunt and threw him out. Lyons hit the first ball pitched for a single. Gilligan flied out to short. Farrell singled through second but Switzer bore down and struck Hickey out.

Second Inning

Howley fanned to start the second. Eddie Lyman went down the same way. O'Connor threw out Johnny Lyman. Rooney doubled and scored the first run for the Catholic Club when Switzer fumbled Butler's sharp grounder. Howley nailed Butler stealing second. Casey threw Cronin out at first and O'Connor fanned.

3rd Inning

Casey and Murphy both fell victims to O'Connor's slants in the third. O'Connor flied Switzer's grounder perfectly for the third out. The Catholic Club scored again in this frame. Leary fanned. Lyons made his second hit of the game. Gilligan was hit by a pitched ball. Farrell forced Lyons at third. Gilligan stole third and scored as Howley threw the ball to left field. Farrell, who went all the way to third on the play, was thrown out at the plate when he tried to sneak home when Switzer lost Howley's return throw. J. Lyman, the short stop, made the assist.

Fourth Inning

Sweeney, the Earnshaw captain, got the first hit for his team in the fourth. Porter laid down a pretty sacrifice. Mooney was thrown out on his hit to second which sent Sweeney to third. Howley hit threw the box, scoring Sweeney. Eddie Lyman hit safely but Howley was caught at third on a close decision. The Catholic Club went out one, two, three, Hickey striking out for the second time and Rooney also fanning. Switzer threw out Butler.

Fifth Inning

Butler threw out Johnny Lyman. A. tennis championships will be played tomorrow afternoon on the Newton Y. courts. Boston which won the eastern section last Saturday on its home courts, Newport, R. I., champions of the Narragansett division, Brockton of the southern division and Pittsfield of the Western section will compete starting at 2 o'clock.

Sixth Inning

Rooney made a wonderful running catch of Sweeney's long drive to start the sixth. Gilligan picked up Porter's bunt in front of the plate and got his man. Mooney tried to steal on Gilligan after drawing a free pass, but died. In the last of the sixth Farrell was thrown out by the short stop. Hickey was passed. Rooney doubled for the second time. Butler popped up to short and Cronin struck out with two on.

Seventh Inning

Howley was thrown out by Butler to start the first of the seventh. Eddie Lyman fanned. His brother Johnny was rubbed by Farrell who made a great catch in short centre. The Catholic Club scored two more in their half. O'Connor flied to center. Leary hit to Casey who threw him out after making a pretty stop. Lyons got his third hit of the game. Gilligan followed with a single and the throw to third to catch Lyons was wild, scoring Lyons and letting the Club catcher go to third. Farrell singled to score Gilligan. Switzer turned over his duties to Bob Schleiparker who fanned Hickey for the third time.

Eighth Inning

It was getting dark and the eighth inning was the Earnshaw team's last chance to rally but they failed. Hawkes, batting for Casey struck out. Murphy was passed. Schleiparker was fanned and Butler threw Sweeney out at first to end one of the best games ever played in Newton. Tonight at 5:30 the Earnshaw team will entertain the Catholic Club on Victory Field, their home diamond, and will stage an attempt to even up the series. Tomorrow afternoon the third game of the series will be played on the West Newton Common starting at 3 P. M. Should it be necessary to play other games to decide the title they will be played Monday and Tuesday night on the West Newton Common starting at 5:30, unless otherwise announced.

FOOTBALL GAME TOMORROW

Tomorrow afternoon on Claffin Field the Newton High school eleven will pry the lid off the 1926 gridiron season. The game will commence at 3 P. M. and the opponents of the orange and black will be the Quincy High eleven. Both teams had their initial practice session last week Thursday so neither has an edge on the other as far as conditioning goes. But it is a safe bet that in the eight days that have since elapsed that the Newton eleven has absorbed a great amount of football knowledge through the efforts of Coach Dickinson, than whom there is no better schoolboy coach in the country, and his assistants.

A journey to Claffin Field on any afternoon of this week was worth the trip to see one hundred and eleven boys, which is the number that faculty-manager Dr. Martin has equipped, trying out for places on the teams. In various parts of the field were various groups of candidates. The line-men were working out under the direction of Ned Dewing, who was himself a star guard on a high school eleven two years ago, and who is now trying to win a place for himself beside Clem Coady, the Harvard captain, on the Crimson team. "Frenchy" Gilligan, another former Newton high player and now at Exeter, was helping Dewing. Horton Allen had another group of linemen in another part of the field.

Henry Johnson, McQuiston, Tom Gilligan, and Warren Adams, former backfield men on high school elevens, were assisting Dickinson, with the backfield candidates. The high school squad has gone through a real hard week of practice and with a well-balanced eleven which numbers several veteran men should give a fair account of itself in tomorrow's tilt.

Captain Adams will lead his men onto the field tomorrow and has great hopes of leading them off again with victory tucked into their belts. The popular centre will not have the four "ar players which shone on last year's grid-team with him, but it is by no means impossible that other stars will not shine. McCullough at end, and Tommy Proctor, Guy Holbrook and the incomparable Tommy Gilligan in the backfield have gone the way of all good schoolboys. They have graduated and most of them are entering higher institutions of learning. But even though they can play no more for the orange and black there are still a number of first-class veterans who will be in the line-up tomorrow.

Joe Forrestall, who came along fast at the close of last season, will be there at a tackle berth. Hapgood will probably be the other tackle; he is a veteran who played some of the time at guard last year. Frank "Junior" Stubbs will play alongside Andres, the centre, at guard. The veterans in the backfield will be Frank Spain at quarter, Clark and John Proctor at the halfback positions and Brown, a substitute and guard last year, will probably hold down the fullback berth. Spain and Clark will do the punting for Newton while any of the four can throw a forward. Proctor will probably bear the brunt of the line rushes.

A tentative line-up follows:
le ..... Rymer lg ..... Farrington
c ..... Andres (capt.)
rg ..... Stubbs rt ..... Marsh qb ..... Scheinsain qb ..... Spain lhb ..... Brown rhh ..... Clark
fb ..... Proctor

SPORT NOTES

The finals in the Two-State Y. M. C. A. tennis championships will be played tomorrow afternoon on the Newton Y. courts. Boston which won the eastern section last Saturday on its home courts, Newport, R. I., champions of the Narragansett division, Brockton of the southern division and Pittsfield of the Western section will compete starting at 2 o'clock.

The Providence Steamrollers opened their season auspiciously last Sunday by defeating the New Haven Blues, a semi-pro outfit, 24-0 at Providence. Mike Culican, the local youth on the eleven, played the entire game at right tackle.

In the national tennis tournament at Forest Hills this week, Malcolm T. Hill of Waban won his first round match on Monday from Nat. W. Niles of Boston. It took the local youth five sets to beat the veteran which he finally accomplished, 5-7, 8-6, 6-4, 1-6, 8-6. He was eliminated on Tuesday in his second round match by Rene Lacoste the French star, 6-9, 6-3, 6-4.

Bill Blaney, of Brae Burn, former intercollegiate golfer, also failed to qualify. He took a 90 on his first round and an 82 on his second 18 holes for a total of 172.

Clark Hodder, playing in the national amateur golf championship tournament at the Balustrol Golf Club, Short Hills, N. J., failed to qualify for the final rounds. On his first 18 holes the Newton youth scored an 83. He went around in one less stroke on his second 18 holes for a total score of 165 which was two strokes short of qualifying.

Harvard's hopes for a first class tennis team received a decided boost when it was learned that Malcolm P. Hill of Waban had enrolled in the class of 1930. Hill, paired with his cousin, Henry Johnson, has accounted for many victories in the doubles competition. One of Hill's best matches in this year's tournament play was at Newport, Rhode Island, when he forced Alonzo, the Spanish star, to 6-7, 6-4. Entered in the National Singles, he passed the first round by defeating Nat W. Niles, the Longwood star.

The Bowdoin football squad has taken on a decided orange and black tinge since six of Mr. Dickinson's pupils have reported for practise. Julius

WE CALL FOR BAGGAGE CHECKS

"Joe" Kohler, captain of Newton's 1923 eleven, is counted upon to be the running mate of his captain, Frank Farrington, in this year's backfield, while Robert Olmstead of the same class is the most promising kicker on the team. Dawson "Porky" Alexander, '24, is holding down his berth at guard that he earned last season. These three boys already are 'Varsity letter wearers as a result of the past year's campaign. From the freshman group, Hamilton Oakes, Robert Adams, and Winslow Howland reported Tuesday, September 7th. Oakes, one of Newton's finest centres, has been All-Maine centre at Hebron and was captain of the 1925 team at Bowdoin. Jack Cates expects to make a 'Varsity tackle out of the big boy on account of his increased stature and weight. "Bob" Adams, former captain of the 1925 eleven at Newton, and All-Scholastic the same year, is striving for the vacant wing position. He already is a major letter wearer by virtue of his accomplishments in track last spring. Howland, more noted for his hockey ability, gained a position on the yearling team last year as guard and, although light, is showing possibilities on the regular squad. The first practise of the class of 1930 found Stuart Stone '25 out for his old place as half-back. Since he is heavier and faster his chances are excellent of becoming a regular.

Quincy high, which had a veteran team, defeated Brockton High school last year, and for an opening game Newton will have a stiff battle on its hands.
Joe Forrestall, a linesman on last year's high school eleven, is on probation. Although Forrestall could not graduate last June he was told to be present at the graduation exercises. He failed to do so, and for this reason was placed on probation. It is to be hoped that the ban will soon be lifted and that Forrestall can return to the line where he will be of great assistance.

Of the 25 letter men on last year's squad Coach Dickinson has lost eighteen, nine of which latter were stars. One of the remaining seven, "Bud" Hayes, a linesman, is threatened with appendicitis and therefore cannot play, so the 1926 eleven will be built around the six veteran letter men, Andres, Spain, Clark, Proctor, Hapgood, and Stubbs.

KATHERINE T. McNAMARA

Miss Katherine T. McNamara, daughter of the late Timothy McNamara, died on September 10 at the Co-hasset Hospital. She had been taken ill while spending the summer at Nantasket. Miss McNamara was born in Newton 73 years ago and was in the employ of the late D. R. Emerson for over 40 years. Her funeral service was held Monday at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. She is survived by a niece, Mrs. M. John Barry of Irving street, Newton Centre, and a nephew, Timothy Meehan of Newton.

Tuesday had long been anticipated as the high spot of the trip as that was the day on which Hollywood was to entertain the party at the moving picture studios.

Hollywood is the center of the cinema industry, producing 85 per cent of the world's film output. An average of 100 men and girls arrive in Hollywood daily seeking positions in movies. Mr. Fred W. Beeson, of the Producers Association, gave an interesting talk in his office, explaining how the larger companies had formed a central casting office where all extra help was employed. This office has on file more than 6000 names of people who are waiting for extra or regular work. He stated that girls who are ambitious to enter the movies would do well to remain at home, for if they had beauty and talent they would be "discovered." Thousands of girls who come here to enter the movies find it necessary to accept positions in other lines of work when possible, while others return home.

At noon lunch was served at the Writers' Club, picnic style. On the lawn had been erected a stage from which about forty movie stars were introduced to the visitors. These included Jack Holt, Lew Cody, Eleanor Boardman, Pauline Stark, Jackie Coogan, Mae Murray, Priscilla Dean, Syd Chaplin, Ramon Navarro, Patsy Ruth Miller, Monty Blue, Lionel Barrymore, Marie Prevost, Irvin Berlin, Herison Ford, Buck Jones and Estelle Bradley, a recent "find" from Atlanta, Ga. Rin Tin Tin, the famous movie dog, also was exhibited to the editors.

Will Hays, czar of the movies, spoke briefly of the industry, stating the first motion picture was shown in New York in July, 1896. Mr. Hays said the movie industry had the largest payroll of any enterprise in California and that millions were spent each month in producing high class pictures. One picture only recently completed cost nearly three million dollars, requiring two years to complete.

Rupert Hughes, well known writer, entertained us with one of his famous after dinner speeches.

The afternoon was spent in visiting studios in Hollywood and Culver City. Behind the scenes visitors were given an opportunity to see just how movie pictures are made. It is like a great big factory, every person having some integral part to perform. In the wood-worked sets modern machinery is used to build sets with painstaking care. The same set is never used but for one picture. Stars rarely wear a gown for more than one picture and quite often a dozen or more in one production. The secret of good pictures is the lighting effect. In taking a picture of a ball room or an office, nearly a million candle power is used in a battery of scores of high powered arc lamps.

Pictures are made in huge warehouses, sets being assembled through-out the building for various scenes. It is now seldom that local scenes are used, for it is cheaper for producers to erect their own sets in studios. At times a dozen pictures are made of one scene in order to get the correct pose of actors and proper lighting effect.

Our group were entertained at the Famous Players-Lasky studio and saw Raymond Griffith and company making a scene for the picture "You'd Be Surprised." We also saw pictures being taken of a street scene in New Orleans in 1840, with its curious costumes and garments of both men and women. Later we met Bebe Daniels and had a "still" picture made of our party with Miss Daniels in the center.

In the evening the N. E. A. party were guests of Sid Grauman at the famous Grauman's Egyptian Theatre, Hollywood, one of the world's most beautiful and unique theatres. Entering the theatre one feels as if he were in Egypt. Ushers wear the harem garb without veils, the light walls, draperies and stage curtains are suggestive of Egypt. Here is a theatre that is distinctively odd and has attracted visitors from all parts of the globe.

Movies made of the editorial party during the day were displayed on the screen in which Herman Roe, newly elected president, was the star. Listening to the strains of music by Grauman's Egyptian Orchestra, one of the best on the coast, visitors viewed Mary Pickford's picture, "Sparrows," and Douglas Fairbanks picture, "The Black Pirate."

After such a day as that at Hollywood, it was inevitable that there should be a reaction and many of the party did not care for a trip thru industrial Los Angeles, which was the program for the following day. This included the Los Angeles Union Terminal market, of 23 acres, a large cold storage plant, hotel, restaurant, bank, post office, and produce exchange, all of which are connected with the railroads, entering the city by a belt line. The Central Manufacturing District and Stock Yards cover 300 acres and $50,000,000 of goods were produced last year.

At Los Angeles harbor, two boats were available for a trip around the bay. Dozens of ships were seen loading and unloading, the principal export being crude oil.

A landing was made at Long Beach, where the party were met by a committee from the Chamber of Commerce and given a ride around the city, which is much disfigured by oil derricks. Signal Hill has 615 derricks and produces over 100,000 barrels of oil daily, valued at $85,000,000 yearly.

The City of Long Beach owns a number of wells and receives about two million annually in royalties. This money is being spent for improvements such as schools and paving. The tax rate is less than $1.50 per hundred, one of the lowest on the Coast.

The city receives its name from a seven mile beach, where bathing may be enjoyed the year round. There is an amusement park here with an investment of nearly five million dollars, employing 1000 people and with a payroll of $42,000 a week.

We had an excellent dinner at the Virginia Hotel, although the post prandial proceedings were much too long for a group which had had a strenuous entertainment for over a week, and which was due to an early start the next morning.

For a trip to San Bernardino, our plans called for an early start from the hotel, with breakfast some fifty miles away. Our party were good sports, however, and nearly everyone was ready when the interurban train left the station at 6.45.

Breakfast was served us at the Fontana Farms Inn, a delightful spot in the little but remarkable city of Fontana. It is remarkable as it is work of one man, Mr. A. B. Miller, who a few years ago recognized the possibilities of this territory, the fertility of the soil and the advantages of climate conditions. Today it is one of the show places of Southern California, with thousands of acres devoted to citrus fruits, walnuts, peaches, apricots, and grapes. The Fontana Development Plan combines poultry and fruit raising on lots of 2½ and 5 acres, with liberal provisions for starting a helping hand whenever necessary to solve the problems of the beginner, financial aid for construction of home and buildings with ten years to complete payments of grove or land. The result is a splendid community spirit and a remarkable growth in every direction. Fontana claims the largest hog ranch in the world with over 45,000 pigs, kept clean in the most scrupulous fashion.

Fontana is also a large factor in the production of grapes, one ranch alone covering 5200 acres, and one of 5000 acres pressing closely for first place. With pigs and grapes its chief industries, Fontana was said by one of our party to be quite a "(s)winery."

Riverside, the city Beautiful, well deserves its name and the few hours we spent in that city were most enjoyable.

There were drives thru the beautiful Magnolia and Victoria boulevards and a sight of the grandfather tree of the naval orange, which was brought to this country from Brazil in 1873.

Possibly the greatest thrill for most of us was a trip to the summit of Mt. Rubidoux, where Easter Morning services around a large wooden cross, are held each year, with an attendance of 30,000 people. There is a wonderful view of the valley, the mountains and the city from the top.

Riverside is also unique among California cities, in the fact that it has a park containing a body of water, with facilities for bathing and boating. Water in most California towns is too valuable to be used for strictly ornamental purposes and residents of Riverside are justly proud of their lake.

We had luncheon at the world famous Mission Inn and the luncheon as well as the Inn more than met our expectations. The meal was served in the patio of the hotel, with waitresses in Spanish costumes, and southern music furnished by an orchestra, accompanied by the singing of many birds.

After lunch we were escorted thru the Mission gallery, saw and heard the Mission bells, and made together our brief visit to a museum of priceless relics.

Buses were used on the trip from Riverside to Colton, the industrial city at the cross roads of Southern California. This too is a beautiful city of some eight thousand inhabitants.

In the evening the N. E. A. party were guests of Sid Grauman at the famous Grauman's Egyptian Theatre, Hollywood, one of the world's most beautiful and unique theatres. Entering the theatre one feels as if he were in Egypt. Ushers wear the harem garb without veils, the light walls, draperies and stage curtains are suggestive of Egypt. and the starting point for a trip thru Ventura County.

Oxnard is quite an interesting little city, for it is known throughout the west as a center of citrus fruits, walnuts, lima beans, etc., and has the second largest beet sugar factory in the country. When operated at capacity the mill turns 100 carloads of sugar beets into 20 carloads of sugar. A few miles from the city lies the largest single lemon orchard in the world, the Lindeira Ranch, with over 1800 acres under cultivation. Another interesting item about lemon—the fruit is picked from trees every week in the year. The association sends a crew to orchards each month to pick ripe lemons, grading, packing and marketing for ranchers, that eliminates employment of labor on individual ranches.

At noon the motorcade reached Santa Paula, the Glen City, where a visit was made to the World's largest lemon packing house from which 25 carloads of choice lemons are shipped daily. Here also is the largest single walnut growing area in the world with one of the largest nut cracking plants. Beginning next season every nut marketed, in bulk or cartons, will be branded. Think of branding billions and billions of nuts, a feat heretofore thought impossible.

The motor caravan paused at Ojai, a quaint mission city where refreshments were served by a heavy beautiful Ventura county lassies. Exclamations of delight were heard from hundreds of visitors over the beauty and charm of this little city, and especially about the country club.

At Ventura we viewed that delightful old edifice, San Buenaventura Mission, built 142 years ago, one of the few missions on the coast remaining intact. This city, with a population of 12,000 is experiencing a boom due chiefly to the development of adjacent oil fields.

From Ventura the procession wended its way along the Coastal Highway through the great lima bean fields to Montalvo, El Rio and on to Hueneme Beach (pronounced Ynema) where an old fashioned barbecue was served with all trimmings.

The afternoon we reached the beautiful city of Santa Barbara, and were given a wonderful drive among its mountains and along its shore. Here are many beautiful homes of prominent persons including that of Hon. William G. McAdoo and the late Senator W. A. Clark of Montana.

Santa Barbara sits in a sort of bowl formed by two mountain ranges and faces the ocean. It has a winter temperature of 55 degrees and a summer temperature of 63 degrees.

Only a year ago the city was visited by an earthquake which destroyed a number of older structures, entailing a loss of 11 lives and a property damage of approximately ten million dollars. In traversing the business and residential streets, a visitor would never suspect that this beautiful city just a few months ago was partially destroyed. Practically all buildings that suffered damage have been replaced with more modern structures, built on one of the nation's most rigid codes. The new buildings are termed as earthquake proof and today it is indeed a greater and more beautiful city than ever before.

We were told of an interesting fact that almost exactly one year after a severe earthquake the same territory will be shaken again and that a slight earthquake shock was felt in Santa Barbara within 18 minutes of the first year anniversary of the big quake.

For dinner that evening, our party was divided among several hotels and it was rather curious that when we all met together afterwards, each group stoutly maintained that it had been entertained at the most beautiful spot in the city.

Our party visited the Samarkand, the newest hotel in the city and said to be the latest thought in art nouveau of hotel and garden construction. It was certainly one of the loveliest spots it has ever been my pleasure to witness.

The Hotel is built on three sides of a square, surrounding a wonderful Persian garden. The main part of the hotel is two stories in height, with the dining room in the second story. The guests' rooms form the other two sides and are reached thru arched covered corridors.

The gardens are located in the hollow of the square and are a wealth of riotous bloom of colorful flowers. The gardens descend in four terraces from the tea terrace, each terrace having a separate pool of water, containing water lilies, and gold fish, finally emptying into a round lagoon, partially surrounded by a pergola on the opposite of which is a statue of Buddha. The view from this statue across the lagoon and the terraces to the hotel is one which will linger long in my memory. Flowers of the brightest hues dahlias, petunias, salvias, cannas are massed on either side of the terraces and added much to the beauty of the scene.

Although members of the party have been on the go for over two weeks, every one admitted they had never visited a more beautiful or inviting city than Santa Barbara, a place where one seems so happy and friendly, a tradition handed down for centuries. We were simply charmed and captivated and all left on a late train with a fond desire of an expected return at some early date, for this feeling simply grips one after a visit to Santa Barbara.

VALENTINO AND ELIOT

We quote the following extract from an editorial in the St. Paul Pioneer Press as expressive of difference between President Eliot and Rudolph Valentino.

"Nothing is so surely mortal as a fame resting upon the celebration of the animal in man; nothing is so surely immortal as a fame based upon the triumphs of the mind. The beauty that launched a thousand ships is forgotten while the intellects of a Plato and a Socrates live on. Shakespeare endures while Nell Gwynn is a fragile remembrance. There will be a five-foot shelf of immortal books long after mankind has forgotten the very word which described the actor's fame. Human beings, when all is said and done, set their real store by those pursuits, interests and achievements which give life its calmest happiness and its deepest satisfactions; and which by their power to endure, endow us with a measure of immortality."

"Platitudes these, perhaps; platitudes sometimes fiercely denied by that flaming youth of which so much is heard nowadays. But it is worth while, nevertheless, to remind ourselves that youth does not flame forever; and that the most enduring torches—those upon which mankind must rely to light its future path—are the torches kindled at the altars of the mind."

WEEKLY PRIZE CONTEST

The Rules

Anyone not connected with the Graphic is eligible.

Below you will find a coupon divided into twelve blank sections. Each section contains the first few words of a line taken from an advertisement in this week's issue and a place for the name and address of the advertiser from whom the advertisement is taken. Look through the ads, find the proper line, fill in the uncompleted portion and the name and address of the advertiser. When you have filled out all twelve of the blanks sign your name and address at the bottom.

Clip the coupon and bring or mail it to the Weekly Prize Contest Editor, Newton Graphic, Box 205, Newton. The first ten correct replies received at the Graphic office will be awarded prizes.

First prizes this week—(North side) $2.00 worth of merchandise at Hudson Drug Store, 265 Washington street, Newton. (South side) $2.00 worth of merchandise at Fox's at Newton Corner.

Second to fifth prizes, inclusive, (each division)—Passes for two persons to the Community Theatre—good for any night in the week.

As an example the last blank is filled out. The line is taken from the advertisement of the Newton Co-operative Bank on Page 1. "Every service rendered by a" is your clue. "Co-operative Bank is offered to Newton Residents" is the uncompleted portion which you are to fill in as well as the name and address of the advertiser. Fill out the other twelve blanks.

Newton, Newtonville, West Newton, Abundant, and Nonantum, will make up the North side; Chestnut Hill, Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, Waban, Newton Lower Falls, and Newton Upper Falls, will make up the South side.

FOURTH PARISH REUNION

Plans for the fourth Annual Reunion and Bazaar of Corpus Christi Parish, Abundant, are progressing favorably and everything indicates that the affair which is scheduled to take place at Norumbega Park on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday next, September 19-20-21, will be as successful as the affairs of the past three years. Preliminary events which have created much enthusiasm closed Wednesday evening with a whist and bridge party at the home of Mrs. H. F. Ahearn on Walcott street, and which was held under the direction of the women of the refreshment table.

The formal opening of the Reunion will take place at the Park on Sunday afternoon when the members of the Holy Name Society will gather for an outing with the athletic events under the direction of Mr. J. H. Gordon, who is chairman of the committee. The outstanding feature of this affair will be the ball game scheduled between the Abundant Town Team and the team representing the Newton Catholic Club. Both these teams have been very keen rivals in the intercity Newton league the past season each having divided four games evenly and this contest will really decide the supremacy. It is hoped that the service of some well known major league player may be secured to act as umpire.

Following the afternoon program the Annual Concert in charge of the Holy Name Society will be held in the Theatre at 7.45 P. M., and special care has been given this program which has been divided into six parts as follows:

Classical selections, popular American songs, gems from Scotland (in costume), songs from Ireland, sacred selections (instrumental and vocal), picture, "The Keeper of the Bees."

The rendition of the first three numbers of the program will be by talent from Lowell under the direction of Mr. James E. Donnelly, the well-known fraternal entertainer from that city; while the "Gems from Ireland" will be taken care of by Mr. Ed. Downey of Dorchester, the K. of C. soloist. The sacred selections will be by a quartet assembled through the courtesy of Rev. Edmund Ronan, curate of Corpus Christi parish. The film, "The Keeper of the Bees," will close the evening program.

On Monday evening the two booths will be fitted up and articles will be on sale in the open Pavilion connected with the Norumbega Park Restaurant while the dance hall will be given over to exhibition boxing in charge of Mr. Thomas Franey, who will introduce "Honey Boy" Finnegan and Billy Murphy, well-known boxers. Following the boxing there will be some old-fashioned dancing with James Priest handling the fiddle.

On Tuesday afternoon there will be an entertainment in charge of the Sunday School children and the affair will close on Tuesday evening with final sale of articles from the bazaar and modern dancing in the dance hall.

The executive committee in charge of the entire affair includes Rev. Fr. Ronan as general manager, Mrs. F. A. O'Brien as general secretary and treasurer, Mr. F. A. O'Brien as general chairman with the following aids: Bernard Riley, Edward Butler, Jas. J. Feerick, W. H. Dolan, Mrs. Sarah Taffe, Mrs. J. J. Feerick and Miss Edna Moir, who has assembled a very attractive souvenir program for the entire affair.

passes for two to the Community Theatre, Newton, good for any one night in the week.

The first five blanks, correctly filled out and returned, in each section, will be awarded the prizes regardless of the number of correct ones received from the North side, prior to the arrival of the first one from the South side section.

Remember this—follow the rules to the letter and get your blanks in early.

With so many correct replies coming in each rule must be strictly observed out of fairness to all. The winning of a prize last week, does not bar you from further entry. Try each week.

POLICE NEWS

Tire thieves are busy in this city. Many thefts of "rubber" are being reported by motorists. Some of the victims are those who save money by using the "great outdoors" for a garage.

Sometime Saturday or Sunday, a 24 foot extension ladder was stolen from the new house under construction at the corner of Nevada street and Linwood avenue, Newtonville.

Sergeant Bannon had William B. DeCourcy of 24 Parker Ave., Newton Centre, in court on Monday charged with parking his auto without proper lights. Judge Allen fined DeCourcy $10.

Patrolman Charlton was the complainant against Julius Cairo of 20 Clinton street, Newton, who was in court Monday. Cairo was charged with driving an auto after his license had been revoked, and with operating an auto which had not been registered. His case was continued until September 23rd.

SCHOOL NOTES

ALL NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL

Registration for applicants wishing tuition in the All Newton Music School will be held at the Claffin School, Walnut street, Newtonville, on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 21st, between 2 and 5 P. M., and at the Peirce School, West Newton, on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 23rd, between 2 and 5 P. M. The first term will open on Tuesday, Sept. 28th. Instruction is given in piano, violin, cello and vocal study, as well as orchestral training and theory and harmony classes, the latter being open to students outside the Music School. Special opportunities are being offered to pupils wishing to study the wind instruments. Applicants applying on registration days will have the opportunity of consulting with the Director.

F. A. Day Junior High School

Monday morning in the school assembly hall Principal Carr greeted the school body. A very heavily increased membership filled the hall. Mr. Carr addressed the new comers to the school particularly, after the other classes filed to their respective classrooms.

Several changes in the faculty personnel have taken place. Miss Lougee replaces Miss Tracy for mathematics; Miss MacLean, formerly physical instructor in the grades, replaces Miss Larcom and Miss Seale replaces Miss Kingman for mathematics. Miss McGrath now has Room 15 and is in charge of the student government. Mr. Holleran is now in Room 21.

Miss Manning returned from a Mediterranean cruise made this summer.

Lasell

Lasell Seminary opened for registration Tuesday, September 14, with an enrollment from twenty-four states, the District of Columbia, France, Cuba and New Brunswick. The opening dinner was held on Wednesday evening, September 15, followed by a party for getting acquainted in the gymnasium.

On Saturday evening, September 18, the Missionary Society had charge of the "Frolics" held in the gymnasium. The Vesper speaker on Sunday, September 19, at 6.15 will be Dr. J. Edgar Park.

In addition to the activities of the Physical Training Department, this year, a seven-hole golf course is being laid out on the recreation grounds, for use in the spring.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT

The Fall and Winter work of the Norumbega District Sunday School Association will be presented at the meeting of the Advisory Council of the District, which is to take place at the Newton Y. M. C. A., on Monday evening, September 20. There will be a supper served at 6.30 P. M. This Council consists of Pastors, Sunday School superintendents, Religious Education Directors, Officers and committee members of the District, and Church Representatives selected by cooperating churches.

Problems of interest to local church school workers, such as "Rally Week," "Installation of Church School Workers," "The Thousand-point Standard," etc., will be presented. Rev. Ivan S. Nowlan, General Secretary of the Massachusetts Council of Religious Education, will be the guest of the evening, and will speak about the Progress of Religious Education during the past year.

Brief reports of Vacation Church Schools held during the summer in the District, will be given, and also forward-looking announcements. The Community School Committee is pleased to announce the return of Dr. Herbert W. Gates as an instructor in the school for the first term. He will teach "Education for World Friendship," and "Growth of Religion in the Old Testament." Dr. J. P. Berkeley will again be the Dean, and will teach two courses, "The Psalms," and "How to Plan the Lesson." Other interesting and practical courses will be announced soon. The School is to begin its sixth season on Monday, October 11, at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Newtonville.

BENEFIT SHOP

At the Hospital Aid Benefit Shop, 895 Washington street, Newtonville, there is, among other good things for sale, an excellent dining table and chairs, a couch and some useful clothing, all marked at bargain prices.

Each week the demand for children's clothes grows greater; mothers with large families and small incomes are facing the problem of clothing these little folks for school; they want to pay for the clothes, but we have not enough to meet the demand. Will not each mother look over her children's worn clothes and send to the shop all that can be spared? Will each shopkeeper pass to us all shop-worn goods and help these people, as well as the hospital? The shop is open every Wednesday and Saturday from 1 to 5 o'clock. Information will be gladly given at the shop or over the telephone. In the temporary absence of Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Williams, C. N. 1426; Mrs. Ross, C. N. 0047-R; Mrs. Allen, N. N. 430; Mrs. Lovell, W. N. 520, will answer any inquiries.

COMMUNITY THEATRE

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday—Leave it to Ford Sterling to make you laugh and show you a good time as the Kid from Philly in "The Show Off."

"Senior Daredevil" is an exceptionally good Western, featuring a new star to the screen, Ken Maynard and his remarkably intelligent horse, "Parzan."

Thursday, Friday, Saturday—Sinclair Lewis' latest novel, "Mantrap," gives Clara Bow, famous as the screen's flapper, a chance to do her stuff in realistic fashion.

E. Phillips Oppenheim, author of "The Golden Web" is a past master of the art of constructing plots and weaving them around unusual characters. There are many thrills and both the eye and the mind will find much to enjoy.

EDITORIALS

Thirteen percent of the registered voters of this city took enough interest in public affairs to cast their votes on Tuesday and determined thereby the candidates of their respective parties. About eighteen thousand voters in this city were indifferent to their rights and duties of citizenship and allowed a small minority to practically name the state and county officials for the next two years.

This would not be serious if this small minority merely selected a series of delegates upon whom would fall the responsibility of nominating proper officials and whose action would be passed upon at the regular election. It is serious when such a small number of voters make the nominations directly, and for which no one has the least responsibility, which can be reached at the election.

The Democratic party evidently likes Newton for it has nominated two of our fellow citizens for state office, Frank W. Cavanaugh for secretary of state and Strabo V. Claggett for state auditor.

The Republican party has made no mistake in nominating Mr. Arthur K. Reading for the important office of attorney general. Mr. Reading is fully qualified to fill that office.

We are glad to note that actual work has begun on a new city stable on the south side of the city. It has been needed for many, many years.

The editor is profoundly grateful for the support of over a thousand Republicans on Tuesday.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending September 11—Patient in hospital 106; patients paying less than cost of care 21; free patients, including babies 20; babies born 6; patients treated by out-patient department 94; accident cases 29; social service calls at hospital 3; at homes 3.

The faithful members of the Know More Kokki Klub are once more holding regular meetings at hospital and discussing cases and the diagnosis of them.

An evidence of the making ready for the building of the new hospital is the cutting down of trees on the site of the proposed new buildings. Glad as the hospital family is to have the new buildings there is a feeling of regret that any of the favorite old trees must be sacrificed to make room for them.

PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

Organization of a women's committee to help finance the new Boston Philharmonic Orchestra which has been formed by Miss Ethel Leginska, pianist, and conductor, took place Thursday at the studio of Miss Ruth Colman, 384 Boylston street. Mrs. Ernest Beaufort of Newton was elected chairman.

The concerts are to be given on Sunday afternoons in Mechanics Building.

The concerts will begin on Oct. 17 and will be 20 in number. A. H. Handley of Boston is manager of the series. Mrs. Handley is a member of the women's committee.

FIRE RECORD

Wednesday at 1:06 Box 242 was for a serious fire in the two family house at 54-56 Lincoln road, owned by Gerardo Cetrone and occupied by him and Orazio DeStefano. The fire, which started from some unknown cause badly damaged the rear part of the building.

Box 171 at 2:46 Wednesday was a false alarm rung by two children.

ALDERMANIC MEETING

fore the aldermen in identifying himself to the Board. He explained that the proposed building will be similar in construction and appearance to the building recently erected at the corner of Hovey and Washington streets, which he thought had greatly added to the value of the locality. He told the aldermen that he and a few other Newton men are endeavoring to create an automobile district along Washington street and that he has a tenant for the proposed building in the person of a well-known Newton business man. He said, "All the abutters are satisfied with the plans of the projected structure."

James P. Gallagher appeared for the petition of William I. Taylor which asks for a permit to establish a gasoline filling station at the corner of Washington and Putnam streets, West Newton. He explained the peculiar shape of the lot of land at this corner and told how the original intention of his clients was to build a one-story block of stores on the site. Certain West Newton residents, anxious to have a fitting setting for the new City Hall, which may be erected at West Newton, and for the other public buildings at the corner at that place, desired to have a new building line so that any building to be erected must be placed at least ten feet back from the street line. As this would be impracticable in the case of a business structure, it has been proposed, as a compromise, that a filling station be placed on the property. His clients are willing to co-operate, and if they receive the permit, will agree to have a set-back such as it asked for.

Alderman Sinclair Weeks stated that he is Chairman of the Trustees of the First Unitarian Society, which is situated nearby, and speaking in behalf of that church organization, he reserved his rights to appear before the License Committee when it will confer on this petition.

No opposition developed against the petition of the Norumbega Park Company for a permit to increase storage capacity of gasoline on Commonwealth avenue near Auburn street, from 2000 to 3000 gallons. On the petition of Antonio Mazzola for a permit to keep 500 gallons of gasoline for private use at 254 Adams street, City Clerk Grant announced that Mr. Leone, owner of adjacent property, objected unless the tank will be five feet from his land. John B. Hebbard of the DeWitt Clinton School objected to the placing of a common sewer in Brackett road, unless it will be done without expense to abutters. Written protests against this project were received from Mrs. Michael L. Madden and Minnie Robinson. No persons appeared to oppose the petitions to relocate and widen the corners of Dedham and Greenwood streets, Centre and Sargent streets, Pleasant street and Chapin road.

The names of Edward F. Ryan of 368 Elliot street and Benjamin Golding of 14 Clyde street were drawn to serve as jurors at the civil session of the Superior Court on October 4th; Arthur G. Reed, 29 Lowell avenue; Joseph G. Buckley, 199 Jackson street, and Parker Walton, 17 Carleton street, to serve as jurors at the criminal session of the Superior Court on October 11.

At the preceding meeting of the aldermen on August 23rd, a discussion was started by President Pratt on the matter of expediting the meetings of the Board. Chairman Weeks of the Finance Committee agreed with Mr. Pratt that something should be done to cause aldermanic meetings to adjourn earlier and suggested that the practice of holding committee meetings on the same evenings as Board meetings be discontinued. Other committee chairmen concurred with Mr. Weeks. The road to the eternal super-tropical region is paved with good intentions. Likewise the Newton aldermen are full of good intentions. But, circumstances seem to prevent our local legislators from carrying out their reforms. Despite their assertions of a few weeks ago, the aldermen again on Monday night resumed the practice of suspending their regular meeting to hold committee meetings. At 8:35 Alderman Weeks asked for a recess to permit the Finance Committee to confer. The License and Public Buildings Committees also went into session. The recess lasted over two hours—until 10:55.

In the meantime a number of members of the Newton Fire department waited anxiously in the aldermanic chamber, as action on the two-platoon system was scheduled, according to agreement, to be taken at the first meeting in September. But the Finance Committee was not discussing the two-platoon system. It was arguing over the appropriation of $98,147.38 for the construction of a new station for the Street Department on Eliot street, Newton Highlands. Finally the committee agreed to recommend that the money be appropriated and the Board meeting was resumed. To raise this large sum, a bond issue of $100,000 was authorized. In addition to quarters for the horses, arage space will be provided and storage facilities for tools and equipment.

The petition of Roy Livingston for a 2-car garage at 9 Clarendon street, which had been held up at the preceding meeting was granted. So were the petitions of Enrico Bartolucci for a 3-car garage at 86 Dalby street and J. B. Williams for a 4-car garage at 719 Washington street. Pole locations were granted to the Edison Company on Freedom, Kent and Ardmore roads, Ardmore terrace, Elmwood park and Washington street near Quinobosc street.

The License Committee reported favorably on the petition of Marshall Hall for a gasoline station at the corner of Washington and Court streets, Newtonville. Previous petitions of Mr. Hall and others had been turned down a half dozen times for a station permit at this locus, and it seemed that success had finally crowned the efforts to establish a station at this place. But—some member of the aldermen raised an objection and Chairman Bliss asked that this petition be referred back to the committee for further consideration. Another petition that experienced the "so near and yet so far" treatment was that of Jacob Kligman for a 19-car public garage and gasoline station at 456 Watertown street, Newtonville. Jacob formerly had a junk license but it was revoked some years ago because Kligman kept his premises so untidy that his neighbors claimed the place had become an eyesore. Depriving him of the junk license did not cause his property to become a beauty spot because Kligman has used the place as a storage yard for old automobiles which were consigned to the junk heap. He has put in a score or more petitions asking that he be allowed to use the property for one purpose or another, and he has been consistently turned down by the aldermen. So, when the License Committee reported favorably on his latest petition, it seemed as though his persistence was finally to be rewarded. John Finelli, who has consistently opposed Kligman's petitions arrived in the aldermanic chamber shortly before the recommendations of the License Committee were announced. Either he, or some one else threw the monkey-wrench in the works, and Chairman Bliss asked that Jacob's petition be again referred back to the committee. Jacob ought to build a conservatory for flowers on his estate. The petition of J. B. Jurad for a permit to store an additional quantity of gasoline at 11 Court street, Newtonville, was finally granted after having been held in committee for several months. The following petitions were given leave to withdraw—Fred Lackey, Lower Falls, junk license; Erasmo Di Vasta, gasoline station at Beacon street and Chesley road; Edison Company, 4 poles on Hyde street; Telephone Madison avenue. The expected phone Company relocation of a pole "big event" of the night, the adoption or rejection of the two platoon system for the firemen did not materialize. Because of the absence of three members of the Finance Committee—Fayinger, Fitts and Pratt, the aldermen agreed that this very important matter should not be acted upon until the next meeting.

These appropriations were made—Nevada Street Drain $3547; Westminster Road sewer $2718; Water Department, equipment $2200, cleaning mains $10,000; Law Department, incidentals, $375; new City Stable, $98,147.38; Engineer's Department, office expenses, $183.55; Workmen's Compensation $600; Woodland Road widening $1312; widening Centre street at Sargent, $2322.

Bond issues of $100,000 to provide for the cost of the new city stable, and $50,000 for sewer construction were authorized. It was also voted to widen Forest street at Walworth street and to take land for a playground at the Williams School. The meeting adjourned at 11:15.

At the next aldermanic meeting hearings will be held on the following petitions:—Richard T. Leahy, Nevada street station, 1447 Washington street, West Newton; Richard T. Monaghan, changing location of gasoline pumps at 1545 Washington street, West Newton; Michael Bomba, 5 pool tables at 2362 Washington street, Lower Falls; Mrs. W. G. Girard, two first class taxi licenses.

Parker will have as the topic of his sermon, "What shall I demand of Religion?" Many people in the confusion of today fail to find satisfaction in religion because they do not know what they really want. If the question cannot be answered in full detail, nevertheless general outlines can be made, showing that religion has definite satisfactions to offer and these may be found if we once understand what they are. This is the reason for the selection of this sermon topic.

DEATH OF MRS. COX

After a month's illness, Mrs. Margaret J. (Watson) Cox died this week at her home, 16 Dickerman road, Newton Highlands. She was born in Toronto, Ont., and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Watson of Montreal, Can. Her father was a long-time employee of the Bank of British North America in Canada. Mrs. Cox received her education in Canada and did not come to this country until 1897, when she became the bride of David A. Cox. She had been an active member for many years of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church and was a talented musician, having been deeply interested in musical subjects. She is survived by her husband, three sisters and five brothers.

ABOUT TOWN

Persons who have been spectators at the various places in this city where the water mains have been cleaned, have remarked the efficiency of "Pat" Madden. Mr. Madden is the stalwart individual who wields the sledge hammer that breaks the big iron pipes. We do not know what wages he receives from the National Water Main Cleaning Company, but whatever he gets, he is worth it. The contractor who is sinking the new supply well for Newton's water system on the reservation at Needham, is not meeting with much success in his unique method. He planned to remove the earth by means of a suction dredge and to sink the concrete shell of the well into the ground section by section. There is not enough water seeping into the excavation to permit the suction process. It is probable if a level of about 10 feet below the surface could be reached, sufficient water would seep into the hole, but it looks now as if hand or power shovel digging will have to be resorted to. Another accident occurred in this city the past week as a result of a person endeavoring to learn how to operate an automobile on a street carrying heavy auto traffic. Persons who take "green drivers" on such thoroughfares as Commonwealth avenue and Washington street to give them lessons in operating automobiles, show little common sense. We spent a few days recently at Lakewood Camp, in the heart of Cape Cod woods at South Sandwich. This delightful resort is run by George Meigs, who for some years was a resident of Newton. Mr. Meigs was formerly connected with the Hubbard Pharmacy, and his wife, who was Miss Katherine McLeod, was also formerly a resident of this city. Not far from Mr. Meigs' estate is the great State Forest, where thousands of acres are reserved to provide inhabitants of this Commonwealth with a "forest primeval" which serves the double purpose of a hunting preserve as well as a resort for Nature lovers. Last week we took a trip to New Hampshire in our "universal car." The roads were wet, the steering gear of the car too much "tightened up," and the results were thrilling. We drove from Newton to Nashua looking vainly for a Ford expert to make our chariot more easily navigated. After skidding all over Massachusetts avenue in Arlington, clipping another auto and causing a big fuss to come to a very sudden stop, we had a hazardous journey of 35 miles before the "Detroit Demon" was adjusted by a Ford service man. With our nerves on edge we proceeded cautiously along the Daniel Webster Highway. But more excitement was to be our lot. Darkness fell—so did the rain, and the roadway was slippery and then some. As we carefully and slowly guided our "car" down the steep slope of Black Hill, near Concord, New Hampshire, with devilish perversity, it skidded across the street in front of a long line of autos headed south. The driver of the first car steered his auto up a bank by the roadside to avoid our sliding driver. Fortunately, just before the impending crash occurred, the front wheels of our atrocious auto hit the bank, and we averted a calamity.

CITY HALL

Thursday morning Street Commissioner Stuart removed the first shovel of earth for the foundation of the new stable on Elliot street, Newton Highlands, for which the city government recently made the appropriation. Those present were: Building Commissioner Chadwick and his assistant Arthur Campbell; City Engineer Morse and Assistant Engineer Harvey-Archibald Colby; Division Foreman Mahoney of the Street Department and Contractor John W. Duff. —The speech energy of the human voice amounts to very little in the way of power. It is only 125 ergs a second, an almost infinitesimally small amount of power. Consonant letters require the least amount of energy. The pitch or frequency of vibrations is much higher for consonant sounds, than the vowels, however. An erg is the work done when a body moves one centimeter in the direction in which it is urged by a force of one dyne, and a dyne is a force which when acting on a mass of one gram for one second will change its velocity by one centimeter per second.

Age of Jesus

There is not sufficient evidence in the Bible to determine the exact age of Jesus at the time of his death. In Luke 3:23 it says: "And Jesus himself began to be about thirty years of age." This was when he began his ministry, after he had been baptized in the Jordan by John the Baptist. But the duration of the ministry of Jesus is not specifically stated in the Scripture. Most Bible scholars think it lasted about three years. This would make Jesus thirty-three years of age at the time of the crucifixion. There is no direct historical data on the subject.—Pathfinder Magazine.

POLICE NEWS

Paul Geary of Francis street, Newton Highlands, was fined $50 in court Tuesday morning and given a suspended sentence of 30 days in the House of Correction. He had been arrested by Officer Loughlin for driving while under the influence of liquor. —Harry Brodie of the Newton Public Market, is to make a test case of the legality of the local ordinance restricting parking at Nonantum Square. Mr. Brodie was summoned to court on Tuesday by Officer Keating, charged with parking his car longer than 30 minutes. The case will be tried next Tuesday. He will be represented by Attorney Oates of Watertown. —Luigi Calcagni of Waltham street, Watertown, was fined $100 Tuesday for driving while under the influence of liquor. A like fine was also imposed on Robert Hallberg of Winchester for a similar offence. Hallberg was arrested on September 6 by Patrolmen Frank Feeley and McDonough.

Despite the approaching Holy Days, when peace and good will are supposed to prevail, Henry Wolinsky of East Boston and Joseph Silverman of Roxbury, two gentlemen engaged in the business of second hand clothes, became embroiled in such a bitter argument yesterday on Chestnut street, Waban, that words did not suffice to settle the dispute so they brought their fists into action. The scrimmage was long and loud and some nearby resident telephoned Police Headquarters. The police auto was sent to the battle ground but just before it arrived, Patrolman Johnny Green had reached the spot and placed the militant Israelites under arrest. They will be in court next Wednesday.

Serg. Joe Seaver on Wednesday apprehended John O'Connor of New Haven who had stolen a car in that city. O'Connor had the car well filled with his personal belongings, intending to make a long tour of the country. But he was short of cash and when he attempted to sell an extra tire at Newton to help finance his trip, Serg. Seaver nabbed him.

George Bowles of Ward street, Newton Centre, was arrested Thursday morning by Serg. Vedeccio for Florida officials. He is charged with passing a worthless check in that state and is being held in $5000 bonds.

The Grand Jury this week returned indictments against Frank J. Egizio of Watertown, who drove the auto which struck Alonzo Blood of Wesley street on August 20th. Mr. Blood, an aged resident of Newton, was crossing Centre street, near his home, when the auto driven by Egizio hit him, causing injuries from which Mr. Blood died a couple of days later. Egizio was indicted for manslaughter, operating so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public and operating in a reckless manner.

The Grand Jury returned a no bill in the case of James O. Bracken of Allston charged with manslaughter. Bracken drove the auto which killed Tommaso Determino of Hanover street, Boston, on June 9. Determino, an employee of T. Stuart & Son, was crossing Washington street, near the Woodland Golf Club, when Bracken's auto struck a plank the man was carrying, causing Determino's neck to be broken.

Pat Beat the Law

The story of dogs is closely connected with the story of man. For instance, there is the legend that relates how lap dogs came to Ireland. In the beginning Britain seems to have had a monopoly on tiny dogs, and it was forbidden to give or sell a tiny dog to an Irishman.

Then parliament passed a law which decreed that a criminal should be given to the man he had wronged. So a clever Irishman, as the story goes, succeeded in getting a tiny lap dog to bite him.

The ruse succeeded, and the dog was taken to Ireland, where all the kings fought among themselves for the possession of her, until she brought peace by producing a large litter of puppies.

Warning to Wives

If you expect your marriage to be happy, I warn you to beware of the following:

Talking too much.
Interrupting serious conversation with banal interjections.
Jealousy—when there is no cause for it.

Belittling your husband in public.
Overpraising your husband in public.

Talking too much about yourself.
Lying unnecessarily—about the price of things, for instance.—From "The Passion Called Love"—Elinor Glyn.

"Art for Art's Sake"

Art for art's sake does not mean that art is more important than morals or is to be pursued to the exclusion of every other interest. It simply means that art is a region free and autonomous. It cannot be bent to ends of moral edification or practical propaganda without coarsening, warping and cheapening it, any more than a church steeple can be turned into a silo. And even the most practical farmer would hardly dare to suggest that the church trustee ask the architect to plan a church without a steeple, on the ground that it served no practical purpose.—Llewellyn Jones, in "First Impressions"

ABOUT TOWN

One of Newton's best known aldermen had a thrilling experience recently. Not so long ago he completed the building of a garage constructed of cement blocks. The other day he entered this garage to take out his large sedan. The self-starter on the auto would not work so he got out of the car and started to crank its motor. Unfortunately the motor had been left in gear, so when the engine started the automobile rammed its way through the cement blocks forming the rear of the new garage. Only the agility of the "City Father" prevented his being crushed between the car and the wall of the garage.

It would seem that the traffic signal on Centre street at Newton Corner is sufficiently large to be seen by any autoist. Yet, daily operators of cars drive by this signal despite the fact that they are warned by large letters to stop from going in a southerly direction at this point. Persons who pay no heed to such a conspicuous sign as this are either too near-sighted, too stupid, or too heedless to be permitted to operate automobiles on public highways.

A certain resident of this city took an auto trip up to the White Mountains last week. He returned anything but enthused over his journey and asserted that he had failed to see anything which had compensated for the time he had lost in making the tour. According to him that part of Newton between Argent and Mill streets is more beautiful than the White Mountains.

HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN

Schirmer, Mr. William F. Garcelon, Mr. C. E. Kelsey, Mr. Albert H. Elder, Mr. R. C. Thompson, Mr. J. Earle Parker, Mr. John A. Paine, Mrs. Lorenz F. Muther, Mr. Philip S. Jamieson, Mr. Donald E. Rust, Mr. Maynard Hutchinson, Mr. Charles B. Floyd, Mr. A. C. Burnett, Mr. Edwin S. Drowne, and Mr. William H. Rice.

Interest in the Newton Campaign is increasing in Wellesley, whose people desire to help, as a large number of Wellesley patients are treated in the Newton Hospital. While there have been some minor delays in determining the best method of procedure, these are being ironed out. In the near future the Wellesley Committee will be ready to make use of the organization and publicity firm which worked so efficiently in the Newton Campaign, and they expect to put on a Wellesley drive which will produce a very substantial sum for the Newton Hospital.

From far off India—seven thousand miles away—a missionary's mite arrived yesterday to help the Newton Hospital Campaign Fund. The donor is Miss G. Marion Holland who is attached to the American Mission Hospital at Ahmednagar, India. Miss Holland, a former Newton resident, sent her pledge to Miss Elizabeth Ross, superintendent of the Newton District Nursing Association. Miss Holland does not expect to return to this country until long after the hospital buildings are completed in 1929. Her letter says in part:

"I am exceedingly interested in the new buildings for our Hospital and I do want a share in what the nurses are planning to do. I am going to be real daring and pledge $50 to be paid within the next three years. I wish I could give more but our missionary salaries do not give us much extra. Here's to hoping I am not too late. Sorry I didn't get my courage up before and send my promise."

American Mind Awake to Value of Beauty

It was only about a decade ago that we prated about periods. Rooms must be done in the style of the Italian renaissance, or that of Louis XV, or the Georges, or in that of any other, down through the periods that had come and gone. We were rabid on details and historical data and cared little for the sense of fitness of things. But now in America we are quite different. A more genuine love of beauty has been a mighty leveler, and we cry for homes and beauty therein, whether these homes be as sumptuous as a palace or as unpretentious as a country cottage. Realizing, too, as we do, that the highest creative art comes from a wise and moderate use of what has gone before, we are sensitive to the lure of old furniture. There is a subtle fascination that emanates from the revered work of the long ago craftsman that, like a magnet draws the lovers of the beautiful to those shops which treasure the handwork of several centuries ago and creates in them the desire for possession in their homes of the antique treasures found there. Acquisition in this case is the first step toward beauty.—The Anti-Quarian.

Youngster Earnest in Quest of Information

If small children will stray, they will stray, and they do stray, otherwise how would they pick up the extraordinary things they do pick up? Questions! "Please, nurse, why is a fish?" To which nurse wisely answers: "Because it likes to be a fish, Master Silly." After which the small child has to be kept away from the water for a long time, because it also wishes to be a fish.

"Please, nurse," (terribly polite child, this, and therefore very dangerous), "how do birds be in eggs?"

To which nurse (terribly clever, as most nurses are) answers: "To keep them quiet when they are young."

A long sigh, and then: "I wish I was a star, 'cos then I could be out all night."

"Finish your breakfast and say your grace," says nurse.

"Thelordmaketrulythankfulamenandgoout?"

And nurse, who has to clear up and look after baby, and iron some of the small things, says: "Yes."—Dion Clayton Calthrop in Pears' Annual, London.

Lion Turned the Tables

A lion's vengeance terminated the earthly career of a New Zealand big game hunter, in northern Rhodesia. The hunter with a party of natives came upon three lions, and wounded two. Failing to come up with them again that day, he started off the following morning, and found finally one of the wounded lions. At about fifteen yards' distance he fired, but either missed or did little damage, and the lion sprang at him. He dropped his rifle and tried to climb a tree, but the lion caught him by the thigh and severely mauled him, finally pulling him down and throwing him over an antheap. A little later the injured hunter waved his arm as a signal to the natives that he was alive; unfortunately, the lion saw this and attacked him again. One of the natives shot the lion dead, but the hunter died shortly after in a hospital.

Phantom Ship

Reference has been made on more than one occasion in your column to "the phantom ship" of the Bay of Fundy. As long ago as fifty years, as I remember, it was believed that the light referred to was caused by phosphorus made by large shoals of fish that send off a phosphorus gas that burns in the air, and the ship seen by sailors is the reflection of their own ship. The state of the air and the time of the year has much to do with it. You will see the same kind of lights on bogs in September on dark, foggy nights. It was the same kind of light that scared "Tam o' Shanter, and if he had not been mounted on the best mare in the world he might have been caught.—Montreal Family Herald.

Harmfulness of Fear

Human fear is unnatural, writes Edward Earle Purinton in Nature's Path. Anything unnatural is unwise and unsafe.

Fear is falsehood. We do not entertain it unless some one has lied to us, or we have lied to ourselves. The truest people are always the most fearless. In this fact is the primary lesson for those tormented by fear.

No liar on earth equals the bogeyman created by fear. He makes us look for the worst in what may prove the best, and invites all sorts of ills on ourselves by our sickly, cowardly, weak and foolish state of mind. What we fear we fasten on ourselves, by the law of psycho-mental attraction.

"Gadzoos," Indian Oath

A Hyatt Verill, a collector for the Museum of American Indians, has discovered that "gadzoos," supposed an oath of the good old Elizabethan days in England, is used commonly by the Panama Indians. The reason is that the oath was carried to the tribe by the English expedition known as Bartholomew Sharp's buccaneers, in 1699. This expedition left also a number of other English words that have been appropriated and corrupted by the Panama tribes which came into contact with the newcomers at the time.

NEWS FROM THE COLLEGES

By Harold P. Carver, N. H. S. '26

The fall season brings vacation time to a close and each one turns to the matter which engrosses his attention through the winter months, he lingers for a moment on the incidents and friendships of the past months and years. Since numbers of the young people of this city leave for college, and are even now shopping and packing in preparation for their journey to their chosen seats of learning, this column is written to try and convey in to some degree the works and activities of the Newton boys at college. The only justification for such comments is that outside of the immediate families, one seldom hears about their schoolmates of the grammar and high school years.

The State of Maine with its four colleges of the so-called smaller type, attracts many Newton boys. This is especially true at Brunswick, where Bowdoin is located, where a large delegation is found from the Garden City. They have established a record of achievement in all activities that causes Newton boys to be welcomed by all concerned. One of the first boys to go to Bowdoin was Julius Kohler '23, a leading man in his class, being both president, his senior year, and captain of the football eleven. He is a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity and one of the veterans of the football team. Also Sidney Brown of Newton, a member of Chi Psi, entered in the same year, 1924, and continued his literary work to a high degree of excellence.

Ellis Spears of Newton Centre is another member of this same class. Robert Olmstead, teammate of Kohler's during his stay at Newton and now a fraternity brother as well as playing the other half-back position beside Julius, spent one year at New Hampshire State College in Durham, where his scholastic standing was of the highest calibre. In the fall of 1925, he transferred to Bowdoin where he has been a dominant figure in athletic events at the college. Along with these members of the class of 1927 is Dana Blanchard of Newton. Donald M. Hill, Jr., of Waban, has been a member of the tennis team during his terms at Bowdoin and this summer he has had considerable success in the nearby tournaments. He is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Herbert Jones, Newton '23, is a member of the glee club and is considered one of the most promising musicians in the college. He and David Osborne '23, are both members of Psi Upsilon and interested in the literary activities at Bowdoin. Two prominent members of the junior class in the athletic ranks are fraternity brothers from the Beta Theta Pi House, namely: Dawson Alexander, and R. S. Thayer. The former has become a regular line man and shows promise of being the mainstay of the forwards this year, while "Dick" Thayer has played varsity hockey for two years, being one of the best wing men in the state.

Prominent among this year's sophomore class are Hamilton Oakes, Newton '24, and a graduate of Hebron where he was All-Maine centre in 1925, and his room-mate, Robert C. Adams, Newton '25, senior class president and captain of football in 1925. Oakes established an enviable reputation for achievements by being captain of the 1923 football team, president of his class, and recently was elected the Sophomore member of the Athletic Council, the highest honor his class could give. Adams played end on the yearling squad and won his major "B" in the javelin throw. Others members of this class are, Winslow "Tubby" Howland, all-scholastic goal-guard in 1925 at Newton and a member of both football and hockey squads at Bowdoin, also Abbott Spear of Newton Centre, an excellent "440" man in track.

This year's entering class, although still in the throes of examinations and such questions of entrance, are: Alan "Frank" Shaw, winner of the F. W. Messervy scholarship for all around value to the school, and also one of the finest baseball players in the city; Harold Rising '25 a crack "440" man from Exeter; Junior Crampton, a hockey player of note from Hebron; Clifford Snow of Newton '26; Alva Stein '26, a member of last year's swimming team; Harry Thayer, a former resident of Waban and a famous yachtsman in the Junior races held each year; Stuart Stone of West Newton and Williston, a three letter man at each school; and Edward Rayner of Newton Centre and Exeter.

At Colby the sole Newton representative is Franklin Cobleigh of Newton Highlands. He enters this fall and shows possibilities in the gridiron way, judging by his work on last year's Intermediate Varsity.

David K. Livingston of Newton Centre registers this year at Bates in Lewiston, where he will carry on his literary work.

Wisdom From the Arab.

This is given as an Arabian proverb in "Life of Sir Richard Burton" and runs: "Men are four: He who knows not and knows not he knows not, he is a fool—shun him; he who knows not and knows he knows not, he is simple—teach him; he who knows and knows not he knows, he is asleep—wake him; he who knows and knows he knows, he is wise—follow him."

The Library.

Many persons go to the Detroit Public Library to see the new building, according to an assistant librarian. Many go to meet friends. Others go to kill time. And still others go to discover from available genealogical tables if they are or are not descended from ancient kings and queens.—Detroit News.

AUCTION BRIDGE
Author of "Ferguson on Auction Bridge"
Copyright 1925 by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 36

One of the points about every game or sport that every player recognizes is the necessity of constant play and practice to keep in tip-top form. Auction bridge is no exception to this rule, and a player who wants to keep his form or improve, can do so only by constant play and practice. One of the best means of practice is to work out the problems of play and bidding that are given in these articles. They stimulate the mind and give the player the benefit of other points of view that he might otherwise have missed. Here are several hands, for example, where proper bidding and play would have been well rewarded. See what you would have done and then compare results with the writer's analysis.

Have you ever noticed how often certain cards or groups of cards will be duplicated in one or more hands? An observing player can gain many a trick by looking out for these duplications or repetitions. The writer saw a good example the other night.

Hand No. 1

Hearts—A, 6, 5
Clubs—8, 4, 2
Diamonds—8, 7, 6, 3
Spades—9, 4, 2

Y :
A B : Z :

Hearts—Q, J, 9, 8, 7, 4
Clubs—K, J, 9
Diamonds—K
Spades—A, K, 7

Y :
A B :
Z :

Score, YZ-10; AB-20; rubber game. Z dealt and bid one heart. A and Y passed and B bid one spade. Z bid two hearts and all passed. A opened the eight of spades and Z won the trick with the king. In order to make game and rubber Z must win nine tricks. What was his best plan of play to accomplish this result? Z noted that he held a hand divided among the four suits in the ratio of 6-3-3-1. This is, one of Z's opponents would hold a singleton heart. If that conclusion were correct, was there any guide as to what the singleton heart would be? Z noted that he held the singleton king of diamonds so that if one other player held a singleton heart, it should be heart. Having analyzed the hand in that manner, Z led the four of hearts at trick two and when A played the deuce, Z played the ace from dummy and B's singleton king dropped. Every one at the table said: "How did you guess that?" So Z explained the frequency of repetitions or duplications not only of the distributions of the suits but also of the exact card or cards. It's really very interesting so be on the lookout for hands of this type and if you run across any good examples, send them in. Z's application of the rule in this hand gave him a game and rubber not otherwise possible, as he won six heart tricks, two spades and one club.

Hand No. 2

Hearts—A, K, 7, 4
Clubs—9, 8, 4, 3
Diamonds—J, 7
Spades—Q, 8, 5

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one no-trump. If A bid two diamonds and Y passed, what would you bid with B's hand? B should bid two no-trump. If A's bid of two diamonds is sound, AB should have a good chance for game at no-trump. A bid over a no-trump when you have the lead should indicate a very strong hand, so B should try for game by bidding two no-trump.

Hand No. 3

Y :
A B : Z :

Hearts—A, 9, 4
Clubs—J, 8, 7, 6, 2
Diamonds—J, 10, 9, 8
Spades—A

No score, first game. What would you bid, as dealer, with the foregoing hand? Z should pass. It is too unbalanced a hand to justify a no-trump bid. Let the other players bid and then decide what to do.

Hand No. 4

Hearts—K, J, 10, 8
Clubs—9
Diamonds—A, 7, 5, 4

Y :
A B :
Z :

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no-trump and A passed. What would you bid with Y's hand? This is a very close hand. Most players would pass but the singleton club is a danger spot for a no-trump. The writer would bid two hearts, particularly because of the distribution 4-4-4-1 which, as a rule, indicates a long suit in one or more of the other hands. If this suit is clubs, it will undoubtedly be opened and will probably prevent a game at no-trump. There is just as good a chance for game at hearts as in no-trump but without the risk, so the writer prefers the two heart bid with this type of hand.

Hand No. 5

Y :
A B : Z :

Hearts—K, J, 8, 7, 5
Clubs—10, 8
Diamonds—9, 6
Spades—6, 5, 4, 3

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A passed and Y bid one no-trump. If B passed, what would you bid with Z's hand? Z should bid two hearts. His hand is of no value whatever at no-trump and yet should do fairly well at two hearts. In this particular hand, YZ score four odd at hearts and only one odd at no-trump; quite a difference.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Newton got awfully stirred-up about its water supply with the result that the water supply isn't as stirred-up as it has been.

Old Mother Hubbard Swept out her cupboard. She painted it robin's-egg blue. Also the front hall. The parlor and all. "Colonial" 'twas, through and through. The garret was bare. She took every chair. All antiques the place would avail. Brass poker and tongs. And such that belongs. She bought a second-hand sale; With oven of brick. "Atmosphere" very thick. "Ye Olde" was her chief stock in trade. Though bread was sliced thin. The money rolled in— A prosperous "tea-room" she made.

Now that the (cigar) smoke of the State primaries battle has rolled away and candidates are silently looking over the bills contracted by their campaign managers and others, the voters may study the State tickets of the major parties. (I assume the minor party in the field will not arouse any great amount of enthusiasm.)

But candidates aside, there are three questions to be voted for on referendum which Newton voters might as well begin studying now as well as at any time. Of course I do not urge anybody to register approval or disapproval but I think they should know what it's all about.

There will first be a constitutional amendment over which Newton is not likely to become excited and which will undoubtedly pass since there is no opposition, as far as I have been able to learn. There is, it seems, a provision in the constitution which states that no town of less than 12,000 inhabitants may become a city. It happens that there are towns of 6,000 and over which want representative town government. This latter means that where there are too many voters to crowd into the town hall for a regular meeting representatives may be elected to act for the voters. That form of government already obtains in many places. Fear that the constitution as it now reads may preclude representative town meeting in towns of less than 12,000. If the referendum is offered to clear all doubt from the minds of the General Court. So, if you want to help set matters right and make the constitution clearer than ever you have the chance.

The second question will be that of reducing the amount of preference a war veteran may receive in civil service examinations. This is a matter in which there is the most profound interest. Friends and opponents of this proposed law have been active in putting before the voters their views as to why it should or should not pass. You will hear from them yourself, so whatever you do consider seriously its importance.

Now the third question is one that hits Newton and hits it hard. Do you or do you not want Sunday sports conducted in your city at which an admission fee may be charged, collections of money taken up and the participating players paid for their services? It is up to Mrs. Miss and Mr. Voter of Newton.

Remember Newton voted several years ago to permit Sunday sports between 2 and 6 P. M. If you are a follower of baseball, that is Sunday baseball, you know how this has worked-out. I myself am not, so I will take the word of anybody whose word is worth taking, providing they will not accuse me of grand larceny. The question that is to come before you at the polls November 2 is this: Shall the Legislature enact a law which permits the City Council of cities and the voters of towns to decide whether or not there shall be professional sports on Sunday.

Mark you, the decision of Newton is to be made by the City Council, which, of course, means our Board of Aldermen. It will not be the same as the question of Sunday amateur sports which the voters themselves agreed upon (at least a majority did) by voting "yes." The matter will be settled by the Aldermen, providing the statute is accepted.

On this, too, you are going to hear from both sides which means that considerable work will be done. I am not particularly excited myself, but I think I know which way I shall vote.

There is such a thing as rain insurance. At least I am so informed by a long-time friend and reader of this column. It appears that one need not consult an insurance agency to obtain it. Neither does it cost money—another most desirable feature.

"I met a good friend of ours," he told me, "and I noticed he was carrying an umbrella. I asked him why, for I was really eager to learn, inasmuch as the day was a glorious one and the sky cloudless. He informed me that he had no advance knowledge of future meteorological conditions, that he was not banking on a study of the U. S. Government's weather map and was not a weather sharp in any sense of the word.

"He told me flatly that he knew if he carried an umbrella he could be sure that it would not rain. I wonder if that is sound reasoning? What do you think?"

Frankly, I am no prophet, mind-reader or trance medium. Although I have heard Houdini hold forth on the frauds practiced on credulous believers in the occult, I am prone to think there is much in rain insurance as described above.

Having carried a raincoat more or less regularly since Labor Day, I am convinced that the way to be certain that the gentle rain will not descend is to go about prepared at any moment for a no-rain.

With the advent of autumn I find myself compelled to resume the study of train and trolley car transportation. When the Summer days were with us and traffic was light it was not a matter of grave concern for the reason that there was usually ample room available. The return to their permanent homes of my friends and fellow citizens demands that I be more alert if I wish to obtain a place to sit down.

Like the animals who entered Noah's Ark, we travelers by train, street car and omnibus, must take our places two by two. This does not include the new Boston & Albany Suburban passenger coaches, which thoughtfully provide for many standees.

But "two by two" is the rule and therefore when one travels alone one seeks to obtain that half of the seat nearer the window. Not always is it possible to do so, particularly if one is not in the forefront of the throng boarding the vehicle.

Very well then, if the next best offered is a half-seat what are you going to do about it? Are you going to drop into the one you first encounter or are you going to look the field over and pick out the broadest space discernible?

There is the traveler who not only seizes the half nearest the window, but spreads newspapers, magazines, bundles or bags on the vacant half. He is not as bad as the one who sits on the half nearer the aisle, hoping thus to discourage any attempt to share the seat with him. We confess that we have in a bold moment forced these individuals to move their belongings, but that smacks of controversy and is best avoided.

Our experience has been varied. We have chosen to sit alongside thin people because we felt that they were not capable of "hogging." We have also sat with stout folks for the reason there was no other place.

The result of this painstaking study is that we have decided to take our chances with the so-called "fat" citizens. They seem to realize their elephantine proportions and are willing to draw themselves together, whenever possible, to make room. Maybe this is proof of the proverb that fat people are good-natured. Without further argument we commend our theory to those who patronize public conveyances.

KIWANIS CLUB

The regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club was held Tuesday at the Abundant Club. President Frank Wilcox presided, and about 40 members were present. The guest of the day was Col. Frederick W. Stopford, Commander of Newton Post, American Legion. Within a few days, Colonel Stopford will leave for an extended tour of duty in the Philippine Islands, where he will be in charge of some of the coast defenses of that region. He told of the pleasure he has derived from his residence in Newton for the past year and one-half years, and expressed the hope that he might return to this city again to reside.

Colonel Stopford told of the tremendous improvements made in the Philippines since the United States took possession of them after the Spanish War. He gave an outline of political conditions in our Asiatic possessions and opined that Congress should decide definitely as to the future of these islands. He gave his listeners an idea of the importance of the Philippines in determining the status of this country in China and the Far East. Referring to the World Tours which are now commonly made by Americans, Colonel Stopford extended an invitation to any Newtonian who may visit Manila, to get in touch with him.

Next Monday the Newton Kiwanis Club will meet with the Boston Kiwanis Club at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY AND THE SCHOOLS

Newton Free Library is again ready to cooperate in every way with all the schools of the city.

Book deposits, to be used by pupils for supplementary reading, either in the classroom or at home, will be supplied to teachers in any of the Newton schools, public or private. These are selected by the School Librarian and delivered by the Library truck.

Teachers will find our picture collection of over 17,000 prints useful in teaching and for room decoration. We will also lend lantern slides from our collection of 6000 views of travel, history, industries, natural history and art.

The following titles are recent additions to the Library's collection of books on education and subjects of special interest to teachers.

Good, A. Sociology and Education. Sociology from the viewpoint of education.

Groves E. R. Social Problems and Education. "Concrete, up-to-date and well written."

Hamilton, A. E. The Real Boy and the New School "Stimulating, speculative, and engrossing to all interested in the welfare of children."

Kilpatrick, W. H. Foundations of Method "The author, a professor in Columbia University, conceives of educational method as a means of putting to use the most and best of the child's innate resources, and of guiding subsequent experience for the best results. Lively, conversational style and lucid presentation. Suitable for the casual investigator and the student."

Russell, Bertrand, A. W. Education and the Good Life "A stimulating book, simply written, full of common sense and practical advice and decidedly readable."

Russell, W. F. American Education (Reading with a Purpose)

"One of the leading educators here discusses what education is and ought to be and illustrates his remarks by short reviews of seven recent books."

Have You LAME FEET?

The foot has twenty-six delicately suspended small bones. Weak feet, fallen arches, flat foot, bunions and calluses are not natural to normal feet, and will disappear through corrective treatment and adjustment of the bones, then wearing the proper shoes.

Many continue to suffer from foot troubles through trying such make-shifts as ready-made arch supports or so-called corrective shoes which cannot fit properly the vast variety of different shapes of feet, may as well wear ready-made eye-glasses or false teeth. Misplaced bones or stretched ligaments adjusted or corrected by a system which admits of no failure.

It costs nothing to call and talk it over. Free advice upon the correct shoe for YOUR feet, upon a smaller more stylish shoe may be worn; we have no interest in any shoe for sale.

NEW REGIME AT ALLEN SCHOOL

Under the name of the Allen School, the well-known local military institution begins its 94th year on September 24. Robert A. Patterson, until recently head of the junior department at Westminster School, is the new headmaster at Allen, taking the place of Dr. Thomas Chalmers, who resigned in order to give his whole time to university work. Mr. Patterson has surrounded himself with a staff of experienced teachers, some of the former Allen faculty and some of the Westminster and other large preparatory school faculties.

The school buildings and grounds were extensively renovated this summer. The athletic fields, gymnasium and swimming pool have been put in first-class condition for the opening of school.

Although primarily a boarding school, Allen is accepting a number of boys from Newton and surrounding cities as day students. These boys come to school at eight and leave after the sports period at five in the afternoon.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Under the general management of Ralph L. Flanders, who took over the active business direction of the school in 1904, the New England Conservatory of Music has grown to be one of the premier schools of professional music in the world. Its pupils numbered last year 3,443 young people representing every American state and many foreign countries. It is the ambition of the directors and managers to offer courses in all subjects pertaining to the education of a professional musician. For such a purpose the Conservatory building, a commodious structure at Huntington Avenue and Gainsborough Streets, has been equipped more thoroughly than, perhaps, any other music school building in the world, with a magnificent concert hall and smaller halls, with concert and practice organs, musical and orchestral libraries, classrooms and practice rooms; with the facilities of a full sized orchestra conducted by Wallace Goodrich, dean of the faculty, a chorus, arrangements for ensemble, for normal teaching and numerous other special facilities that are requisite to preparing young men and young women for careers as musicians.

NEWTON CITY EMPLOYEES

A. Leslie Moriarty, Jeremiah Ford, Jeremiah Herlihy, James Saunders and Bartholomew Flaherty of Newton City Employees Local No. 175 attended the 21st annual convention of the Federation of State, City and Town Employees at Worcester last week. Mr. Moriarty was elected State Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Herlihy, a National Vice-President, and Mr. Ford a member of the Finance Committee. Alderman Daniel O'Connell was a guest of the Newton delegates during the convention.

Newton City Employees will celebrate the 20th anniversary of their organization tomorrow by holding an outing at Danforth Farms Country Club at Saxtonville. The affair, which will start at 10:30 in the morning, will continue until evening, and will include a program of sports, and a chicken dinner. The sports will be held under the direction of Ernest Hermann, Director of Newton playgrounds and suitable prizes will be awarded. Invitations have been extended to officials of the city to attend and it is expected that a ball game will be played between a team composed of aldermen and one made up of city employees.

FOSTER-LANE

The wedding of Miss Margaret Lane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Richardson Lane of Waban, and Mr. Dwight Foster of Brush Hill road, Milton, took place this afternoon, the ceremony being performed at four o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Winsor road, by Rev. Frank Hale Touret assisted by Rev. E. A. Dodd.

The bridal gown was of white satin with satin and chiffon train and she wore the conventional veil of tulle with lace and pearl band. Her sisters, the Misses Beatrice and Hortense Lane were bridesmaids and were in rust colored crepe and brown velvet with large felt hats to match the crepe, bound and banded with darker brown and with large flat flowers on side to match bouquets of fall flowers. Mr. Foster had Charles Campbell Peterson, Jr., of Brookline as his best man.

A reception followed the ceremony, the house being attractively decorated with smilax, gladioli, roses and delphinium.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster will reside on Church street, Weston, where they will be at home after November 1st.

WHEREAS, Elino A. Carter, executor of the will of Arthur H. Soden, late of said Newton, deceased, has presented to said Court his petition, representing that Mary E. Soden, the widow of said Arthur H. Soden, has waived the will of her husband; and said petitioner has received the sum of $109,200 as dividends from certain capital stock of the National Exhibition Company, that said petitioner is informed and believes that said sum approximately $66,125 was paid out of income of said corporation, which had been earned and had accrued prior to the death of said testator and formed a part of the surplus of said corporation at the time of the death of said testator; and praying for the instructions of the Court as to how much of said sum of $109,200 said Mary E. Soden is entitled to receive as her share as the widow of said deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in the County of Middlesex, on the thirteenth day of October, A. D. 1926, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each of you, who shall be held to answer said petition, fourteen days at least before said Court, or if any of you shall not be so found, wherever found or by leaving a copy thereof at your usual place of abode, or by mailing a copy thereof to the last address known to said petitioner; and also, unless it shall be made to appear to the Court by affidavit that you all have had actual notice of the proceeding, by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be seven days, at least before said Court.

Witness, John C. Leggat, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this seventh day of September, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six.

GET OUT THE VOTE

Conference of Several Organizations Under the Auspices of Newton Post, American Legion

A meeting was held at the Newton Post, American Legion, Tuesday night under the auspices of Newton Post, American Legion, in conjunction with the national campaign of the National Civic League to stimulate citizens to form their duty as voters. Col. Clifford, Commander of Newton Post, American Legion, presided and explained that the National Civic League had requested the American Legion to undertake the work of arousing interest in citizenship because this organization has posts in nearly every city and town in the country. C. Raymond Cabot lauded the personnel of the National Civic League and suggested that some plan be devised to arouse interest among the voters of Newton. Leon B. Rogers said that a Good Government League should be organized in Newton and should be composed of voters of all political parties. He realized it will take a long time to make such an organization effective because of the suspicion it might be formed for political purposes. He did not think that existing organizations can help much in causing citizens to go to the polls. Mr. Minton, representing the Newton Civic Executive Council, said he couldn't understand why persons neglect their civic duty and suggested every church bell in the city be rung on the mornings of election days, for 15 or 30 minutes.

Philip W. Carter said that in addition to getting the vote out, citizens should be made conversant with those who are running for office, so that they may vote intelligently. According to Mr. Carter, unintelligent voters should not vote at all. While certain organizations can be of material assistance, a separate organization will be needed. Mayor Childs said that the average fellow knows when the primaries and elections are held, and through the papers has a fair idea of the candidates and what they stand for. He is very anxious to see every voter go to the polls and will do all he can to assist any movement to bring about such a result. He told that in one village in Newton, on the Sunday before election day, every house is visited, the residents urged to vote, and transportation provided for, if needed. He stated that if this system had not been adopted, Mayor Wilson, Mayor Weeks and himself, would not have been elected.

CITY HALL CLAMBAKE

The City Hall Employees of Newton are blessed with good digestion. Persons who can consume clams by the dozen, then eat freely of lobster, together with all the "fixins" that go with a clambake, and after partaking of such a feast, go riding madly on the back of a galloping steed, are possessed of healthy stomachs.

Under the lead of City Physician Lowe, department heads and clerks from City Hall, together with Mayor Childs and several of the aldermen, journeyed Wednesday evening to the Middlesex Sportsmen's Club at Spy Pond, Arlington, and enjoyed a clambake and "get-together." The first affair of this kind was held last year and made such a hit that the Newton folks repeated the visit this year. After the feast had disappeared, Dr. Lowe, as master of ceremonies introduced N. T. Hardy, who for many years has been one of the moving spirits in the club at Arlington. Mr. Hardy told of having been a pal of "Doc" Lowe for 35 years, and extended the hospitality of the Middlesex Sportsmen's Club to the visitors, eulogized Mayor Childs and accredited Newton with being the best locality in the state, outside of Arlington. Freeman Young, another prominent member of the Arlington organization was next introduced, and spoke briefly.

Mayor Childs referred to the sale of City of Newton bonds on that day at a high figure, as evidence that Newton is regarded by bankers as being a well-governed city. He commended the holding of such social gatherings by the employees as conducive to better relations among those participating and asserted that "friendship" is one of the most important factors in assuring peace and prosperity. Dr. Lowe introduced City Solicitor Bartlett as an official whose knowledge and imperturbability make him a valuable asset to the city. Mr. Bartlett spoke briefly in a humorous vein.

Street Commissioner Stuart told those present that he had known every Mayor of Newton since 1874 and that none was better than Mayor Childs. He expressed the hope that Mr. Childs will become Governor of this state and that Mr. Bartlett will be elected Mayor of Newton. City Collector Newhall paid his tribute to the excellence of the sea food he had consumed. Alderman Heathcote referred to the two-platoon system which is being sought by the Newton firemen. He urged its adoption as a humane step for the firemen and their families. He contrasted the willingness of the aldermen to appropriate such a large sum as $98,000 for a city stable, after but a couple of hours discussion, with their unwillingness to accord slight increases in salaries to the clerks working faithfully in City Hall. He asserted it is more important to accord just treatment to human beings than to be lavish on expenditures on public buildings.

A Leslie Moriarty, President of Newton City Employees' Local, the organization composed of the men working in the street, water and sewer departments, told the gathering of the bill which will be acted on at the coming session of the Legislature. This bill will include every person working for municipalities as beneficiaries of the Workmen's Compensation Act. Mr. Moriarty stated that the Pension Act should also apply to all classes of employees. At present the City Hall employees enjoy

DOG SHOW

To the Dog Lovers of Newton and vicinity it will probably be welcome news to see that for the fifth year in succession, the Middlesex County Kennel Club will hold its annual Fall Show on the spacious grounds of the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Columbus Day, October 12.

Held on October 12th of each year, this event has been the fitting climax of the open air shows in Massachusetts, and last year's show was a most interesting affair with about five hundred actual dogs entered.

The premium list for this show has just been issued, and a perusal of it shows an increase in the number of specials offered for competition of some hundred and twenty more than was offered last year. The cash specials offered open to all by the club amounts to about $500, and this has been almost equalled by the total of the offerings made by friends and the various specialty clubs.

The list of judges—many well known fanciers and breeders being included—is one of the best that has been offered to exhibitors for some time. Mr. William Prescott Wolcott of Readville judges practically all the Terriers except Irish and Bull Terriers, the first mentioned being taken by Mr. M. P. Mulcahy, who had such a splendid entry at last year's show, that the club decided it was a good move to repeat. Bull Terriers will have a new judge in Mrs. T. E. L. Kemp, long known as one of New England's best all round judges.

Mrs. Kemp also judges Collies, a breed with which she has long been identified. Great Danes, Greyhounds, (Continued on Page 8)

EMPLOYEES OUTING

Newton City Employees Local 175, observed its 20th Anniversary on Saturday by holding an outing at the Danforth Farms Country Club, Saxonville. Employees of the Street, Water, Sewer and Playground Departments left West Newton at 10.30 in autos and trucks, over 200 strong. They had as guests Mayor Childs, Street Commissioner Stuart, Water Commissioner Whitney, Supervisor of Playgrounds Hermann, Aldermen Madden, Earle, Collins, Grebenstein, O'Connell, Leahy, Heathcote, Noone, Gordon, Holgdon, Hall, Hawkins, and Representative Saltonstall.

Arriving at the grounds ball games were promptly started between teams representing the various departments. The first game was between the Street Department and the Water Department. The employees of the water department won a closely contested game by the score of 6 to 4. Joe McMahon twirled a good game for the street workers but did not receive the support given to Cavallo by his colleagues on the Water Department nine. Those who played on the winning team were—Cavallo, p; Brennan, c; Herlihy, 1st; Roach, 2nd; Lombardi, 3rd; Cardello, s.s.; Tempesto, l.f.; Lee, c.f.; Guzzi, r.f.

Harry Lee, the popular colored boy of the Water Department showed his heels to a dozen competitors in the 50-yard dash. Joe Scrocco of the Playground Department was second and Lombardi of the Water Department, third. The walking race was won by Scrocco, with Lombardi of the Water Department, second, and Rouse of the Forestry Department, third. (Continued on Page 8)

THE FLORIDA CATASTROPHE

Storm Described By A Former Newton Resident. List of Newton People in the Danger Zone

The following letter describing the devastating hurricane in Florida was written by George Bryson, who will be remembered as a former Newton High football player, to his mother, Mrs. John Kelly, of 5 Hovey street, Newton. John Kelly, referred to in the letter, was formerly a well known business man of Newtonville, and Mr. Gleason was a resident of Newton Lower Falls.

2142 Ponce DeLeon Blvd.,
Coral Gables, Fla.
Sept. 19, 1926.

Dear Mother:

Undoubtedly you have had reports about the terrible disaster here. Last Friday, the 18th, we had warnings that a hurricane was due to hit this city. However, in view of the fact that the previous one that struck here in July when we were up North was not very serious, no one anticipated that this one would be any worse. Well, we went off to Hialeah that night to the Hi-Li games, and returned about 12.30 A.M. The wind was blowing quite strong and it was raining slightly. We retired at 1.00 A.M., and shortly after the wind became very strong and the rain heavier, and soon we were in the middle of it, rain in torrents, wind at the rate of 150 miles an hour. Of course we became alarmed and got out of bed, and lighted a small candle, as by this time the electric power was off. By three o'clock in the morning it was getting worse, and the house was rocking, and we expected to be blown away. Finally, crash bang, and our windows started to break. This was a warning to us, so we got dressed and out in the storm, and had all we could do to hang on to the stairway for dear life or else we would be blown away. We managed to make the apartment downstairs, and there sat up with two other families all night until day-break, and the storm was still going strong. About 6.30 it let up, and we were all happy that it was over. We went out and started to view the ruins in our immediate neighborhood, and returned to apartment and proceeded to mop up the floors, get a bite to eat, and to our surprise at 7.45 A.M. the wind started to blow hard again and in a short while were were again in the middle of a storm. This was worse than the other, (if such was possible). It was simply awful, and my dear Sadie and I were alone in our apartment. Shortly, crash—bang—and our roof started to go from our heads, and roof blew off the porch. It was now a case of sink or swim. It seemed as though we would have to jump out a back window for our lives, as the wind was coming right straight for our front door, and we were unable to get out. However, we decided we must try and go, so we grabbed our coats, and once again out in the storm, fortunately made downstairs, and there remained until 1.00 P.M. (Continued on Page 6)

NEWTON 3, QUINCY 0

Over 3000 spectators watched the Newton and Quincy high school football teams try the lid off the 1926 football season at Clafin Field last Saturday afternoon. Incidentally they saw the orange and black emerge the victors in a well-played first game.
Newton's margin over the opposing eleven was one field goal which Frank Spain, quarterback, booted over the bar shortly after the final quarter opened for the only score of the game, Newton 3, Quincy 0.

Captain Andres won the toss for Newton and elected to defend the south goal and Quincy kicked off.
Clark caught the oval on the 23-yard line and returned it about seven yards.
Quincy kept Newton on the defensive during the first period as McGrane kept forcing them back with his punts. Marsh, Newton's right guard was hurt and replaced by Murray.
Several fumbles and offside penalties marked both teams play showing that the players had not quite got the feel of the ball nor the timing of play.
Clark eleven made two first downs.
One of Quincy's first downs came on a deceptive play which netted ten yards, the other was the result of a five-yard gain and an offside penalty against the local team. Newton gained 30-yards on an exchange of punts near the close of the quarter which ended with the ball in Newton's possession on Quincy's 42-yard mark.

After two plays in the second period Spain took a forward from Proctor and put the pigskin on the 20-yard stripe. Three plays netted but 4 yards and Spain tried a field goal from the 27-yard line which went low. McGrane of Quincy made a pretty end run of 20-yards after the ball was put in play again. After an exchange of kicks Quincy had the ball at midfield. Foy, centre and captain of the visitors, on two plays in succession passed the ball back over his full back's head and Quincy was lucky to still have the ball on her own 10-yard stripe. Had Newton's ends been more experienced and a little faster it would easily have been possible for one of them to have scooped the ball up and let loose for a touchdown. Quincy then kicked out of danger. Newton failed to make a first down and Quincy regained the ball at midfield. McIntyre made a hard tackle and the Quincy runner dropped the ball but a teammate recovered it as the half ended.

Quincy opened the third period by kicking off to Newton. Gradually by several exchanges of punts and forward passes Newton forced Quincy back until the 20-yard line was reached. Here Spain fell back and attempted another field goal which also went wide of its mark. After two plays which netted but four yards gain—one a seven yard gain and the other a three yard loss, McGrane, Quincy's best back, dropped back to kick. Andres was through on the play and blocked the kicker. Proctor fell on it on Quincy's 23-yard line.
Spain took the ball and went through right tackle where his interference had opened up a hole big enough to drive a pair of horses through. He wasn't stopped until he had reached the 12-yard line. Clark made two yards and Spain three when the period ended.

On the opening of the fourth period Proctor could not gain. It was fourth down with five yards to go so Spain again dropped back for a field goal.
This time he was successful and Newton had scored its first points of the season. Proctor kicked off to the opposents 30-yd. line and the ball bounced over the Quincy player's head to the 12-yard line where Quincy retrieved it.
McGrane immediately punted out of danger to Spain. Spain caught the ball on the 47-yard line and returned it 15 yards before going down. A forward was intercepted by Quincy but the player fumbled it and so the pass was incomplete giving Newton a break. Proctor gained six yards around the end. Spain again attempted a field goal and got off an almost perfect kick from his 27-yard line. The oval cleared even the uprights but it was about a foot outside of them. Quincy started to open up their play and LeCain tossed a pretty pass to Smith who was nearly free. He was brought down at mid-field with but one other Newton man between him and the goal-line. On the play Quincy had gained thirty yards. Brown intercepted a Quincy pass on his 33-yard line and Newton kicked to Quincy's 35-yard mark.
Quincy again tried the forward pass but Joe Gilligan, a brother of the former Newton pair, Francis and Tom Gilligan, who had replaced Brown, intercepted it on the 48-yard line.
Proctor heaved a pass to Spain who ran it to the Quincy 30-yard line.
Newton failed to make first down and Quincy took the ball on her 27-yard line. Proctor knocked down a Quincy pass but Quincy recovered it.
The orange and black line was through when McGrane attempted to kick but another Quincy back got in his way and he kicked him in the back. Newton recovered the ball on Quincy's 23-yard line. Two plays netted five yards when the whistle blew. The summary:

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

CATHOLIC CLUB CITY CHAMPIONS

The Newton Catholic Club of West Newton won the City Baseball championship and the first leg on the GRAPHIC CUP by taking three straight games from the Earnshaw Mills team, winners of the first half in the Newton Twilight league, last week. The first game, a full account of which was given in last week's issue was played on the West Newton Common and the Catholic Club returned the winners 4 to 1. Friday night at Victory Field the West Newton team won 7 to 2, and Saturday afternoon on the Common, they clinched the title by trimming the Earnshaw outfit 9 to 2.

Between the halves of the sixth inning of the final game Mayor Childs presented the Catholic Club with the watch-fobs which they won as champions of the second-half race of the Twilight league. In a short speech the Mayor congratulated the members of both teams and of the other teams in the league for the successful season—the first season of organized baseball in the city—and expressed the hope that the league would continue to flourish in coming years. He said that all the money in all the Newtons would not tempt him to take the place of either "Buck" Donahue or "Rufe" Bond as an umpire.

Friday's game was featured by two home runs, one by Cronin and the other by Gilligan. The latter stretched a triple into a circuit clout by taking advantage of Sweeney's sore arm and beat the throw to the plate. Before the game there was a little discussion over the playing of O'Keefe of the Pals at third by the Earnshaw team. Manager Devine of the Club refused to countenance such action and Casey went to the hot corner. In the opening inning with Lyons on second Gilligan slashed a terrific blow to centre field but Eddie Lyman made a wonderful running catch and robbed Gilligan of a possible home run. Farrell, however, came through with a hit and scored Lyons from second. Earnshaw tried to even the count but Lyons stopped them with a one-hand stab of Sweeney's hit. Cronin poled his homer in the second inning but Hawkes retired the other three batters on strikes. Ryan fanned all three of the Earnshaw batters. In the third both teams went out in order. The Catholic Club tallied three times in the fourth by the aid of Hawkes poor throw. O'Keefe of the Earnshaw team threw to second of Hickey's punt, both men being safe, a double steal, sacrifice fly, and two hits. Sweeney and Porter connected for the home team's first hits but the next three men were easy outs. In the fifth Gilligan made the circuit for another Clafin run. The Earnshaw team scored twice in their half of the fifth after two were down. Eddie Lyman led off and was safe on an error, the next two went out. Eddie's brother hit safely and Sweeney hit to Ryan who fumbled and threw threw wild letting the two runs count. Schliepparker went into the box for the Earnshaw team in the sixth. He didn't look any different from the Club than any other pitcher and they scored two runs which ended the scoring.

With two games won the Catholic Club took the field Saturday afternoon with confidence written all over them. Gilligan, who played a prominent part in leading the Catholic Club's fight for honors, took a day off and saw Newton open the football season at Clafin Field. "Buck" Donahue, the umpire, attended the club employees' outing at Saxville.
Switzer went to the box for the Earnshaw and Dowling essayed to pitch the Club to victory. Earnshaw won the toss and took the field. The Club batters got to Switzer promptly.
Leary singled and stole second. Lyons advanced him to third and when Farrell tripled, scoring Lyons, Schliepparker was passed. Butler tripled scoring his two teammates making four runs for the inning. Earnshaw went out in order. No other score was made until the last of the sixth, although Schlieparker came close in the third. He tripled but was thrown out at the plate when he attempted to score on a wild pitch. In the last of the sixth the Earnshaw team scored twice when Mooney, after getting to first when Butler could not stop his hot shot, came all the way round on Maher's long single to left field for the first tally. Maher took second on the throw-in and scored on Howley's hit over second.

The Catholic Club came right back with four runs in the first of the seventh. Lyons started off with a home run. McCarthy beat out an in-single sending McCarthy to third and then promptly stole second. Cronin singled scoring McCarthy. Butler taking third. Cronin stole. O'Connor singled, scoring his two teammates, making the score 8 to 2 in favor of the Club. McCarthy scored the other run for the Club in the ninth. He singled to centre, went to third on a wild pitch and rode home on Butler's hit.

QUINCY QUIPS

Newton high played a "good" game for an opening game. There are several loose ends to be picked up and many mistakes were made but tomorrow's spectators will see a marked improvement over last week's play. One of the outstanding faults noticed last week was the lack of cooperation of several of the players.
This is usually a noticeable thing in a first game due to the lack of experience of the new men and the unfamiliarity with the signals of some of the veterans as well.

Quincy's ends outplayed Newton by far. They were fast coming down the field and stopped and runs time and again. Newton will miss Mc-Cullough, Hemen, and Ramsden, the wingmen of last year's eleven, but there are several promising candidates in Scheinsain, Rymer, and Bennett. A little more experience and knowledge end play will bring out the ability these boys possess.

Frank Spain played a real game at quarterback. A conservative game, but the only kind of a game that should have been played. He relied upon his veterans, largely, and it was the veterans that brought victory out of what seemed most likely to be a scoreless tie. Andres blocked a kick and Proctor fell on it to give Newton its chance to score. Newton had other chances to score but Spain could not negotiate a field goal.
There were many who thought that Newton should have played for a touchdown but it is doubtful if a touchdown would have materialized.
It was fourth down and five yards to go and it was safer to play for three points than six. With but a few plays to work with and none of these having gained more than five yards except on rare occasions, Spain's judgment was correct.

An interesting feature of Saturday's game was the fact that there is another Gilligan in the lineup for Newton. In the fourth period Joe Gilligan, younger brother of Tom and Francis, was put in at left half back.
He is a sophomore and while in the game showed himself to be a promising candidate. All Newton will be watching his career with interest in the hope that he will fill the shoes that his two brothers so capably filled when on the orange and black teams.

Marsh, who was injured on the second play in the Quincy game, will probably not be in shape to play tomorrow but will be able to take part in the practice sessions next week and get in again. Natick high on the 2nd of next month.

There were many athletes at the Newton-Quincy game last Saturday.
Among them were Capt. Clem Coady of Harvard; Ned Dewing; Guy Holbrook, Tommy Woods, an ex-Harvard star; Charles Linehan, Harvard scout; John L. Donovan, Jr., Harvard 2nd team line coach; Coach Polly Francis of Belmont; Mike Gullian; Francis and Tom Gilligan, Carleton McCullough, and Chris Vachon.

CLAFIN FIELD VS. DUST

Clafin Field is a disgrace to Newton athletics. It is far out of keeping with what any thinking citizen would choose for an athletic field and with the rest of Newton's school facilities.
Last Saturday at the Quincy game
there were at least two inches of dust if not more in many parts of the field, and that dust was being inhaled by twenty-two boys. Football, played under the proper conditions, can be a healthful sport, but the 3000 spectators present will undoubtedly agree that the condition of the field that day was not in the least beneficial. It may not have been harmful but cigarette smoke would have been just as harmless. For many years much has been said about the rocks and stones which inhabit the field but they are nothing compared with the dust. It is to be hoped that something will be done in the near future and done right to provide a fit athletic field for Newton. Suggestion was made that the field be sprinkled with water in the morning before a game. It might help a little but not enough to mention. In fact that field was watered the day before the game but the dust was still there. Enough water to lay the dust would make a quagmire of the gridiron which would be almost as bad as the dust. It is generally known that there is greater chance of injury on a wet and slippery field than on a dry one. But there is such a thing as one too dry.
And Clafin Field was that kind of a field last Saturday.

SPORT NOTES

"Dandy" Lyons, a backfield man on last year's high school eleven, is playing a similar position on Team D at Boston College. The Chestnut Hill college has no freshman rule and Lyons is therefore eligible for a varsity position.

Clement Coady, captain of the Harvard team, will probably be used at tackle this year instead of in the backfield as was the case last season.
The Newton boy is too valuable a linesman to be placed in the backfield where there are several veterans competing for positions. Coady is, however, the best punter on the squad and unless some other man can take care of this end of the game the Crimson leader may possibly do the kicking.

Jake Stafford will undoubtedly be the first string quarterback for Harvard this season. The former star high school player has been handicapped the past few years by a trick knee which was operated on last spring. Stafford has fully recovered from the operation and should be one of the outstanding players on the 1926 Crimson outfit.

Ned Dewing, former guard when at high school, is out for the same position at Harvard. He got into a few games last year on the freshman outfit but was injured and was forced to sit on the bench for some time.

The Providence Steamrollers ran roughshod over their opponents, the Submarine Base eleven, last Sunday and won 41 to 0. Mike Gullian started at right tackle but later made way for a substitute while he rested.

Newton High's opponent tomorrow afternoon at Clafin Field will be the Providence Technical high school eleven. The game will be called at 3 P. M. Last year the visitors took home the victory by a 6-0 score and Dickinson's outfit has not forgotten it.

When success smiles upon you as a dinner hostess ..

"WHAT a wonderful cake! You must be sure to give me the recipe." How often when dining at a friend's house have you thought that, even if you didn't ask it!

And like as not, the recipe came from the Boston Globe's Household Department. More than 60,000 recipes, furnished by the women of New England, are on file in that department.

Whatever pertains to the home, the family, and the very important question of food—you'll find it discussed in the Globe by the women of New England.

You can become a member of the Globe's Household Club—and enjoy all these privileges—for just 2 cents a day. And to attend the meetings you don't have to leave your own front porch.

For news of your own community—every day—there's nothing like the Globe. And if you are going into Boston shopping, you will find in the Globe the latest news from the big stores.

New England men buy the Globe

THE men and boys in the family read the Globe, too. General news, local, national and foreign, makes the Globe a strong favorite with men.

And then there are Uncle Dudley's Editorials. Judging by the letters in our files, he's the most popular writer in all New England.

Many men read the Globe primarily for its sports. Not only are the leading professional and amateur sports amply covered, but plenty of space is devoted to local sports of all kinds.

Every week-day—and Sunday—see that your newsdealer hands you the Globe.

By J. C. BRIMBLECOM

No. 4

The first stop the next day was made at Monterey, where breakfast was served at the Hotel Del Monte, one of America's finest and most exclusive hostels. This beautiful edifice is surrounded by a 20,000 acre private sports preserve, which provides practically every outdoor activity at its best and with every facility for indoor entertainment. It is a most charming spot, for it is quite new, distinctively odd, yet modern in every respect. Of Spanish architecture, fire-proof and with its innovations provides a haven for visitors from all sections of the globe. The main floor lounge with its paved terraces on both sides is decorated with murals by Groesbeck. The pictures depict the landing of Cabrillo on Monterey Peninsula and the erection of the missions.

Although the editorial party numbered 350, the large dining room proved amply large for the visitors as well as the 500 other guests of the hotel. This great dining hall is 210 feet long, 50 feet wide, with ceiling 27 feet high with no column supports. Monterey is a quaint city, teeming with historical interest. This was the first capital of California, which was moved to Sacramento in 1849, following the gold rush. Here stood the first custom house on the Pacific. The first theatre. First brick building in California. First Federal Court established in 1836. It was here that the first constitution of California was drafted. The old capital building is standing today and is used for a city hall. Aside from its historical atmosphere Monterey is a thriving city of nearly ten thousand population. There is one objection to Monterey, the odor which comes from numerous sardine canneries.

Motor cars from Monterey and Salinas, were used to convey the editors along the beach road, a seventeen mile drive over property owned by the hotel corporation. In this park are numerous Monterey cypress trees, said to be 5000 years old and the only species in the world. Along the rocky shore we saw hundreds of seals and hundreds of thousands of birds of the sea. Near here we visited Pebble Beach golf course, famed the nation over as one of the trickiest and most beautiful courses of the country.

Carmel-by-the-Sea, known throughout the land as the home of artists, writers, sculptors, poets and musicians lies in one of the most picturesque sections of America. Among the prominent people owning homes here are: Samuel G. Blythe, Harry Leon Wilson, James Hopper, Sinclair Lewis, Gouverneur Morris, Alice MacGowan, Mary Austin and others.

Luncheon was served shortly after noon by the Chamber of Commerce at Santa Cruz in the pavilion of the Santa Cruz Seaside Company. Bathing was enjoyed in the Pacific while others enjoyed a swim in one of the largest natatoriums on the continent. Santa Cruz has many attractions to offer visitors aside from its beach attractions. It is also the center of flower bulbs, for it is the largest bulb center in the world. In orchards, fields, and even in small plots, we observed millions of plants that will supply bulbs this fall to cities throughout the land. At present four cars of artichokes are being shipped daily to eastern cities by express. New school buildings, dwellings, business houses and other improvements to this thriving city were noted on the tour that day.

One of the interesting features of Santa Cruz was a river with real water. Heretofore we have been shown rivers, or alleged rivers without any water, although bridged and banked evidently for the winter and spring floods. Santa Cruz had the first real river we had seen.

During the afternoon, our members were guests of the Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce on a trip in cars over San Lorenzo drive, a most picturesque highway to the giant redwoods. A wonderful view may be obtained at several points on this drive of the valley nestling at the foot of towering hills and mountains with great redwoods towering hundreds of feet high. In the park we stood for an hour inspecting the giant redwoods, one of which measures 306 feet high, 66 feet in circumference and 22 feet in diameter. This tree contains nearly half million feet of timber or enough to build 30 houses with five rooms each.

Two special trains were moved to the park or Big Tree Grove on the Southern Pacific, where the party entered the journey along the Pacific Coast for San Francisco, to be met by a committee of 100 citizens, who escorted the visitors up town to the convention hotel. On reaching their rooms at the Cliff Hotel in San Francisco, delegates found baskets of fruit, each with a card, bearing the name of the guest and conveying the hotel's compliments.

Following the extraordinary round of entertainment furnished our party in Southern California, it did not seem possible that San Francisco could maintain such a pace but I will leave it to my readers to decide if there appears any diminution of California hospitality on the rest of our trip.

Assembling at the municipal ferry building the next morning, we viewed the great relief map of California, which vividly portrays this wonderful state. Aboard the giant ferry, which has a capacity of 5,000 passengers, the visitors were amazed at the great progress that has been made in development along the water front since their visit here in 1915.

Arriving in Oakland, 200 waiting automobiles were used to convey the party on a scenic drive of Oakland and Berkeley. Oakland is a thriving industrial city. Along the bay 124 new manufacturing and distributing houses were located last year. Many others are planning to establish branch houses here in view of the fact that

Oakland enjoys very low freight rates and is located advantageously as a distribution point. Thirty-nine million dollars is now being spent to establish a new water supply through giant aqueducts from a mountain nearly 200 miles away. This water will be brought to Oakland in the largest steel pipes ever before used for aqueducts. Instead of threading pipes or sealing joints with lead, these will be electrically welded, forming the longest single pipe line in the world this size.

Another project which calls for an investment of several million dollars is the construction of a tunnel under the bay from Alameda to Oakland. In this tunnel, the first of its kind on the Pacific coast, will be trolley tracks, highway for vehicular traffic and a walk for pedestrians.

At noon the caravan entered Berkeley and the university center. Following a drive through the principal residential and business districts we entered the grounds of the university of California. One of the most imposing structures on the campus is the campanile, 300 feet high. At the noon hour the twelve bells in the tower were played in honor of the visiting editors. The bells were manufactured in England ten years ago, especially for the campanile, and are said to be one of the finest sets in America. The structure and bells costing a quarter of a million dollars were gifts from Mrs. Jane K. Sather. The grounds and buildings on the campus have a valuation of more than twenty million dollars. It is the greatest institution of its kind west of Columbia at New York.

In the afternoon there was an auto trip through Berkeley and Piedmont, down tree lined thoroughfares bordered by stately residences. Despite the development of industries in the East Bay sector, home life has not been neglected as thousands of well kept and attractive homes so well testify. Forty-two per cent of these dwellings are occupied by their owners. Continuing the trip the motorcade wound its way over Skyline Boulevard, one of the most beautiful drives in California, through Redwood Park, said by the world traveler, Beadeker, to be the third most scenic drive in the world. From here a view of Golden Gate was obtained.

Returning to the city the procession crossed the estuary to the city of Alameda. This is another thriving city with a population of 35,000. Here is the ideal home city, with its wide boulevards and well kept dwellings. Quite an old city, it has that inviting appearance that is irresistible to one seeking an ideal location for a home. Several thousand business men of San Francisco make this beautiful city their home and commute to their business office each morning. Just 30 minutes office to home at a cost of less than $5.00 a month. What other city has more to offer?

In the evening the Oakland Chamber of Commerce was host to the delegates at dinner, Athens Club building. This structure only recently completed is one of the most imposing in the city, costing two million dollars. A unique feature of this building is the location of the swimming pool on the eighth floor.

Southern Californians had nothing on their brethren of Northern California, when it came to arranging an entertainment program for our party. We had been kept busy enough in the southern party of the state, but the plans of the northerners had to undergo a sharp revision by our officers and even then we were nearly exhausted by the amount of generous hospitality tendered to us.

The second day of our stay in San Francisco was given over to the North Bay section of that city. It began with a seven mile trip by ferry across the bay, terminating at Sausalito, a little city built on the side of a steep hill. Here we found a fleet of automobiles ready and awaiting for a trip of over 125 miles.

We first visited Uncle Sam's three forts, which guard the entrance to the Golden Gate. Forts Baker, Barry and Spencer, and saw the workings of a twelve inch gun which carries a shell for 17 miles. The government is most strict in its control of this peninsula and does not even allow an air plane to pass over it.

We drove thru a dozen or so of the neat and clean little California towns, most of which are the homes of commuters from San Francisco (for a box lunch at a picnic grove in Fairfax Park).

Petaluma was the high spot of the afternoon, as this little city has country wide reputation for producing eggs. 800 carloads were shipped to New York City alone last year. Statisticians said that Petaluma had 9,000,000 chickens, produced 35,000,000 dozens eggs a year and consumed 800 tons of feed each day.

Production of eggs has been worked out on a scientific basis. In the city is located the only commercial avian laboratory in the world. Like-wise the largest egg packing plant with a capacity of four thousand cases daily. Every egg is inspected, weighed and graded. These are cleaned thoroughly in a sand blast and the last process is a thin spray of paraffine which prevents evaporation. The cases are then precooled before shipping to New York. The cost of handling through the co-operative plant is less than a cent per dozen. Freight to New York is 5 cents and express 11 cents per dozen. Average price to ranch owners is 36 cents per dozen. Now here is a little kick, 95 per cent of poultry pens are lighted by electricity. In winter months when days are short, an automatic switch turns on flood lights and the hens blink their eyes, believe it is day, jump from their perch and begin feeding. In a few minutes they are ready for laying of eggs.

We visited a co-operative creamery that does two million dollars worth of business annually and is supplied

WHAT OUR MODERN LAUNDRY SERVICE OFFERS YOU

Mrs. Smith relies on us for all of her washing and ironing. She likes our Finished Family Service best.

Mrs. Brown prefer to iron her own frilly things, but she has us do all of her washing, and iron her bed and table linen, towels, and other flat pieces.

Mrs. Adams sends us her heavy wash-rugs, blankets, and comforts regularly, and Mrs. Martin wouldn't think of letting anyone else touch her curtains and pillows.

These are some of the many household helps which we offer you.

Select the one which best suits your needs—no matter how critical you may be, we promise to please you.

We will wash for you with the purest of rain-soft water and the mildest of white soaps. We will do your ironing with improved equipment which never scorches, wears, or tears.

In everything we do for you we use care and skill, and we give you the benefit of modern methods which science and experience have taught us.

Try this improved service—it costs you little, and it saves you so much.

milk from 16,000 "contented cows." An inspection of an immense hatchery was made by the visitors. The incubators have a capacity of nearly two million chicks every 22 days. The size will be increased to nearly two million within 90 days. Chicks are shipped to points within 72 hours of shipping point, by airplane and railway mail. The incubators are heated by electricity, 1000 horse power being used for the plant.

We noted one peculiar condition in this valley. It was very hot as we left the automobiles for inspection of the hatcheries, but within five minutes of leaving that place we found it cool enough for overcoats.

Pausing at Sebastopol delicious apples and fresh cider was served to our party. This is one of the finest apple sections in the country, producing the famous Gravenstein apples, for which there is such a demand. Five cars per day are shipped from this point 300 days in the year, or a total of 1500 for the season. Loganberries were also noted on the drive and so rapidly has this industry been built up that 500 cars will be shipped this year.

Continuing the journey we motored over the scenic drive through redwoods and along the Russian River. Dotted the banks on each side we saw thousands of tents and cottages, for here is the ideal spot to camp for summer or winter, for there is but one season here, never hot, and never cold. A brief stop was made at a prune orchard where the finest prunes in the country are produced. The select ones average 20 to the pound and retail when dried for market at seventy-five cents per pound. It seems that everything grown in this section is sold at a premium owing to its quality.

In the two counties, which we toured, we were greatly impressed with prosperity on every side. Ranchers live in wonderful homes, all have radios and latest electrical contrivances. Many of the homes are pretentious and indicate that these people are "sitting on top of the world." You do not see "for sale signs," for there is little of this land for sale. However, it is still possible for Horace Greeley's advice to be heeded by the young man and come west. In many sections of the two counties visited land may be purchased at nominal sums, and the man who comes out to locate and work, is sure to prosper. All one has to do in get his crops started, nature will then take care of him. This is one of the few sections in this part of the state that receives ample rainfall, although irrigation is used in some places at certain times.

The itinerary of the editors in central California has been in the hands of a unique organization known as Californians, Inc. It was organized four years ago by San Francisco business men to promote the sound development of San Francisco and its tributary territory, including the great valleys of Sacramento and San Joaquin. Its policy from the start has been to do legitimate advertising and not to create a false idea of a boom. This was evidenced by statements of leading business interests. This organization is doing much to build up California and offers its services to any one that seeks to know facts of this great empire.

At Santa Rosa, we visited the home and experiment gardens of the late Luther Burbank. Mr. Burbank, who died only recently, is buried in his own garden. Beneath two Lebanon cedars, brought from Palestine, rests his body. He was a wizard in plant life and added untold millions to the wealth of the world by his experiments.

I was surprised to learn that Santa Rosa suffered greatly from the earthquake which did so much damage in San Francisco in 1906. Almost all of the business portion of this little city was destroyed although no one would dream of it to see its prosperity of today.

After a barbecue supper that evening in Santa Rosa we were driven to Sonoma, passing in sight of the Valley of the Moon, where Jack London wrote many of his famous novels. At Sonoma we made a brief visit to the most northern of the California missions, one that has been restored and is maintained by the state. Here we saw some interesting relics of California's early history, for Sonoma was for a short time, if we recall aright, the capital of the territory. As a reminder of the many good things in California, we were given some of the most delicious peaches it has ever been our lot to eat. But it was a long, long ride back to San Francisco that night, just the same.

Hair Fringed in England.

Years ago British fashion dictated that every woman should wear a fringe of short hair on the forehead. The vogue became so general that mistresses advertising for servants stipulated: "No fringe." Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon has revived the practice, wearing a fringe about an inch above the eyebrows, says the Daily Express.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

Rev. Dr. Arthur M. Ellis, who has just returned from a summer abroad, was the guest and speaker at the Monday luncheon of the Newton Rotary Club held as usual at the Woodland Golf Club.

Dr. Ellis, in the brief time allotted him, gave an interesting talk on the way Rotary is observed in Dublin, Belfast and London. He was struck with the extreme formality with which our English brothers address each other in Rotary, the serious point of view they have on public matters and the deep interest they take in the work Rotary attempts to do. This year the Dublin Rotary is interested in orthopedic work for crippled children and their meetings are arranged so as to give full information on this subject.

NEWTON COUNCIL, K. OF C.

Newton Council at its meeting Tuesday evening awarded prizes to the winners of the Golf Tournament recently held by the Council. In Class A the best gross prize was won by A. J. Vahey and the net by J. B. Oldfield. In Class B, F. G. Murphy won the gross and Fred Burns the net prize. In the "guest" class, the prize for the best gross score was won by Thomas Welsh and Rev. T. P. McManmon the best net.

Supreme Agent John F. Daley visited the Council and addressed the members, giving important information regarding the insurance features of the Order.

KIWANIS CLUB

James P. Gallagher, Dr. Luther Paul and Leslie Woodman were delegates from the Newton Kiwanis Club to the New England Kiwanis Convention at Portsmouth, New Hampshire last week. A large number of the Newton Kiwanians attended the meeting on Tuesday at the Copley Plaza which was held under the direction of the Boston Kiwanis Club. Senator William Butler was the speaker of the day and dwelt on the need of preparedness. He urged that this country do its utmost to prevent wars, but that our Army and Navy should be kept at full strength. Officers of the regular Army and Navy were present as guests and music was furnished by the band from Fort Banks. Others who spoke were Captain Arthur Clark of Boston Kiwanis Club, Col. Charles D. Roberts, Captain James D. Wilson of the Navy and Gen. Edward L. Logan. Among the eleven hundred who attended were members of all the Kiwanis Clubs in Greater Boston.

The senior class elected the following officers:

President, Miss Cynthia June Newbold, Washington, D. C.; Vice-President, Miss Helen Bada Waltz, Detroit, Michigan; Secretary, Miss Martha A. pegen, Algonquin Park, Norfolk, Va.; Treasurer, Miss Madalyn Patten, Topsham, Maine; Cheer Leader, Louise Hawkins, Buffalo, New York; Song Leader, Virginia Hight, Bangor, Maine.

GIRL SCOUT HARVEST FESTIVAL

The Harvest Festival to be given by the Girl Scouts of Newton Highlands, takes place on the Hyde School grounds, Saturday afternoon, Sept. 25, from two until seven o'clock, with much interest to young and old.

The candy table is in charge of Mrs. Hawkes, the cake Mrs. Joseph Allen. Ice cream Mrs. Goidsoe, home canned goods Mrs. Jellies, Merriam.

The exhibits of fruit and vegetables under Mrs. Redmond and the fall garden flowers exhibit under Mrs. Newton will prove enjoyable.

Entries for these exhibits will be received until the opening of the festival.

Mrs. Forte and Mrs. Shute will sell grabs in a unique manner and group entertainments with Mrs. Hutchinson in charge, a real magician and a fortune teller, will add much to the afternoon's pleasure.

The boy scouts are showing their usual spirit of co-operation and Richard Marcy, Edward Shimer and Emmons Brown are hoping that every boy who owns a boat will enter it in the model exhibit. Mr. Gilmore, Mr. Dolber and Mr. Weaver will act as judges at the exhibit. The supper will be served by the Boy Scouts under the direction of Scoutmaster Lichtenhauer and assistant Scoutmaster Collins. These events, which are given by the Girl Scouts, have always been a community affair, and it is hoped that the festival on Saturday will prove even more successful in giving pleasure to the greatest number.

REAL ESTATE

Alvord Bros. report sale of a frame two-family house and three-car garage located at 21 Maple Park, Newton Centre, for Mrs. Alma Haffermehl. Mr. Thomas Dempsey buys for a home. It is understood the purchase price is in the vicinity of $13,000.

A lot of land on the westerly side of Walnut street, Newton Highlands, has been sold for William J. Cozens to William H. Halliday of Somerville. The lot contains 30,000 square feet and is valued at about $2,000. The new owner will build for his own occupancy.

Myron L. Crowe has purchased from Henry S. Shaw a large single house and garage, together with 35,000 square feet of land, No. 78 Cypress street, Newton Centre. The property was bought for occupancy and is valued at $25,000.

On the corner of Boylston road and Centre street, Newton Highlands, a modern Colonial two-family house with heated two-car garage has been sold for Mrs. Catherine K. Adcock of Watertown to Clark B. Bristol, who will occupy.

Sarah F. D. Smith has recently sold her property, No. 130 Elgin street, Newton Centre, consisting of a single house, large stable, and 14,458 sq. ft. of land. The purchaser, Marjorie Burbank, of Newton Centre, buys for a home, and the place is valued at about $12,000.

On Athelstane road, Newton Centre, a lot of land containing about 7,500 feet has been sold to Harriet M. Hodgkins for $3,000. This lot is valued at $3,000.

Daniel A. Hazen has contracted with Mrs. Harriet M. Hodgekins to build a two-family house and two-car garage on her lot on Athelstane road, Newton Centre. The house will cost about $15,000 above the land. Alvord Bros. were the brokers in all of these transactions.

BIG WATER MAIN BREAKS AGAIN

For the third time in eleven years the large main which carries water from the storage basin of the Metropolitan System at Weston to the reservoir at Chestnut Hill broke at the junction of Auburn St. and Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale. The break occurred about 7.35 Monday morning, and in a few minutes a huge volume of water was rushing down Auburn street and flooding much nearby territory. It was sometime before the flow could be shut off by employees of the Metropolitan Water Department, and in the meantime drive-ways were washed away and many cellars flooded. Among the cellars flooded were those of Thomas Jones, 116 Auburn street, Thomas Lyons, 122 Auburn street, Curtis Tracy, 5 Braeburn road, Winthrop Stiles, 11 Braeburn road, The Church of the Messiah. The yards on the south side of Auburn street became miniature lakes. A large hole 25 feet wide and 15 feet deep was formed at the point where the break occurred and about 50 yards of Auburn street will have to be resurfaced. The damage to private property is estimated at about $7,000. In addition to this, considerable expense will be incurred in repairing the broken main and resurfacing Auburn St.

Various explanations are offered as to the cause of the recurring break at this place. Two mains are laid side by side along Commonwealth avenue to carry water from the Weston reservoir to Chestnut Hill. The Weston basin is fed from the huge basin at Clinton. One of these mains is 60 inches in diameter and the other 48 inches. Eleven years ago the 60 inch main broke. Three years ago the 48 inch main broke. Where the breaks have happened is at the foot of the incline leading down from the railroad bridge near Rowe street, and it is the lowest point west of the long grade up to the reservoir. There is a tremendous pressure there. A ledge extends under the mains and it is supposed that the shallow cushion of gravel which is placed between the iron pipes and the ledge is washed out of place, thus causing the pipe to fracture.

As employees of the Newton Street Department were working at the scene of the break Monday noon, a Hudson sedan driven by Harry Marrin of Worcester, skidded on the muddy surface of Commonwealth avenue and struck a wagon driven by Patrick Harrington of 200 River street. Harrington was thrown to the ground and severely shaken. Michael McCarthy of 20 Auburndale avenue, an employee of the Street Department for 50 years, who was riding with Harrington was also hurled from the cart. He received a fractured arm and a bad gash on his head. McCarthy was removed to the Newton Hospital and his name placed on the dangerous list, but he has since improved and is expected to recover.

CENTRAL CLUB The Men's Association of Central Church

Greetings to our members and friends! We are pleased to again greet you through this weekly calendar and hope that you will be interested in our messages and that you will actively help us make the ensuing year one of successful service.

Our various Committees are already at work on a very attractive schedule of meetings and special events. Printed programs will be ready for distribution next Sunday.

The first monthly meeting and dinner will be held one week from Monday evening (October 4th) with appropriate music and special features. Reserve the date right now! When you receive the announcement in the mail, please return the reply card promptly. If your name is omitted or the address is incorrect, please notify our Secretary, James A. Brickett, at once.

Our Membership Committee, Mr. Fred W. Rust, chairman, will be at the rear of the auditorium each Sunday at the close of the service, and will be pleased to receive the names of any visitors or those who would like to become better acquainted with us or become members of our club. They will give you a warm welcome.

LODGES

Lady Mary Spears Lodge, Daughters of Scotia, was instituted in the Bay State Hall, Newton, on Thursday, September 16th, by Past Grand Chief Daughter Mrs. Mary Spears of Worcester and her suite of officers. Large delegations from sister lodges of Boston, Cambridge, Quincy, Roxbury, Jamaica Plain, Medford, Lynn, Framingham and Worcester were present, also a good showing of Clansmen and their friends. After the installation of officers an enjoyable evening was spent and refreshments were served.

The following officers were installed: Chief Daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Coutts; Sub Chief Daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth MacGillivray; Past Chief Daughter, Mrs. Hannah Kerrigan; Chaplain, Mrs. Hannah MacDonald; Secretary, Mrs. Elsie Robertson; Financial Secretary, Mrs. Mary MacDonald; Treasurer, Miss Anna MacIsaac; Conductor, Mrs. Lillian MacDonald; Inside Guard, Miss Sadie MacIsaac; Trustees, Mrs. Hannah Kerrigan, Mrs. Alice Forbes.

ABOUT TOWN

Although not so numerous as in former days, we still have coming to this city a few hucksters who bowl their wares from street to street. One of these gentlemen specializes on fruit and vegetables, but once each week he peddles fish. In common with other fish peddlers, he allows the heads and tails of the fish, which he cuts off for his customers, to drop onto the street. This is a practice much enjoyed by the cats of a neighborhood—provided there are any cats in the neighborhood. But it is not productive of enjoyed results when the decayed fish is not salvaged by hungry felines.

THE BOSTON HERALD, although regarded as partial to the Republican party, advocates the election of Strabo Claggett of Auburndale, a Democrat, as State Auditor. The HERALD, in common with many other papers in the state, has consistently urged the defeat of Alonzo Cook. But, for some reason or another, Alonzo has continued to receive the majority of the votes cast by the citizens of Massachusetts.

When, in such an enlightened community as Newton, but 13 per cent of the voters will take the trouble to go to the polls at the primary elections, when a nomination in many cases is equivalent to an election, it is not to be wondered at that designing men can control the politics of the country. Nor is it strange that men of ability and integrity hesitate to run for political offices when so little interest is manifested by the great majority of citizens. Most of those who neglect their duty to their country, state and city, would protest strongly against being disfranchised. But they might as well have no votes when they persistently refuse to exercise their right of suffrage. They do not seem to realize that public affairs are closely interwoven with private affairs, and that their prosperity depends to an appreciable degree on the proper conduct of government.

When we went to Newton High School, most of the pupils used shanks mare. Usually, except on stormy days we hiked two miles to school and two miles home. If the number of autos now bringing pupils to High School is any criterion there are many boys and girls in this city whose lungs and limbs will not be developed by walking.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending September 20: Patients in hospital 104; patients paying as much as cost of care or more 58; patients paying less than cost of care 23; free patients, including babies born, 23; babies born, boys 9, girls 7; patients treated by out patient department 66; accident cases 16; social service calls at hospital 6, at homes 6; patients transferred by social service car 1.

Monday of this week five babies were born at the hospital. The Newton Trust Company is sending each morning to the hospital thirty copies of the Boston Herald which are enjoyed very much by the patients.

The Newton Hospital Club, made up of doctors on the hospital staff, began its meetings for the year last Monday. Generally it meets on the fourth Monday of the month but the fourth Monday of this month has been set aside for the annual meeting of the hospital trustees.

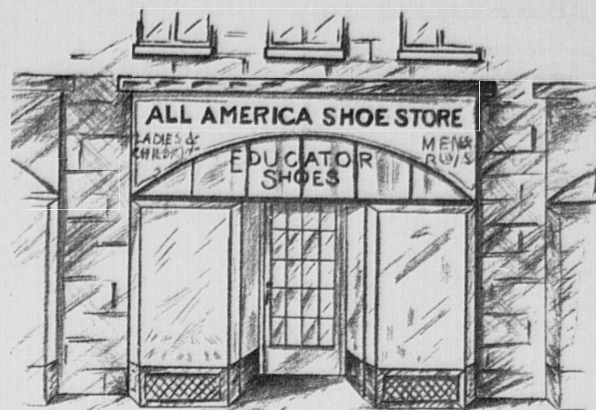

During the "bad time" with the water, the Nobscot Spring Water company kept the hospital supplied with drinking water.

This week Master Queen, a youngster of seven, was at the hospital to have his tonsils taken out. On his arrival he marched proudly into the entrance hall and announced that he thought it "very fortunate to come to the hospital because he had a cousin on the staff who is a doctor, a sister in the freshman class in the training school and lots of friends whom he made while a patient on the hill."

Last Sunday Mr. Stanley Thorpe, of Medway, sent to the hospital, as he did last fall, a quantity of unusually large and beautiful flowers from his gladiolus garden at Bragville. Mr. Thorpe is a member of the American, the New England and the Canadian Gladiolus Societies which, besides doing all they can to perfect the gladiolus, are determined to make "gladiolus" accepted as the proper singular and plural and the proper pronunciation of the word, with the "o" long and the emphasis upon it. Mr. Thorpe was the first in this country to import the wonderful varieties from Australia and some of the flowers in his garden are the creations of the best hybridizers and are varieties not to be seen elsewhere in this country. He himself has originated and introduced some beautiful varieties, his ambition being to originate a lacinated variety, that is flowers the edges of whose petals appear to be slashed, bulbs of such varieties commanding as high as $1000 apiece.

Mr. Charles Howard, chief engineer at the hospital, is spending his vacation in New Hampshire.

The new ambulance for the hospital was sent out for inspection by the executive committee last week and will be delivered soon ready for active service.

DAY SCHOOL PLANS AT ALLEN SCHOOL

Of special interest to the parents of boys residing in Newton and surrounding cities are the plans for the development of the day school department at the Allen School. Under the direction of Headmaster Patterson and Lloyd W. Perrin, the head of the day school, a schedule of work and play is being arranged which will be most attractive.

Arriving at the school at eight o'clock, day pupils attend classes until one. The classes are all small, being so arranged in order that each pupil may receive a generous amount of individual attention.

After luncheon in the school dining hall, athletics take up the time until five. In this way, both the physical and mental development of the boys are given well-balanced periods of time.

LODGES

Clan MacGillivray, No. 176, O. S. C., held its regular meeting in Bay State Hall on Monday, October 20th, with a large attendance. It was certainly a lively meeting, as election of officers was the attraction.

The officers elected were: Chief, William Coutts; Tanist, Lauchlan MacIsaac; Chaplain, Angus MacLean; Secretary, D. B. Robertson; Financial Secretary, John MacLean; Treasurer, Roderick MacLean; Senior Henchman, Arc. MacDonald; Junior Henchman, Malcolm Blue; Seneschal, John Coutts; Warder, Joseph Cameron; Sentinel, Daniel Deagle; Physician, Dr. Marston.

There will be an open installation of Grand Clan officers on October 4th when we hope to have all Clansmen, lady friends, and all Scotsmen interested in Newton.

THE QUEBEC SYSTEM

Dear Editor:

Having returned only last week from Montreal and Quebec, I was unusually interested in the statement by Colonel William A. Gaston that appeared in Tuesday's papers advocating the Quebec System of handling the liquor problem.

Colonel Gaston is reported to have said: "The Saloon is abolished forever." From personal observation, I find that this is not according to fact. Last week, Monday evening, in company with a prominent citizen of Montreal, who for more than thirty years has been interested in helping those who have fallen victims to the liquor habit, I walked along the street of that city and in a very short time, passed many saloons crowded with people sitting at tables drinking. I looked into several of these places, and was reminded of Boston and other American cities in the days before we had Prohibition. I asked my Montreal friend if these saloons were any better than the old bar-rooms, and he replied: "I think they are worse, for a man can drink more sitting at a table than standing at a bar." The streets were alive with blear-eyed men, and the whole atmosphere was such as to make one thank God for Prohibition back home.

Upon entering a building devoted to unfortunate men, I found a drunk stretched out full length on one of the benches—a finished product of the Quebec System which Colonel Gaston is reported to have said is a temperance measure.

I found the Government Liquor Stores closed during the evening; but the many saloons were doing a thriving business.

In Quebec, as I was planning to depart from a leading Hotel, I suggested to one of the head porters that he send a man to the ferry with my luggage. He replied that it would be better for me to take a taxi, as the man would probably visit one of the saloons on the way, and not come back.

The same evening while traveling on a Canadian Railway Train, I was accosted by a drunken man in the dining car;—another reminder of the Quebec System.

My business takes me into many States of the Union, and since the advent of Prohibition, during all my travels, I have never seen a drunken man on any train in this country.

Colonel Gaston refers to an estimate that Massachusetts would receive an income of $24,000,000, annually if it adopted the Quebec System. Can any one picture the amount of liquor that would have to be consumed to bring in that amount of revenue to Massachusetts, and the attendant results in suffering, poverty and crime?

There is a saying that "The biggest fool is the one who fools himself!" Why should we therefore, allow ourselves to be victims of the suggestion that the Quebec System leads to temperance, when in reality it produces drunkards every day? Is it not much wiser for us to be content with the system we have adopted, which has already brought great prosperity to our country; happiness and contentment to the vast majority of our people, and which will prove a still greater blessing when our Laws are better enforced and more universally obeyed?

Yours very truly,

Allan C. Emery.

Miss Emma Coolidge of the Federation of Women's Clubs, approved of the suggestions of Messrs. Rogers, Remington and Childs, and advocated a new organization to undertake the work. She thought the present method of rotation in office tends to lessen the interest of many voters in elections, as they consider that everything is practically prearranged. Mrs. Palmer of the Central Council stated that she is in sympathy with the movement and that while the Women's Clubs make efforts to have their members register and vote, much success has not been achieved and a Good Government League is necessary.

Singclair Weeks said the question of making persons vote has been discussed since voting started. The political parties have endeavored to bring the votes to the polls and the proposed organization will merely assist in this work. According to Mr. Weeks, where the Republican or Democratic parties are well organized, the vote is brought out. If the Legion can undertake this work without politics being injected, it is the one organization best fitted to carry on such a task, provided it received proper co-operation. He suggested that a committee be appointed to devise ways and means, and made a motion that the Chairman appoint such a committee to report back as soon as possible. Alderman Noone said that three things are necessary—1st. Register all eligible voters; 2nd. Educate and inform the people as to the value of the vote; 3rd. Get all to come to the polls. He asserted that all partisanship must be kept out of the proposed organization and that an open forum will enlighten intelligent citizens who too frequently are ignorant concerning political matters.

Raymond Cabot seconded the Weeks motion and it was carried. Colonel Stoddard regretted that he departs for the Philippines next week, as he would like to see what results are attained.

Governor Calkins said he is becoming increasingly impressed with the utility of a well meaning minority making an indifferent majority go to the polls. He thinks little can be accomplished with "hard-boiled" adults and that the real work can be performed with the children. The schools are doing a good job, but a better job can be done. Recently he questioned two of his children regarding the observance of Memorial Day at their schools. His boy, who attends a private school, informed him that no special observance had been made before the holiday, but his little girl, who goes to the public kindergarten, had the news that in her school the patriotic program had been held in connection with Memorial Day. Mrs. Goodrich agreed with Mr. Calkins that it is difficult to impress adults with the duty of voting, but she thinks they can be shamed into performing their duty at the polls through their children. She said there is a good Civic Department at High School which is teaching the children about the functions of government. Mrs. Philip Carter suggested that on the Sunday preceding elections, church attendants should be urged to go to the polls.

It was voted to hold another meeting at the Newton Club on October 5th, at which time the committee appointed by Colonel Stoddard will make a report.

A LETTER FROM FLORIDA

while the storm raged. All we could hear above us was banging and crashing and the water was dripping through the ceiling, and we expected them to fall any minute. At last it started to ease up but was still raining hard and we heard someone walking upstairs, and we went to the window and who was it but Johnnie Kelly and Bill Gleason. They had walked from their apartment in the pouring rain over to us, fearing that we were not safe. We were mighty glad to see them but I knew that they were safe, as they live on one of the best built houses in the city. They suggested that we get what food and clothing that we could carry and go over to their apartment, which was fairly dry. We did this and walked back in the pouring rain for one half mile. We changed our clothes, and thanked God that so far we were safe. We tried to shake off our worries by fixing a bite to eat and had a game of cards, which did not last long as we were not in the mood. It was now about 8.30 so we decided to quit and go to bed as we were up all the night before. We made our beds up, Sadie and I slept in the bed, Bill Gleason on a chair, and Johnnie on the floor. The wind had died down a lot but now it started to thunder and lightning terribly. It teamed rain and finally in spite of it all we dropped off to sleep and awoke about 6.30 A.M. to find that at last our storm was over. We made ready to go out and have breakfast, which was very sparing as there was no milk, no water, no bread. However, we were satisfied and did not complain. We then went to church to thank God for sparing us and from there went to buy some canned goods, get water to drink, and for this I had to stand in line for an hour. We then viewed the ruins which words cannot describe. The city is simply a total wreck, there are thousands homeless, and the loss will run into millions and millions of dollars. Apartment houses, garages, telephone poles, and wires, are just a mass of junk, and we have not seen the worst of it yet. Miami Beach is cut off and from reports we understand that it is simply wiped out. We cannot get any papers and do not know where else it struck, but hear occasionally that this place or that place is ruined. On Royal Palm Park, just off the Bay, there are large boats that have been swept right in. Our friend Mulcahy lost his house-boat, and all his worldly possessions, and was lucky to save his life. I could go on and describe this thing and that but for now will cover it all in a few words by saying the city is just a mass of ruin and wreckage. An earthquake could not do a more complete job.

We are back in our apartment again tonight after having cleaned it and dried it out as best we could. Of course we have to give it up October 15th, but where we will go from here I don't know, as there were none that escaped this hurricane.

Just now we are in a quandary. As for business I think that we are licked for a long time to come. We cannot say right now what we shall do. However, you folks need not worry as we are fine and in good spirits and we will be all right. We are not in need and as long as we have a roof over our heads we are thankful. Just pass the word along to the rest of the family and ask them to write us and if possible enclose whatever clippings from the paper about this disaster.

With lots of love to you and all the folks, I am

As ever,
Your loving son,
George.

neither of these benefits. He told them that if they desire anything they must organize and fight for it. Chief of Police Burke advocated frequent social gatherings by the employees as a means of promoting good will. Alderman O'Connell, whose gastronomic ability was alluded to by Dr. Lowe, admitted he had relished the clams and lobster. City Clerk Grant added his approval of the "feed." Alderman Fred Hawkins, who has the reputation of being a confirmed bachelor, informed the gathering that one of the young ladies asked him, "Are you married?" A romance may result for Mr. Hawkins as a result of the clam bake. Alderman Noone, referring to the good fellowship promoted by such affairs as the clam bake, asserted that friendliness among all citizens of this country, regardless of race or creed, is most necessary to permit the solving of the problems of state.

Following the post prandial exercises those present went to the assembly hall of the club house and enjoyed games under the direction of Mrs. Hovgaard of the Playground Department. But, the chief attraction was a tireless steed of the breed made famous by the use of one of its kind by the equestrian of the White House, President Coolidge. The Middlesex Sportsmen's Club has in its clubhouse an electric horse, and this "animal" was "run wild" by the Newton clambake on Wednesday evening. Nearly every one in the party, including Doctor Lowe and Mrs. Ella Mason, matron at Police Headquarters, took a ride on the electric broncho. It was a great aid, or peril, in assisting or jeopardizing the digestion of the clams and lobster.

The clam bake was voted a huge success by all present, and it was agreed that another will be held next year.

REILLY-CURRIE

A very pretty wedding took place last Sunday evening at seven o'clock at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, when Miss Lillian Currie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Currie, of Montreal, Canada, was united in marriage to Mr. Philip Joseph Reilly of West Newton.

Rev. Father Allston performed the ceremony. The bride wore white satin trimmed with silver lace and a lace veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lily of the valley and bride's roses.

Miss Charlotte Reilly, a sister of the groom was bridesmaid and wore a gown of blue and pink taffeta, with large picture hat to match and carried pink roses.

Mr. Ronald Currie, brother of the bride, was best man and the ushers were Messrs. Thomas Geegan of Newton and George Reilly.

A reception followed the ceremony, the house being attractively decorated with cut flowers and potted ferns.

Following a wedding trip to the White Mountains Mr. and Mrs. Reilly will reside at 344 Cherry street, West Newton, where they will be at home, October 15th.

KENDALL-LEWIS

On last Sunday afternoon at three o'clock Miss Beatrice Lewis, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles E. Lewis of Newtonville was married to Mr. Clifton Ward Kendall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Kendall of Bellows Falls, Vermont. The wedding took place at the home of the bride on Gay street, and the ceremony was performed by the bride's father.

The attendants were Miss Doris Mae Lewis, sister of the bride and Mr. Chipman MacDonald of Newton Highlands.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendall will make their home at 179 Crafts St., Newtonville.

The groom is a sergeant of the Massachusetts State police and captain of the State Police Boat, Proctor.

FALL CAUSES DEATH

Mrs. Mary A. Bovey of 64 Hancock avenue, Newton Centre, widow of Henry Bovey, died at the Newton Hospital on Monday. She had suffered a broken hip as the result of a fall and the shock and exhaustion caused her death. She was 86 years of age. Her funeral was held Wednesday at Bath, Maine.

A GOOD IDEA

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:

The increasing number of voters who do not go to the polls is indeed truly appalling and I think in a good many instances it is negligence or forgetfulness, not entirely a lack of patriotism, loyalty and civic pride.

In order to impress upon the voters the importance of ELECTION DAY, I would suggest that the Church Bells in all cities and towns be rung early in the morning of ELECTION DAY.

This would not only remind those who forget, but would also impress upon everyone the fact that it is a call to duty, and that the voters on that day are to select those who must face problems and make decisions of vital importance to the welfare and happiness of us all.

A good many children would undoubtedly ask their parents why the bells were ringing, and the answer would convey to their young minds a realization that on this day their parents had a patriotic duty to perform.

If the Church I attend will permit me to do so, I will be very glad to ring our bell next ELECTION DAY morning.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

West Newton Community Service Club

The attention of the members of the Newton Service Club of West Newton is called to the series of Current Events Lectures which begins on Friday, October first. Mrs. Claude U. Gilson, who has given this course for the past few years, is to continue the lectures this year, which is sufficient proof of her popularity. The series will consist of ten, and the fee is the nominal one of $2.50. The first lecture will be given in the Parish House of the Unitarian Church, at 10.30 o'clock. The dates of the ten lectures are October 1 and 15, November 19, December 3 and 17, January 7 and 21, February 4 and 18, and March 4.

Newton Highlands C. L. S. C.

The C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands opens the Club season, being the first Club work. On Monday afternoon, September 27th, at 2.30 o'clock, its members will meet at the home of Miss Adelaide R. Webster, 10 Chester street, Newton Highlands. The first half hour will be given to review and discussion of Current Events, after which the study topic of the day will be taken up, namely, the Life of Saint Francis d'Assisi, by Paul Sabatier.

Auburndale Junior Woman's Club

While the honor of being the first Woman's Club meeting falls to the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C., the Juniors lead even then, for the first fall meeting of the Auburndale Juniors was held at the home of their advisor, Mrs. May Nudd, on Wednesday evening, September 15. The program for the evening was a lengthy business meeting, at which all plans for the coming year were discussed. The tennis cup for the Spring Tournament was presented to the winner, Miss Mary Palmer, and after a social hour the meeting was adjourned.

W. C. T. U.

The Elliot Church of Newton opened its doors to the Annual Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton, President, on Wednesday, September 15th.

At the close of the opening exercises, gladsome words of greeting from the Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union—the Hostess Union—were given by Mrs. Katherine L. Goddard, President, expressing cordiality, sincerity and a plea for earnest endeavor. She said in part, "We have not met for amusement but in order that some seed may be sown that will bear precious fruit. May we ourselves be not confounded with the weeds, but show ourselves loyal citizens seeking to establish upon earth the kingdom of God."

From the churches, Rev. Ray A. Eusden, pastor of Elliot Church, through whose instrumentality the wonderful Convention-day was made possible, gave hearty welcome to the members and the cause.

Mrs. M. L. Burnes responded for the county in her own inimitable manner. "Prohibition, the Present Phase and the Immediate Task" was presented by Mr. John C. Brimblecom. In speaker's opinion, the present phase shows decided improvement, the immediate task is a task indeed.

The following apt quotations have been made from a letter recently written by the Honorary President of the Massachusetts W. C. T. U., Ella Adrich Gleason.

"I feel constrained to write you in commendation of the address made at the Middlesex County W. C. T. U. Convention by Mr. J. C. Brimblecom. The fact that a large majority of the editors to whom Mr. Brimblecom sent his questionnaire—at the request of the National Editorial Association—are in favor of strict enforcement of the 18th Amendment, is most encouraging to white-ribboners. I am glad also to be informed as to the composition of newspaper articles—deletion, etc.—and will act accordingly."

"I trust that newspapers and motion pictures will continue to discard all jokes against Prohibition law."

"May Mr. Brimblecom be enabled to give this enlightening address many times."

Mrs. Alice G. Ropes, State President, compared conditions between Europe and the United States, to the latter's advantage. "We must hold what we have against all odds."

A prize was presented to the Prize Essay Contest winner, Peter Peterson of the Somerville Junior High School by the donor, Mrs. Ellen A. Gleason.

The Misses Cloris Horman and Barbara Fuller, prize essay winner and close contestant in the Bigelow School June contest, appeared before an appreciative audience and received its applause.

Miss E. Gertrude Ensign presided at the organ and played an exceedingly touching rendition of Handel's "Largo."

Miss Margaret Rutherford in "Beyond the Dawn" by Sanderson, did full justice to the song and revealed the full power of her voice.

The luncheon was a success! The wonderful flowers, contributed by Mr. J. A. Gardner and Mrs. Henry J. Harriman, blended together in a harmonious whole. The ten-minute speeches furnish thought for the memory to retain. Commendation is due to all speakers and workers who labored to create a Convention, "the finest ever."

MRS. FRANCES O. DAVIS

Mrs. Frances O. Davis of 53 Lake avenue, Newton Centre, died Sunday in her 90th year. She was the widow of the late Charles S. Davis and had been a resident of this city for 65 years. Mrs. Davis was born in Leicester, and was the daughter of Richard Sykes and Mary Furber. Her funeral was held on Monday and burial was in Newton Cemetery.

ANNUAL DOG SHOW

Samoyedes, Schnauzers and other breeds, including the Sporting Spaniels in which breeds she gave a good account of herself as judge at a recent summer show. Mr. P. J. Kennedy of Salem, Mass., often seen in the past at the big shows with the Dromedary Dogs of Mr. Lawson, judges Bulldogs and should draw a splendid entry. Mrs. Adnah Neyhart of Framingham, judges Chows, and as the owner of the famous Coossock Chow Kennels, needs no introduction to the lovers of that breed.

Mr. Joseph P. Hogan, of Malden, long an expert in the hunting breeds, judges Beagles, Foxhounds, Pointers, Setters and Griffons, while Mrs. John J. Briggs, whose husband has been in Boston for many years, takes on Bean Town's own particular invention in dog flesh.

The Frenchies have an old breeder for their adjudicator in Mr. John J. Rocks of Dorchester, Mass., and another Dorchester judge, Mrs. A. B. Carmichael has the task of sorting out the Pomeranians and the rest of the remaining toy breeds. The Pekingeses will be judged by Mrs. Edwin Blake Pratt of Essex, Conn., and great pleasure has been expressed at her selection and a good entry should be assured. Shepherds, will have a parent club of the breed judge for their appraisal of merit in Mr. B. T. Feustmann of New York City, who has offered a large prize for the best of the breed. The fascinating Doberman Pinscher—the dog with the Human Brain—will have an entirely new judge in Mrs. C. F. Belger, a well known resident of Newton, and an ardent worker for the success of this club and its shows.

The All Rounder, Mr. Frank W. Hollis, has given proof of his ability with many breeds at numerous shows in New England, and at this show will have the remaining breeds to adjudicate.

As this is only a one day show, to be held under tents at about the most pleasant portion of the Fall Season, and as it is being held, as in the past, for the benefit of the Newton Y. M. C. A., we would urge all loyal dog lovers, especially the residents of the Newtons to aid the success of the show by making prompt entries and getting their friends to do likewise, as entries close Sept. 28th, and planning to spend the last Fall holiday at another of what has been described as "The Best Show of the Fall Season, each year."

CITY EMPLOYEES OUTING

The baseball throw was won by Saunders of the Sewer Department. Bradley of the Highway Department, second, and Scrocco third. The nail driving contest was won by Michael Herlihy of the Water Department, Alderman John Gordon, second, and Alderman Grebenstein, third. Following these sports, which were under the direction of Supervisor Hermann, assisted by Instructors Donahue and Lane, the gathering went to the dining hall, where a delicious chicken dinner was enjoyed. Following the meal, President Moriarty of the City Employees, in behalf of that organization, presented Commissioner George Stuart, who was recently married, with a chest of silver. Mr. Stuart, who was completely surprised, lauded the city employees of Newton and asserted that they possess a high degree of efficiency and compare well with employees engaged in similar work in other cities.

Water Commissioner Whitney complimented his employees and compared the improved working conditions enjoyed today as contrasted with those prevailing 20 years ago. Mayor Childs praised the employees for their fidelity to Newton and urged the younger men to emulate the good example shown by the older employees he had known years ago, most of whom have passed on. Representative Saltonstall stated that while he always did not vote favorably on measures introduced by labor organizations at the State House, he endeavored to be fair. He assured the employees that he will do his utmost to support them in their endeavors to obtain fair working conditions and invited them to call on him at any time for assistance.

After the few short addresses had been concluded, a ball game was started between a team composed of the employees and one made up of the aldermen, assisted by City Clerk Grant and Leonard Jackson of the Board of Health. Alderman Hodgdon, who would rather play ball than eat, pitched for the city legislators, and showed unexpected endurance by pitching a creditable game through seven innings. His team won by a score of 9 to 5 and it is thought his services may be sought by some Class B league team. Alderman Grebenstein showed considerable speed until he developed Charley Horse in his right leg. Hawkins caught a creditable game for the aldermen.

The aldermen, enthused over their victory in the ball game were foolish enough to think they could defeat the city employees in a tug-of-war. Five "hefty" aldermen, each weighing well over 200 pounds attempted to pull five muscular employees of the sewer department, who averaged 160 pounds in weight. It was a case of beef against brawn, and brawn won. The men who train with picks and shovels displayed more strength than their opponents who do nothing more strenuous than playing golf. The city employees team included Antonuccio, Broderick, Findlay, Nazarro and Scrocco. The aldermen who pulled on the rope were Gordon, Hodgdon, Leahy, Grebenstein and O'Connell.

The victorious team in the tug-of-war was challenged by a team from the water department to contest any evening at the Cabot Park Playground.

The outing was adjudged a complete success by all who attended, and it may be made a yearly event. It reflected credit on the work of the committee in charge headed by A. Leslie Moriarty. Mr. Moriarty, who has guided the organization since its institution, is chiefly responsible for the growth and success of the Local.

NEWTON SPORTS

In the final match at the Newton Centre playground, 6-3, 6-0, before a large gallery of clubmates.

The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium is closed. The floor and apparatus are being put in first class condition for the coming season which opens next month.

Mr. Louis M. Young of Newton Centre was one of the four winners in the recent Boston Traveler Fight contest. The four recipients of ringside seats to the Dempsey-Tunney fight last night sat in Boston on the 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Yesterday was spent in viewing the sights at the exposition and the fight was taken in last night. Today the party returns to Boston.

The Newton Athletic Association is preparing for an active season commencing with the first meeting of the season on Monday, the 18th, at the Newton Club. President Rupert Thompson has set a goal of 1000 members for the year and there is great hope of an even greater number becoming members. Any citizen of the city is an eligible member, regardless of whether he is a graduate of the Newton high school or not. The object of the association is to promote an interest in clean athletics among the pupils of the schools, to assist the coaches in their work, to offer special prizes for various events and to entertain the various athletic teams. All of these objects help to stimulate interest in sports among the pupils.

Many questions are being asked as to the reason why the high school football team continues to occupy its old dressing quarters in the Classical high school building when the new quarters in the new building were supposed to have been ready for their occupancy. Over two months and a half ago it was stated that these quarters would be available and yet the squad must still use the old, dark, poorly-ventilated quarters as before. It is to be hoped that those responsible will get the new quarters in shape with as little more delay as possible.

Another needed improvement at Claffin Field is a canvas along the fence on Hull street. When any game is scheduled Hull street becomes the mecca for a great number of that class of people who are always attempting to get something for nothing. It is a good vantage place to witness a football game. This revenue which is being diverted from the athletic treasury would easily pay the cost of a canvas ten feet behind the fence on Hull street for a distance of about three hundred feet. It is not a question of commercialization in this case but it is a question of sportsmanship. How many of those who frequent Hull street would be averse to buying a ticket for the game? Very few. And all for a few feet of canvas.

Jake Stafford did not take part in the first scrimmage of the Harvard varsity squad yesterday afternoon because of an injured leg. When he returns the Newton boy will probably take Hamlen's place. Stafford and Hamlen look like the Crimson's two best signal-callers and the latter is quite likely to push "Jake" hard for the first call.

Bowdoin college, with several Newton boys in its football squad, had a dummy scrimmage yesterday in preparation for a game with B. U. tomorrow at Brunswick. Joe Kohler was used at quarterback, Bob Olmstead at one of the half-back positions, Bob Adams at end, and Dan Kennedy at tackle were the local lads who will probably get a chance to play tomorrow.

BURR TENNIS ASS'N

The usual fall tournaments are now under way at the Burr Playground. The first round matches have been completed, and many in the second and third round have been played.

Many members of the association and their friends are planning to attend, as a group, the tennis matches at the Arena on October 16th. Suzanne Lenglen and others are to play. Those desiring to go should communicate with the Association Chairman, L. W. Trowbridge, 14 Hollis St., Tel. N. N. 2417-W.

BOWLING TOURNAMENTS AT "Y"

The bowling season at the Newton Y. M. C. A. opens Monday night with ten teams entered in the candlepin tournament. Prizes will be given to members of the first and second teams and to the bowlers winning the high average, high three-string, and the high single but no one will be awarded more than one individual prize. Louis Bills is chairman of the bowling committee which also includes C. V. Moore, H. D. Chase, F. C. Rodman, and J. L. Sullivan.

SUSPICIOUS FIRE

At 1 o'clock Wednesday morning, Engine 1, together with the Watertown Fire Department was called to a fire in the old Stanley automobile shop on Hunt street, just over the Watertown line. The building is now owned by Bachrach, the photographer, and is occupied in part by C. H. Halley and Louis Greggo, automobile repairers. When the firemen arrived they found a brisk blaze on the second floor of the building. According to the police, the automatic sprinklers nearby had been covered with burlap, rendering them ineffective, and there was an odor of kerosene in the room. The fire was soon under control, the damage being limited to about $500.

The fire was not in the section of the building used by Halley or Greggo and they said everything was all right in their headquarters when they had left the building Tuesday evening. The police are conducting an investigation.

AUBURNDALE CARNIVAL

Auburndale's Third Annual Carnival will open next Thursday night on a more extensive scale than ever before. The fete, which runs Friday night, Saturday afternoon and evening as well, is given by the Auburndale Club on the Club Grounds in Auburndale Square, with Mr. Henry L. Goodman in charge.

In the main tent, Newton auto dealers will have their cars on exhibition ranging in price classes from the smaller and inexpensive to the larger and more costly cars. This exhibition is open throughout the three-day period.

Bourdini, one of the few human beings able to escape from a straight jacket, and Minstrel Morris, the only colored comedy juggler, will entertain at regular intervals, free of charge to the visitors.

The women's committee have prepared a program including a large food sale in the Club House on Saturday, especially for the women patrons. A fortune teller is another feature planned for them.

Over twenty exhibitors representing Newton's various merchants, will occupy the main auditorium of the Club House. These exhibits are on a more elaborate scale than ever conducted by the Auburndale Club.

Saturday afternoon is arranged especially for children. A doll carriage parade will be held in the canvassed enclosure for all the children of Auburndale and Newton who wish to enter. Special judges will award three prizes, first and second prizes for the most beautiful carriage entered, and one for the most original carriage. Moving pictures will be taken of the parade to be shown at one of the regular movie shows during the fall season of the Auburndale Club. Punch and Judy performances during the afternoon and evening will be given.

A score of concessions for the amusement of every patron will be further attractions of the Carnival.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Hickory, dickory dock
Tomorrow watch your clock
Then late at night,
Be sure it's right,
For we're going back to standard time on Sunday.

Just one of those little free verse gems containing more truth than poetry. And now may I ask what had Mother Goose in mind when she wrote those imperishable words, "Hickory, dickory dock"? "Hickory," we know,
is the wood of a juglandaceous tree, which is clear to all minds whether you are aware of the meaning of juglandaceous or not.

"Dock" has various meanings, including "a place for vessels," "a noxious weed," "that part of the court room where the prisoner stands" and the act of removing part of something.

But where does "Dickory" fit? Perhaps the late Mrs. Goose coined it herself solely in the interest of euphony and to make a full line for her delightful little rhyme about the clever little mouse who was such an expert at climbing. Could it be that "Dickory" was the middle name of the mouse and "Hickory" its first and "Dock" its family name? We would like to know. And now that our educational institutions are resuming sessions we suggest that the subject be taken up and a study made to set the world straight. It is a plain duty we owe to the younger of our Mother Goose students who should have the advantage of knowledge denied their elders.

The notion is quite apt to pop into the heads of the most optimistic citizen that "things might be a good deal better." At such times there is talk of the ineffectiveness of the law.

Frequently a group of thoughtful people will fall to discussing the general subject of legislation and whether there aren't too many laws. Somebody will wisely observe, "There are laws enough, but the trouble is they're not enforced." Although this may sound familiar it is not a fair description of the situation.

Now you may say it is up to me to prove my case. I shall not attempt to offer any vast amount of evidence, but I can at least take up one or two points to show the outlook is not as doleful as some would have us think.
Officials who are called upon to administer the law may occasionally find their hands full, but even so, when they endeavor to do their best they should receive credit.

When the "Blue Sky" law was passed five years ago there were few people who believed that it would put an end to all knavery on the part of fake stock promoters. Many people said the law had no teeth in it.
While not prepared to argue on its dental condition I have found out to my own satisfaction that it has accomplished much. True it is that schemers are still at work on illegal ways of getting money from susceptible citizens, but they are not reaping the harvest that was gleaned before the "blue sky" law was enacted.

The way to prove this assertion is by a study of the number of complaints received by the State Public Utilities Commission where such are expected to be lodged. People are not coming in there in such numbers to complain of having been fleeced. The swindlers find too many obstacles in Massachusetts. There are certain things which the law demands and the promoters of an illegitimate enterprise are not able to convince the authorities that they are honest. Consequently the unthinking are protected from squandering their money in unsound investments. In other words, it takes longer in Massachusetts than formerly to separate a fool from his money.

Another undertaking, begun by Governor Fuller himself, is that which has reduced the number of no-taries public and justices of the peace in this State. Prior to Governor Fuller's administration it used to be no trouble at all for anybody to obtain an appointment to either or both. There was a time when the appointing power was deluged with applications few of which were refused. One could almost get appointment for the asking.
Governor Fuller found more than a year ago that some notaries and justices were so conducting themselves as to cause complaint on the part of those with whom they had dealings. It was the same old story of the minority misbehaving and bringing down trouble on the heads of the entire body.

The trouble was all due to the fact certain notaries and justices had abused their power. It then became necessary for the Governor and Council to make a much stricter scrutiny of applications and the character of the applicants. It may be interesting to note that they have brought down the number to 35,000 notaries and justices. This, however, is large and will be further reduced by refusing certain reappointments.

The attitude taken by the Governor is that unless there is a public demand for these appointments they should not be made. The mere fact that every business office would find it more convenient to have an employee with legal powers is not sufficient, according to Governor Fuller.

While on the matter of notaries and justices one may be interested in a law passed by this year's Legislature intended to reduce the number of oaths. The act was drawn for the purpose of doing away with a lot of unnecessary formality. I understand it is not meeting with the success hoped for because there are those who do not feel a document can be made binding without the acknowledgment of a notary or justice. It will probably take some time to make this new law popular, but when it does become so a lot of time is sure to be saved on all sides.

The act to which I refer provides that documents of a legal character, with the exception of court matters and those affecting the transfer of property, may be made sound and binding when the phrase is added, "A true statement under the penalty of perjury." This applies to State income tax blanks so that next year when you fill yours out it will not be necessary to hunt up a notary public or justice of the peace. All one need do is to write the phrase above quoted and sign his name. Isn't that going to prove of immense convenience to the people of Massachusetts? Incidentally, the State law-makers contend it applies as well to Federal income tax blanks, but the U. S. Government has not yet agreed.

I am told that the people are still reluctant to accept the new law—intended plainly to help them—and are bound to have all the fuss and feathers that go with a seal of a notary or justice. Whose fault is that, may I ask?

With no thought of disparaging the success of the Sesqui-centennial celebration at Philadelphia, which is to hold "Massachusetts Day" next Monday, I am pleased that neither Boston nor the Bay State has been drawn into conducting an enterprise of this character in connection with the anniversary of some major historical event. I repeat, may Philadelphia achieve unending fame and profit from the "Sesqui," but let Massachusetts refrain from embarking in the show business.

It was not my privilege to visit the Philadelphia celebration this Summer.
I did, however, talk with several friends who had made the trip. Each told me the buildings were not all complete and that there was "a lot to be done before everything would be all set." That was the mildest criticism I heard. Others, more severe, assailed the management of the commission, attributing to them about every fault on the calendar, including the high rates at the hotels and the spells of unfavorable weather.

There was a time when I thought nothing could be more suitable, more desirable and more wonderful than a grand exposition in celebration of Massachusetts' progress. I used to be puzzled when I heard older men say, "We don't want it; there is nothing to be gained." I feel now that I am coming out of the woods into the clearing that borders on common sense. The facts about Philadelphia's show have convinced me.

What kind of an exposition, intended to be primarily of historical importance, can it be that needs to stage a monster prize fight to pull it out of a financial hole? To the everlasting glory of the signers of the Declaration of Independence we are to behold the spectacle of two champion sluggers competing for a title and incidentally an enormous sum of money.

And this the grand climax of an exposition designed to point out the superiority of American ideals. Wow!
The Massachusetts Legislature this year refused to make an appropriation to permit this State to erect its own building at the "Sesqui," and in other ways help toward the ultimate success of Philadelphia's theatrical endeavors.
I believe the people of Massachusetts owe a debt of gratitude to their representatives on Beacon Hill for their decision.

In this column recently the question of billboards was referred to and it was pointed out that the billboard and outdoor advertising rules and regulations, intended for July 1, 1925, are not yet in operation. The State, through its Attorney General, is trying to prove that it has the power and authority to make and enforce such rules.

Now we find the Attorney General's office seeking for specific cases where billboards and other outdoor signs have proved a menace to the well being of society. Criticism is not desired, as I understand it, but evidence which will show convincingly that traffic is endangered by the presence of a huge sign; that such great boards are a screen for improper purposes, that they create a fire hazard or cause conditions inimical to public health.

Let every Newton citizen who knows of such an instance and who can prove his case write to the Attorney General, or more particularly to Assistant Attorney General Melville F. Weston. Cumulative evidence of this sort is greatly needed. Again must the people fight for their rights and if they put up a good battle they will win.

I hope Newton will get into this scrap, for such it has come to be.
The Aldermen, who seem to enjoy contention at times, might well take up the cudgel. The Mayor could order the police, fire and health departments to investigate and had report at once all available data.

POLICE NEWS

Marion Hurney, 17, of 731 Washington street, Newtonville, was fined $10 Friday for violating a rule of the Board of Health. The girl, who had scarlet fever, was ordered quarantined for the customary two weeks' period, and went out from her home before that period had elapsed.

Francis X. Powers, of 137 Foster street, Brighton, was fined $100 by Judge Allen on Monday for driving while under the influence of liquor.
Powers, who was arrested by Patrolman Johnny Green on River street, West Newton, recently, was also charged with illegal transportation of liquor, Green testifying he had found several bottles of "beer" in the auto. This charge against the defendant was placed on file.

John J. Donovan of 188 Bay State road, Boston, was in court Monday charged by Motorcycle Officer Mc-Grath with driving "wutiol." He case will be tried October 1st.

Harry Brodie, of the Newton Public Market was in court Tuesday charged with violating a city traffic ordinance. Mr. Brodie parked his auto for longer than 30 minutes in a restricted area. He pleaded not guilty, was found guilty, fined $5 and appealed. He is making a test case of the city ordinance which limits parking in certain place to 30 minutes.

John Lavallo, 17, of 266 Windsor street, Cambridge, and Fred Cross, 15, also of Cambridge, were arrested Friday by Motorcycle-officer Turner.
They were charged with taking a Hudson sedan, the property of E. C.
Hamilton of 39 School street, Cambridge. Lavallo is also charged with driving without a license. Their cases were continued to September 24th.

Florence Plenty, colored, and Clarence Smith, white, both of 9 Chestnut street, were in court Friday charged with a statutory offence. Both were on probation, having been found guilty previously on a similar charge.
The woman was sent to the House of Correction for three months. Smith went to jail for one month.

Rose N. Tucker of Brookline did not appear in court Friday when her name was called. She was charged with speeding and driving without a license. Miss Tucker had departed for school in New York before she received the summons. Her case will be heard December 18, when she returns for the Christmas holidays.

Ralph Thompson, 18 Lawrence road, Watertown, was sentenced to 15 days in the House of Correction on Saturday for driving "wutiol," and fined $10 for drunkenness. He appealed. Thompson was arrested September 3 by Officer Frank Feeley.

REPAIRING ELEVATED TRACKS

The tracks of the Boston Elevated at Newton Corner are being improved. The uneven old cobble stones between the rails are being removed and will be replaced with an even concrete surface, much to the approval of autoists who have been jounced for years over the rough stones. New rails are also being laid.
While the work is being done, it necessitates the use of but one track and causes considerable inconvenience to traffic. Washington street has been closed to traffic part of the time between Park street and Nonantum Square and the ladder truck at Engine 1 house has been parked outdoors, as it would be impossible to drive it in or out of the house while the street is torn up.

NEWTON MEN INJURED

Joseph Howley, 428 Parker street,
Newton Centre, Frank Drew, 121 Bridge street, Newton, and Frank Composto, John street, Newton Centre, employees of Michael Cannon of Newton Highlands, were injured Tuesday morning when the truck on which they were riding collided with a Boston Elevated car on Tremont street, Oak Square. Composto received a fracture of the left shoulder, cuts on his left wrist and a crushed toe on his right foot. Howley's back was badly bruised and Drew suffered a strained back. They were taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital for treatment.

Hard on the Nerves.
Red-patterned wall paper, glaring lights and shiny furniture are three things that are responsible for many attacks of nerves. The psychological influence of quiet, neutral walls, soft indirect lighting, with shaded lamps for reading, and of quiet furniture in good taste is greater than any one can quite realize.

Have You LAME FEET?

The foot has twenty-six delicately suspended small bones. Weak feet, fallen arches, flat feet, bunions and callouses are not natural to normal feet, and will disappear through corrective treatment and adjustment of the bones, then wearing the proper shoes.
Many continue to suffer from foot trouble in their daily life, making shifts as ready-made arch supports or so-called corrective shoes, which cannot fit properly the vastly different shapes of feet, may as well wear ready-made eyeglasses or false teeth. Mispilplaced bones or stretched ligaments adjusted or corrected by a system which admits of no failure.
It costs nothing to call and talk it over.

PETITION FOR LOCATION

To the Metropolitan District Commission:
Your petitioner, The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston, a corporation duly organized under the laws of the Commonwealth and lawfully engaged in the distribution and sale of electricity in the City of Newton, respectfully represents that public convenience and necessity require locations under, along, and across portions of the boulevard and reservation in your jurisdiction in the City of Newton, known as Quinbequin Road, Northeastern from Pontine Road, for poles and wires for the transmission of electricity for light, heat and power.
A plan showing the proposed locations of the poles and wires to be erected hereunder is filed herewith signed by W. H. Cole and dated July 2, 1926.

On the twentieth day of July, 1926,
the Department of Public Utilities in case
No. 2146 on the petition of your petitioner entered an order adjudging that the above described location was required by public convenience and necessity.

Wherefore, your petitioner respectfully prays that your Commission may by order grant to your petitioner locations for said poles and wires.

Dated August 2, 1926.

LAND COURT.

To the City of Newton, a municipal corporation located in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth; Emma M. Wells and Fred S. Wells of Somerville; in the said County of Middlesex; Mrs. Daniel S. Collins,
Mary E. Collins, Walter D. Collins,
George L. Bullard, Harry P. Chadwick and Willard Welsh, of Boston, in the County of Suffolk and said Commonwealth; Victor E. Harris, of Dedham, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth; the said Commonwealth of Massachusetts; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Joseph Congdon, of said Newton, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Newton, bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by Quinbequin Road; Northwesterly by land now or formerly of George L. Bullard, the heirs of Daniel Collins, and by other land of said petitioner; Northeasterly by other land of said petitioner; and Easterly by land now or formerly of Victor E. Harris.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the your property in this City.

This notification is in accordance with Chapter 132, General Laws, Section 18, and the amendments hereto, which require cities and towns to destroy the eggs, caterpillars, pupae and nests of the gypsy and brown-tail moths under heavy penalty for failure to comply with the provisions of the law.

If a property owner fails to destroy such eggs, pupae and nests, then the city or town is required to destroy the same, and the cost of the work, in whole or in part, according to the value of the land, is assessed upon and becomes a lien on the land.
(See Section 18, of said Chapter 132, and amendments hereto.)

The City Will Perform All Winter Moth Work Unless Otherwise Notified
by Property Owners.

Full instructions as to the best methods of work against the moths may be obtained from the Forestry Division, City Hall, or from the State Forester, State House, Boston, Mass.

Work done by contractors should be inspected and approved by the Local Superintendent before payment for same is made.

GEORGE E. STUART,
Superintendent of Moth Suppression.

This notice is issued by order of EDWIN O. CHILDS, Mayor.

GAGE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Under and by virtue of the power of sale conferred in a certain mortgage of real estate given by Neil Joseph Tracy and Grace A. Tracy to Moses H. Galsen, dated July 29, 1924, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, book 4693, page 10, for breach of the condition of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises of the condition of said mortgage, to wit: all that lot of land in the buildings thereon, in Newton in the city of Middlesex, being lot twenty-four on a plan of Land in Newton, Mass., given to Dana Estes, dated February 12, 1924, drawn by French & Bryant, C.E., recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, book 4693, page 10, and of record book 2460. The parcel is triangular in shape, and is bounded by the Waban Hill, as shown on said plan, one hundred and seventy-three and 18/100 (173.18) feet; by the curve at the junction of Waban Hill Road and Algonquin Road, as shown on said plan, one hundred and twenty-one and 12/100 (121.2) feet; Southeast by said Algonquin Road, as shown on said plan, one hundred and seventy-one and 22/100 (171.22) feet; and Northerly by lot 25 on said plan, one hundred and eleven and 47/100 (111.47) feet. Containing about ten thousand square feet of land.

The premises will be sold together with benefit of and subject to the rights and interests referred to in a deed by Moses H. Galsen to said Grace P. Tracy, dated September 26, 1918, and recorded with said book 4221, page 599, and subject also to the rights of the City of Newton in taking duty recorded with said Deeds, book 3123, page 499, and book 3711, page 10, and to the City of Newton in taking duty recorded with said Deeds, book 4571, page 539, including all that may be due or owing thereunder principal, interest, taxes paid, or otherwise.

A hundred dollars will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time of sale, and the balance of purchase price in ten days thereafter.

Further particulars apply to J. W. Pickering, attorney for said Moses H. Galsen, mortgagee, room 725 Tremont building, Boston, Mass.

SEEN H. GILBERT, present holder of mortgage.
